STUART R. PADDOCK

Washington, D. C.—

We never knew that we had any resemblance to a congressman. While we were standing in the lobby of the House of Representatives office building we received friendly greetings three times from men who had all the appearances of being congressmen in their own right.

In the office dining room we found that "bean soup" is still on the daily menu as is required under a special act of congress passed many years ago at the request of Uncle Joe Cannon, then speaker of the House.

The last time we had lunch there we were a guest of Marguerite Stitt Church. This time we were the guest of her successor, Donald Rumsfeld. We noticed that the last copy of our paper was tucked under his desk. He explained that it was only on weekends that he had time to cut its wrapper. We had not seen a copy for three weeks and have not heard the result of the recent municipal elections. He laughingly apologized that he was unable to answer our inquiry as to which group had been elected.

Congressman Rumsfeld following the practice of Mrs. Church, a week ago mailed 125,000 questionnaires to constituents—one to every third adult voter. The office desks were piled high with approximately 14,000 replies that had been received in the past week. "They show," said Mr. Rumsfeld, "that my constituents are interested, as am I, to cast my vote along the lines of their belief."

We do not know if our editors have published a breakdown of the questionnaires, but they covered such subjects as the budget, the tax cut, agricultural program, federal aid to education, medicare, labor, civil rights, foreign aid, as well as income tax deductions. Mr. Rumsfeld asked the advice of the people back home on such matters as the Cuban situation, recognition of China, use of force by the U. N. and the threat of a nuclear war.

We are spending a week in the Washington, D. C. area and discovered last night that it is as difficult as ever to find the legal way of making left hand turns in order to leave town over the 14th Street bridge. We also discovered this morning that it is even more difficult than it was a year ago to find a place to park our car.

If it would do any good we would tell how Arlington Heights and Palatine gave up public parks to provide space for more parking. We could also suggest to President Kennedy that he make a new parking lot out of part of the White House lawn, and apply the parking meter collections to the deficiency in the national budget.

We will avail ourselves tomorrow of the opportunity to do some research work in the Congressional library. Our particular interest is in what happened to the "Ten Lost Tribes of Israel." A history professor at the school in San Miguel suggested to us that if we ever visit the Congressional library, we could learn a lot about Mexican antiquity and the written opinion of an author as to what happened to those lost tribes. We will know tomorrow if the professor knew what he was talking about.

BOUNDARIES FOR SCHOOLS CHANGE

Parents Quiz School Board

Several changes in attendance boundaries for Arlington Heights elementary schools were approved Monday by the District 25 Board of Education.

Basically, the changes are as follows:

Dunton School — will serve kindergarten through fifth grade students living south of Central Road, an area now served by the Dryden and Park Schools.

Kensington and Windsor Schools — kindergarten through fifth grade students in the area bounded by Miner, Gibbons, Euclid and Waterman will be transferred from the Kensington to the Windsor School.

North and Wilson Schools — fourth and fifth grade students from the area north of Olive, east of Dryden, south of Thomas and west of the district line will be transferred from Wilson to North.

PATTON, RIDGE and Wilson Schools — the Patton School will serve its present area for kindergarten, first, and second grades, except that kindergarten and second grade children will attend Ridge School from the area south of Olive between Wilke and Yale and south of Thomas between Yale and Kennicott.

South and Miner Junior High Schools — South Junior High will serve everyone south of the railway and Miner Junior High everyone north of the railway, except that sixth graders will attend South from the area defined by beginning at Wilke and Olive, north on Wilke to Rand, southeast on Rand to the eastern boundary of Greenbrier Subdivision, south on that boundary to Palatine Road, east on Palatine to Kaspar, south on Kaspar to Lynnwood, south and east on Lynnwood to Thomas, west on Thomas to Yale, south on Yale to Burgoyne, and west on Olive to Wilke.

THE CHANGES will go into effect when school opens in September.

Complete details of all new school boundaries will be published in next week's edition of the Herald. Parents may direct questions to the District 25 office, CL 3-6100.

Appearing at Monday's school board meeting to question boundaries for the Patton and Wilson Schools were two representatives of the Greenbrier Civic Association.

THEY WERE Mrs. Harvey Locker, 2225 N. Champlain Ave., and Mrs. Roland Urban, 2012 N. Verde Drive.

They asked why it was necessary for children living in the Greenbrier Subdivision and only three blocks from Patton to be sent to Wilson School 1½ miles east on Palatine Road.

"We are quite disturbed over this," Mrs. Urban told the board. "Some residents are being faced with paying two, three and four bus fees. And there are no sidewalks on Palatine Road."

SUPT. RALPH Clabaugh explained that more students cannot be accommodated at Patton and that he hopes Patton will be enlarged as a result of a bond referendum this Fall.

Mrs. Locker asked if the district couldn't grant a "concession" on bus fees until Patton is expanded, but the board determined approval of the request would result in costs the district cannot afford.

Board Member Charles Bennett suggested the women check with village officials as to the possibility of installing sidewalks on Palatine Road.

HE SAID, however, it was unlikely the village would approve the installation because of the "unsettled" nature of proposed improvements to the road.

Bennett noted that latest state plans call for elimination of all grade crossings at Palatine Road between Wilke and State Roads.

POINTING THE WAY for bicyclist Susan Sundeen is Paul Wangles, one of many Arlington Heights safety patrol members who assisted in operating a bicycle safety and testing program here during the last two weeks. The program was carried out at 10 local schools. It was sponsored by the Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, the police department, and the Cook County Traffic Safety Commission.

Investment in Safety

One More Chance for Free Car Inspection

There's one more chance for Arlington Heights motorists to have their cars safety inspected free of charge.

The third and final day of the village's annual Auto Safety Check will be Saturday, May 25, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

According to Jack Heintz, co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee which is sponsoring the program, nearly 700 vehicles were processed through the safety lanes last Saturday and Wednesday.

AUTOS ARE inspected at the Arlington Fender and Body Shop, 910 W. Northwest Highway.

Cooperating with the Chamber in sponsoring the program are the Arlington Heights Woman's Club, Lions Club, Arlington Heights Safety Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981, and the police department.

Heintz said he expects the total cars inspected this year will exceed the 1,000 processed in 1962.

INSPECTIONS include checking brakes, lights, chassis, front end alignment, exhaust systems and other auto parts concerning safety.

Motorists are under no obligation to have faulty parts replaced or repairs made, Heintz pointed out.

"We feel the service is a valuable one," he explained, "in that if we can save just one driver from having an accident, we may save a life."

DURING AND after the inspection, safety stickers are being distributed by the women's club and coffee and doughnuts are served by the Chamber.

Ten trained auto machanics are on duty, and equipment use in the inspection is the same used in State of Illinois inspections of school buses and trucks.

Members of the Chamber safety committee are Curt Kenyon and Heintz, co-chairmen, Robert Flood, Robert Heller, Harold Nebel, Pat Randall and Albert Vlz Jr.

It takes from 10 to 15 minutes for one auto to be processed through the safety lanes.

Hanson Announces Davis Street Plan

Village Manager L. A. Hanson told Arlington Heights businessmen Tuesday of village plans to vacate a portion of Davis Street and transform two other sections of the street into commuter parking areas.

Davis, between Dunton and Evergreen Avenues, will be vacated, Hanson said. The street has been purchased by the Arlington Heights National Bank.

Davis, between Vail and Dunton and between Evergreen and State Road, will be closed to vehicular traffic and used for parking.

Access roads will be constructed adjacent to the Chicago and North Western Railroad tracks between Vail and Evergreen, Hanson pointed out.

"This should be a tremendous benefit to the community," Hanson said. "We will be creating 225 additional parking spaces downtown."

A contract for the purchase of Davis was entered into by the village and the bank last week. The street will be closed when the bank completes construction of the 30-foot access road between Dunton and Evergreen.

There is no definite timetable for closing of the other two sections of the street, Hanson said.

Costs 'Steady' Here

There has been no noticeable increase in applications for general assistance (relief funds) in Wheeling Township in the last month, it was reported Tuesday by Albert C. Peters, township supervisor.

The current hassle among state legislators over relief ceilings has caused increased local demands in several Cook County townships.

ACCORDING TO Peters, Wheeling Township spends about $1,000 per month on general assistance.

"We do not anticipate appreciable increases, but if they come, we are prepared to handle them," he said.

For Improved Understanding

by BRUCE LADD
Associate Editor

Air conditioning in the Arlington Heights Municipal Building is switched on at 5:02 p.m.

Outside on Sate Road, amid clouds of dust and 80-degree temperatures, workmen on a storm sewer project prepare to call it a day.

Before leaving for dinner, Village Manager L. A. Hanson double-checks the coffee supply and a requisition for eight dozen doughnuts.

All is in readiness for the 8:30 p.m. joint meeting between Cook County officials and representatives of the Northwest Municipal Conference.

The May 8 get-together has been proposed by the Conference, whose members have expressed growing concern over recent county decisions to rezone land in unincorporated areas for apartment buildings.

CARS BEGIN to enter the municipal building parking lot at 8:15 p.m. They come from Arlington Heights, Chicago, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Evanston, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Park Ridge and Rolling Meadows.

Men in business suits are still entering the brightly-lit council room at 8:41 p.m. when County Commissioner Charles Bonk, meeting chairman, raps for assembly.

He first calls on Michael Igoe, county board secretary, to read a petition presented by the Village of Arlington Heights.

" . . . to examine with great care all requests for rezoning to permit multiple dwelling units," the petition concludes.

THE CHAIRMAN acknowledges receipt of similar petitions from Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Northbrook, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling.

He introduces Seymour Simon, president of the county board, who in turn identifies 13 other county officials seated behind a table at the front of the room.

Now it's village representatives' turn. Nearly 60 northwest suburban leaders rise from their straight-backed chairs in the audience and announce their names, governing capacities and hometowns.

John G. Woods, Arlington Heights village president, is the first to make a speech.

"WE WANT to acquaint you with our problems," he tells the county officials.

"We feel that closer cooperation in the areas of police protection, sewerage, storm drainage, water supply, fire protection and zoning is needed between the county and the suburbs.

"My feelings on apartment zoning were summed up in our petition. We appeal to you to assist us."

Next to take the floor is Jack Siegel, Arlington Heights village attorney. He is articulate and to-the-point.

"The tremendous growth of the suburbs is attributed to careful planning and budgeting," he begins.

"MOST IMPORTANT to us is the use of land, and to this end we have all adopted new comprehensive zoning ordinances. We have worked hard to cooperate with neighboring governing bodies.

"But we have been concerned recently with what appears to be the erosion of careful planning. We are concerned with the rapid development of apartment projects in county areas.

"I have appeared at five hearings to protest apartment zoning requests. My protestations had little effect.

"You see, we take seriously the preamble to the county zoning ordinance which says that all types of property are to be protected, that the intention of the ordinance is to relieve congestion, and that building development is to be directed to the best advantage of the county."

HERE SIEGEL cites apartment projects approved by the county south of Mount Prospect. "These projects indicate to me that the sins and errors of yesterday are being used to justify new sins and errors," he says, pointing out that pro-apartment witnesses testify to the "changed character" of the area.

"The burden should be on the applicant for new zoning to prove his case.

"We ask you to take into account our planning and your own ordinance in these cases."

A young man in his late 20's, identifying himself as Des Plaines' assistant city attorney, stands to express his "hearty agreement" with Siegel's statement.

THEN EDWARD Hofert, village attorney for both Elk Grove Village and Mount Prospect, takes the floor. He mentions Gov. Otto Kerner's "understanding" of municipal problems and asks for aid and coopera-

Judge Grants Writ for JP

Superior Court Judge Arthur Sullivan this week granted a writ of mandamus ordering the county clerk to call a special election for a justice of the peace in Wheeling Township.

The order granting the writ was signed Tuesday, according to John F. White, 1026 N. Gibbons Ave., Arlington Heights, attorney for the Wheeling Township Committee for a Special Election.

"Needless to say, we are very pleased with Judge Sullivan's decision," White told the Herald.

HE SAID the order will not go into effect for 30 days, giving Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett and the state's attorney's office an opportunity to file an appeal with a higher court.

Evidence in the case was taken May 9 and arguments were heard Monday.

The local committee petitioned for the writ March 18.

ONE OF Wheeling Township's two JP offices was vacated last November when Walter P. Dahl, 416 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, was elected a judge of the Superior Court, leaving the township with only one court manned by a licensed attorney.

The committee maintained state law requires the county clerk call a special election to fill the vacancy. Barrett refused to order the election, pleading lack of funds.

The four villages in Wheeling Township — Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Mount Prospect and Wheeling — early this year adopted resolutions which urged Barrett to call for an election and created the special election committee.

MEMBERS OF the committee are Eugene F. Schlickman, Arlington Heights trustee; William J. Farrington, Buffalo Grove village president; John H. Bickley Jr., Mount Prospect trustee; Thomas J. Miller, Wheeling trustee; Albert C. Peters, Wheeling Township supervisor, and Mrs. William K. Andrew, representing Prospect Heights.

Next move in the case is for the state's attorney's office to file an appeal by June 13 if it is considered desirable.

Weller Creek Bills Seek Improvements

Legislation to improve Weller Creek was approved last week by Francis Lorenz, head of the state Department of Public Works, and Thomas B. Casey, chief waterways engineer of the state Division of Waterways.

Both officials will support the legislation to be sponsored by the division of waterways and administered by the department "It appears to be a sound piece of legislation."

A MEETING between five local members of the Weller Creek Action Council and the officials was held in Springfield Wednesday, May 8. The bill, drafted by members of the council, will be co-sponsored in the legislature by State Rep. John W. Carroll, Republican, and State Rep. Bernard Peskin, Democrat, both of the northwest suburban sixth district.

The bill was also approved by the Legislative Reference Bureau. Only one change was made last week; the cost figure for "stage five" was raised from $275,000 to $302,000.

Meeting with the state leaders in Springfield were Action Council President Herbert Behrel, mayor of Des Plaines; Park District President Charles W. Payne; Park District Attorney Robert Downing; Mount Prospect Village President C. O. Schlaver; and Vinton Bacon, general superintendent of the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

CARROLL WAS to introduce the bill into the legislative hopper, by unanimous consent, Wednesday.

Peskin told the Herald he was happy to co-sponsor the creek legislation and called the bill "sound in every respect." He said it "should go a long way to solving the drainage and flood control problems."

The additional amount added to the completed bill raises the total being sought to $1,184,600 for improvements to Weller Creek.

This represents a savings of $318,000 over the legislation to cover a portion of the creek in Mount Prospect passed by the legislature in 1961.

THE BILL was drafted by WCAC member, Jack Siegel, village attorney of Arlington Heights, and was approved by other council members Tuesday, April 30 during a meeting held in the Chicago offices of the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

The council is composed of two representatives each from the villages of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights; the Cities of Rolling Meadows and Des Plaines, the Mount Prospect Park District, the Weller Creek Drainage District and the sanitary district.

Two other members of the council, Mount Prospect Park District President Charles W. Payne and Mount Prospect Village President C. O. Schlaver, Tuesday sent telegrams to Carroll and Peskin telling them they were happy they were introducing the "remedial bill for the entire Weller Creek improvement plans in the total of $1,184,600."

The telegram also thanked them for their interest in the matter. (AC MF

Remodeling Delay At Wilson School

The $50,000 remodeling of Wilson School, planned for this summer, may have to be delayed for a year.

The original remodeling plans provided for the conversion of one classroom to library and office area. Due to the increased enrollment expected at Wilson in 1963-64, this conversion may be impossible, according to District 25 Supt. R. E. Clabaugh.

"The removal of a classroom would present a serious problem at a time when we need it desperately," Clabaugh indicated Monday.

BOARD MEMBER Charles Bennett said classroom temperature at Wilson School are reportedly ranging from 60 to 80 degrees. He asked Clabaugh if this might not be a result of the elimination of $9,000 worth of ventilators from the school.

Clabaugh said that ventilators don't control the heat, but they may have helped.

In response to Bennett's statement, "It is not a good school situation for a student to work either with a coat on or in 80 degree heat," Clabaugh told the board that he would contact architects regarding better heat control. (AF

Orchesis Dance Show at Prospect is 'Bayou Girl'

The annual Prospect High School Orchesis show will be presented in the school's Little Theatre tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday, May 17 and 18, starting at 8 p.m.

This year's presentation, "Bayou Girl," takes place in and around the New Orleans area. The four scenes range from the family shack in the bayou to the festive Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Miss Ardelia Brennan is faculty director of this production. Her student assistant is Carolyn Payne.

Assisting with the choreography and helping as scene leaders are Lynette Schmidt, Carole Dorrmal, Marianne Jirgal, Judy Kreitzman, Pat McCabe and Loree Luby.

LOUISA, the young girl, is danced by Lynette Schmidt. She leaves her home in the bayou, much to the dismay of her sickly, heckling mother, danced by Carole Dormal. Traveling to New Orleans, she meets Tom, a likeable and rich young man portrayed by Bob Gerrard, and the Duchess of Bourbon Street, danced by Dottie Schroeder. Louisa's travels continue until she reaches New Orleans at the height of the Mardi Gras celebration.

This year's Orchesis show is described as "all new and fabulously different," by faculty members.

Featured are 10 of Prospect's young men: Dick Gay, Bob Gerrard, Dan McGowan, Mike Haske, Jack Hempstead, Bob Leisik, John Nau, Mike Smith, George Wilcox and Bob Williams.

"Orchesis at Prospect takes a great deal of pride in the fact that their show is original and is produced by its members, Miss Brennan noted.

Tickets will be available at the door for $1. (ACM-EG

Tells Disappointment

School Custodians' Agent Talks to Board

A spokesman for the Suburban School and Municipal Employes' Union asked the Arlington Heights elementary school board Monday to reconsider its failure to grant union requests for changed working conditions and salary increases for custodians.

"We are not here to ask only for shorter working hours and more pay as most unions appear to be asking for," explained Charles Foxworth, union business representative.

"We are a different union than that, believe me."

He noted the union's disappointment that the board was not able to "do better" with union proposals made Feb. 7.

Foxworth said the union's proposals included a changed salary schedule, adoption of an in-service training program, broader hospitalization benefits, extra compensation for night work, uniform allowances, a third week of vacation after 10 years employment, and overtime adjustments.

He cited "Arlington Heights' $10,000 median income" and the "more complex" school facilities which give custodial employes greater responsibilities.

"If the board cannot grant some of these requests, they will appear on future agendas for more discussion," Foxworth said.

"We'd like to establish a good two-way communication system with the board and create respect from the public and the board. We are one of the very few unions with a code of standards and we expect our members to live up to it.

"We realize these buildings are put up for the education of children. Even Mr. (Supt. Ralph) Clabaugh's job is incidental to this end.

"We hope you will reconsider your decision."

Board president Joseph Faner assured Foxworth that he was right, that "everyone here is on the same team."

"We very carefully considered your letter of Feb. 7," Faner said. "We are sorry we could not do this year what we did last year.

"I'm sure some new thoughts were presented here tonight that we will kick around at a later date."

Foxworth was accompanied Monday by five members of the local union.

Schools Surprised By Assessment Bill

Supt. Ralph Clabaugh was instructed Monday to clarify with village officials the standing of School District 25 in a special assessment project for improvements near the Windsor School, Miner Street and Windsor Drive.

Board member Charles Bennett contended that the district, by prior agreement with representatives of the village, was not to be assessed for installation of sanitary sewer and water lines planned for the school are.

"I suggest we protest vehemently because the special commissioner and (Village Manager L. A.) Hanson told us we wouldn't be included in sanitary sewer and water," Bennett said.

THE MATTER was called to the board's attention when a bill for $4,428.72 was presented for the school district's share of sanitary sewer and water line improvements.

Clabaugh was instructed by the board to determine whether or not the district has been included in the special assessment ordinance.

The board also voted 6-1 to approve a contract for $6,487.70 with Allied Asphalt Paving Co., Chicago, for improving the west half of Windsor Drive adjacent to the school.

Member Ralph McGee voted "no," apparently because the district had not advertised for competitive bids on the job.

CLABAUGH said the district engineers reported the Allied quotation was "the lowest possible" because the company has the contract for the special assessment work and therefore has its equipment in the area.

The superintendent added that there wasn't sufficient time to advertise for bids.

The Allied bid is $1,123.50 under the cost estimate.

Sophs to Erase Painted Numerals

The sophomore class of Arlington High School has organized a clean-up day, scheduled for May 18, to erase and repaint the various class insignias painted on village walks and signs.

With the Chamber of Commerce furnishing supplies and the police department supplying transportation, a troup of 100 sophomores will be parted into 10 work groups to operate in various sections of the community.

The Chamber of Commerce decided to back the project after a successful trial project April 6.

Sophomore class president Mack Borgen explained that "by ridding the town of the '62's, '63's,' and 'Kilroy was here's,' we hope to restore student-townspeople relations in Arlington."

The students will assemble at 9 a.m. Saturday in front of the Arlington Heights municipal building where they will be driven by the police to designated work areas. The Sophs hope to finish by noon.

Refuse to Free 2 Teachers from Contracts

Board Votes 6-1 To Back Clabaugh

Members of the Arlington Heights elementary school board voted 6-1 Monday to hold two teachers to contracts for the 1963-64 school year.

The teachers, Duane Bush and Hilda Brumbaugh, signed contracts this Spring, but later decided to accept teaching positions elsewhere, it was reported by Supt. Ralph Clabaugh.

He recommended the board not grant their requests for release from the contracts.

"We give some sanctity to the contracts by refusing to approve these requests," Clabaugh said. "The important thing is that people honor their contracts. In other words, if you sign a contract you mean it. This action has an affect on others under contract to us too."

BOARD PRESIDENT Joseph Faner asked, "Do we want to have a teacher in the system who doesn't really want to teach here?"

Harold Sortor answered, "If I had someone under contract to me and he didn't want to work, I'd let him go."

Charles Bennett queried Clabaugh as to the board's stand on similar requests in the past. Clabaugh said he didn't think the board had approved such requests.

"I recall some vague conversation about people being able to leave in order to better themselves and their profession," Bennett said.

"I just hope we don't vacillate all over the place on this."

RALPH McGEE commented, "It seems to me we're voting on the moral obligation of fulfilling a contract."

Mrs. Dennis Malcolmson asked what affect refusing the requests would have on the morale of other teachers.

"Isn't that a problem for the superintendent to cope with?" responded Bennett. "We should be backing up past policy here."

Clabaugh said the board could not control the teachers' actions regardless of how it voted, but guessed that breaking of contracts would have some bearing on teacher certification with the State of Illinois.

IN MAKING a motion to deny the requests for release, Bennett stipulated he did not intend that punitive action would be taken regarding teacher certification in the event the contracts are not honored.

Sortor cast the lone "no" vote.

Clabaugh said Bush wanted to take a job at a senior high school in Madison, Wis., and Miss Brumbaugh wanted to accept a teaching position at a private school in Chicago.

The board also voted to accept the resignations of tenure teachers Winifred Davis, Jere Rood, Nancy Rawson and Mary Webster. (A

The school will be held each morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the church, located at 1234 N. State Road in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. William Stueber, director of the pre-school session, announces an interesting and creative program for the young children, built around the theme "The World God Made."

The children will enjoy a "Nature Table," listen to stories about God's world, learn new songs, and make paper bag puppets.

Many different activities are planned for the children, including a trip to the nature center located on Milwaukee and Euclid Avenues.

Parents wishing to enroll their 4 and 5-year-old children in the school should call the registrar, Mrs. Paul Jacobsen, at CL 5-0399.

Mrs. Donald Petelle, director of the school program, announces plans are progressing for the summer pep-up session.

Approve Contracts For Dunton School

Arlington Heights School District 25 Monday approved bids from two contracts for construction projects on the new Dunton School, currently under construction at Cypress Street and Dunton Avenue.

Bids of $8,547.50 by the Rossetti Contracting Co. for the installation of storm sewers and water mains and $16,585 by Milburn Brothers, Inc., for paving, gutters, curbs, and sidewalks were each below estimates pointed out Steve Tucka of Ganster and Hennighausen, architects.

BOARD MEMBER Charles Bennett asked Tucka about breaking up of the pavement in the parking lots of some district schools.

Tucka attributed the cracking to the lots having only a six-inch base beneath the blacktop. He indicated that Ganster and Hennighausen was changing to an improved base.

Tucka reported that construction of the Dunton School, for kindergartners through fifth graders, is going "very well." The flooring has been poured; stone work has been completed; and in two weeks all interior walls will have been erected.

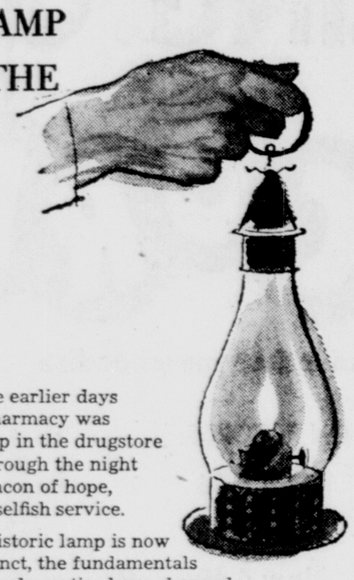
THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW



Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drugstore window. All through the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a symbol of unselfish service.

Although the historic lamp is now practically extinct, the fundamentals of pharmaceutical practice have changed but little. The responsibilities of the pharmacist are greater today than ever before — he is a vital factor in medical care.

To the man who can't work in air-conditioned comfort

(but would like to come home to it)

You can have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning in the average 6-room home for as little as 50¢ a day.

(This includes maintenance as well as operating costs.) It's bad enough to have to work all day in hot, sticky weather. But it is even worse to come home to a house that's too hot and humid for sleeping.

Nowadays there's something you can do about it. It's called Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning, and the cost is a lot lower than most people guess.

For instance, to have it installed in the average 6-room home usually costs from about $800 to $900.

Operating costs will vary, but 50¢ a day for operation and maintenance over a period of 120 days is close to the average.

Electric air conditioning is simple, doesn't require water. It adds to the desirability and market value of your home.

You get a lot besides cooling. Air throughout the house is crisp, free of excess humidity. A filter in the system removes dust, and up to 98% of the pollens, from the air.

To find out exactly what Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning would cost in your home, get in touch with the dealer, distributor, or department store nearest you. The contractor you choose will be glad to give you a free estimate and financing is easy to arrange.

OFTEN MISUSED

CONTINUOUS (which implies an uninterrupted continuity). "There was a continual rain." "The work required continuous attention."

Do not say, "Each of us had more than we could carry." Say, "Each of us had more than HE (or, SHE) could carry."

Avoid such expressions as, "You'd better figure on twenty guests," and, "When does he figure on making the next payment?" Instead, say, "You'd better PLAN on (or, ARRANGE FOR) twenty guests," and, "When does he PLAN on making the next payment?"

Distinguish between FESTAL (Relating to a festival or holiday) and FESTIVE (joyous; mirthful). Thus: "We saw the festal procession enter the church," and, "The small square was crowded with a noisy, festive throng."

Women Send Wire On Relief Deadlock

In a telegram sent Tuesday to Republican members of the Illinois Senate, members of the board of directors of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club urged release of funds for welfare payments during May and June, but said they supported the principle of ceilings for relief funds.

This action is in accord with the position taken by State Treasurer William Scott and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ray Page, it was pointed out.

The two Republican leaders met with Gov. Kerner and other state officials Monday in an attempt to work out a solution to the deadlock which has meant a stoppage of funds to persons receiving general assistance from the Illinois Public Aid Commission and Aid to Dependent Children funds.

THE TELEGRAM READ: "The Legislature has a moral obligation to end immediately the deadlock regarding welfare payments. We urge release of funds for May and June per state officials' agreement on May 13.

"We support the principle of ceilings for the next biennium and urge equitable solution to this matter before the conclusion of this session."

The message went to Senators Russell Arrington, R-4th, John A. Graham, R-3rd, and Robert R. Canfield, R-54th. (ACM

Mothers Celebrate THEIR Day in Variety of Ways

One of the most popular forms of Mother's Day "celebrations" was no celebration at all, but a quiet do-nothing day designed solely for relaxing purposes. Another tradition, observed by many local families, was the afternoon "pop in on Grandma" visit. Newswise it was a quiet day, the kind most Moms appreciate.

A reception honoring Marquette University students designated as "academically excellent" feted such students and their parents on the campus in Milwaukee Friday evening. Among guests were Jerry Wrobel, Marquette senior, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wrobel, 616 W. George. Jerry graduates June 2 and will enter Northwestern University's School of Medicine in September.

THE ANNUAL multi-purpose Maytime celebration of the Earl Rileys, 738 S. Mitchell, filled the weekend and Mother's Day in the Riley's "other" home on Lac LaBelle in Oconomowoc, Wis. Their son, Richard's, May 12 birthday, his wife's on May 19 and the couple's wedding anniversary on the groom's birthday used up a goodly part of the weekend "happies."

More best wishes went to the hostess' nephew, Robert Cowan of Palatine, who celebrates a May 11 birthday and weekended with his family in the Lac LaBelle home. When all the birthday and anniversary congratulations had been absorbed, Sunday brought Mother's Day greetings to the Moms present.

The host's mother, Mrs. Andrew Riley, 223 S. Mitchell, was not part of the annual family celebration as is her custom, but enjoyed an identical place of honor in the home of her daughter and family, the Charles Vitters of Long Island, N. Y. She ended a month-long visit in the East right after the Mother's Day celebration with the Vitters, returning here by plane Monday.

An enthusiastic Golden Age group of local "over 60's" enjoyed their first get-together early this month in Noak Hall of St. Peter Lutheran Church

Cards, games and refreshments followed a short business meeting and climaxed a fine day for the 25 members present. They're all now looking forward to the regularly scheduled once-a-month meetings.

GARY WEGNER'S 11th birthday was celebrated May 7 at a family dinner party with local and Chicago relatives in the Wegner home, 726 N. Belmont.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kramer, 919 S. Evergreen, came home Sunday evening after a week in the East where Mr. Kramer attended business matters while his wife visited friends and relatives early in the week. Mrs. Kramer enjoyed reunions in Providence, R. I. and Pennsylvania, then joined her husband in New York Wednesday for a 4-day going-places vacation to climax the week.

The senior Mrs. Kramer of Ridley, Pa. was here for a brief visit before her son and daughter-in-law left, and stayed here with her grandchildren last week. She returned to Ridley Monday.

A MOTHER'S DAY tour of the lilac- and tulip-lined lanes in Lombard with a festive dinner later filled much of the day for Mr. and Mrs. George Syoen and David, 733 N. Evergreen, and their guest, Mrs. Ruth Horcher, 623 N. State.

Monday Mrs. Horcher was among guests at a birthday luncheon celebrating the 85th birthday of Mrs. Ella Meyer, 219 S. Evergreen. Mrs. Meyer, a lifetime resident of Palatine and Arlington Heights, also received congratulations from her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wirth of Milwaukee, who spent the Mother's Day weekend with her. Other well-wishers included Mrs. Elizabeth Schutz of Lombard, Mrs. Meyer's sister-in-law who was here with her daughters for the party.

Jeff Chase celebrated a May 3 birthday, his ninth, with six neighborhood and school buddies at an after-school party in his home, 1007 N. Dunton. High point of the big event was the performance of local magician, junior grade, 15-year-old Dick Fine. Upcoming high point of Dick's career, which he began professionally four years ago, will be a trip to Europe with a group of Talented Teens this summer.

MRS. RALPH Panek and her daughter, Judy, 825 S. Evergreen, returned Friday night from four weeks in seven European countries, flying to and from the continent and being leisurely the rest of the time. All of the vacation was scenic and exciting, Mrs. Panek, says, adding that Switzerland in springtime is breathtaking.

April showers, the bridal variety, feted Miss Letty Sinclair, daughter of the John Sinclairs, 630 W. Central, who was married April 27 to Nicholas Burke of Glenview. Mr. and Mrs. Burke, both students at Marquette University, are continuing their studies and are making their home in Milwaukee.

The first pre-nuptial party, to acquaint members of the bride's and groom's families, was given by the groom's cousin, Mrs. aJmes Colloton, 232 S. Kennicott. Thirty-five suburban guests enjoyed the getting-to-know-you process and the surprise of the bride-to-be as she realized the party was turning into a shower for her.

Late last month the bridesmaid-elect, Miss Virginia Woods, and her mother were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the Woods home, 726 S. Dunton. Miss Woods, a long-time friend as well as college mate of the bride, had as her guests 25 other young friends and local relatives of Miss Sinclair.

THE USUAL post-nuptial lull has not yet affected the bride's parents and it isn't likely to for several weeks. Immediately after the wedding their son, John Jr. and his family of Chicago, arrived for a temporary residence with the Sinclairs. They left last week for California and a new home in San Jose.

Mother's Day weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair spent in downstate Enfield where they attended the wedding Saturday of Donald Luster, 704 W. George, and Miss Helena Mitchell.

Currently and in ensuing weeks the Sinclairs will catch up on their breathing between preparing for their move to California next month.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Goldthwaite, 426 E. Park, spent Sunday dining and visiting with their son, Bert, and his family of Park Ridge. It would have been a most typical Mother's Day celebration except that the brightest and best-looking grandson of all time was a brand new addition to the party. He is John William Goldthwaite, born to Bert and his wife April 18 in Chicago's Lying-In Hospital.

THE ROBERT Bradles and their children, Lynn and Edward, came home to 606 S. Dryden Sunday evening after a busy Mother's Day weekend in Ohio with their daughter, Barbara, and Steve Van Deren of Arlington Heights, both students at Bowling Green University .

En route the campus town the Bradles overnighted in Kalamazoo, where they enjoyed a brief reunion with "we're homesick for Arlington Heights" ex-neighbors, the Gerald Beckmans, who send back greetings to other local friends.

Mother's Day activities on Miami University campus in Oxford, Ohio made a fine weekend for Mrs. Robert Becker, 1211 Woodford, the with-love guest of her daughter, Barbara. Accompanying Mrs. Becker was Mrs. Jack Cameron, 926 N. Yale, whose daughter, Joan, also attends the university in Oxford where all Moms were special guests Saturday and Sunday.

AN EXCHANGE of early Mother's Day greetings were a wee part of the happy hubbub a week ago Sunday in the Larry Kussow home, 815 S. Burton, where the Kussows' son, James, appropriately received the major share of attention. His confirmation in St. Mark's Lutheran Church of Mount Prospect was being celebrated that day.

Weekend guests here to witness Jim's spiritual achievement and share in the family party were Mrs. Kussow's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schultz of Neenah, Wis. and Jim's big brother, Dave and his wife, students in Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell came home to 330 S. Gibbons early Friday after a business-and-pleasure trip to New York and Washington, D. C. They left here a week ago Sunday to visit in Washington, D. C. with Mrs. Mitchell's sister and brother-in-law, Col. and Mrs. Ned Looney, and their brother and his wife, Maj. and Mrs. Gordon Howe, before going on to New York for the business portion of their eastern stay.
More to Come

THE KENNETH Jungbluths, their parents and their daughter spent Mother's Day in Rock Falls where they met at Jewel's Danish Farm, each arriving from a different place. The local Jungbluths left here from 346 S. Burton, their daughter, Linda, came from Monmouth College, Mrs. Jungbluth's parents, the Earl Wilsons, from Letts, Iowa and the senior Jungbluths from Fort Madison.

After several leisurely hours and a criss-crossing of Mother's Day greetings, everyone returned to their respective points of origin.

The Fred Whittinghills, 421 S. Dryden, returned Sunday from a well-filled, well-traveled three weeks in Europe. They divided their vacation time and enjoyment between a tour of Switzerland and visits to Copenhagen, Rome and Paris.

Mrs. Henry Seetch, 353 S. Burton, was the guest of honor last Wednesday afternoon at a farewell luncheon and stork shower given by Mrs. James Dawson and Mrs. Bernard Moore in the Dawson home, 329 S. Burton. The farewell-luncheon-for-12 part of the afternoon was not a surprise to Mrs. Seetch, in direct contrast to the part that brought her a shower of baby gifts from her neighborhood friends.

The Seetch household will be transplanted from Scarsdale to California early next month, and the Seetch contribution to west coast population is expected in August.

THE EVERETT Ballards, 407 E. Rockwell, spent the weekend in Indianapolis visiting friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sarig.

The Ralph Clabaughs spent Saturday in Madison, where their son Jim, and his Lambda Chi Alpha brothers on the university campus feted their Moms with special Mother's Day events. They returned to 510 S. Beverly Saturday night, then left again Sunday to share the day with Mrs. Clabaugh's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Perry of Round Lake. Mrs. Perry's May-time birthday, coinciding with Mother's Day this year, made the family celebration doubly fine.

Non-stop Mother's Day celebrating was the happy schedule for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lukasik, 526 E. Central, who began Sunday with a breakfast in Chicago and ended it with dinner in Bloomingdale. They extended greetings of the day to the senior Mrs. Lukasik at a festive morning meal in her Chicago home, then were part of a family luncheon for 14 in the nearby home of the junior Mrs. Lukasik's mother, Mrs. George Gonsiorowski.

Sunday evening found the local branch of the family in Bloomingdale as honor guests at a dinner party in the home of their daughter, Mrs. William Dieker.

FRIENDS OF Mrs. Eileen Wiltgen, 1112 E. Northwest Hwy., will be sorry to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. Anna Zwick of Riverdale who died May 10 in the home of her daughter at the age of 62. Sympathies are extended to the family.

Kathy Wood, daughter of the Richard Woods, 729 N. Fernandez, was honored at a family party following her First Communion May 4 in St. James. Her grandparents, the Frank Napps of Milwaukee, came for the weekend, as did Mrs. Ann Wood, also of Milwaukee, and the family celebrated with dinner at Old Orchard Country Club. (A

Approve Salaries Of School Nurses

Next year's salaries for members of the School District 25 nursing staff were approved Monday by the board of education.

Mrs. Thelma Carroll, director of health services, will receive a total salary of $8,605 for 42 weeks service during the 1963-4 school year.

Last year Mrs. Carroll received $8,690 for 46 weeks of service.

Supt. Ralph Clabaugh originally recommended that the health director receive $9,015 for 42 weeks on the basis that "the director of health activities performs to a considerable degree as an administrator as well as a nurse."

CLABAUGH added that Miss Carroll had never received reimbursement as head of a department.

District nurses Inez Corder and Jean Kyger will receive $6,800 and $6,850 respectively for the 1963-4 school year.

Mrs. Corder and Mrs. Kyger last year received $6,350 and $6,400 respectively.

Clabaugh recommended the increase on the basis that "the two nurses are not (in 1962-3) paid as much as if they were teachers, inasmuch as they are required to work two weeks longer than teachers.

CLABAUGH also based his recommendation upon the results of a questionnaire sent to 41 suburban schools. Of the 90 nurses covered in this survey, 85 per cent were paid according to the teachers' salary schedule.

"This practice is based, I believe, on the fact that school nurses are not primarily engaged in administering first aid, but rather perfom, to a considerable degree, as teachers," Clabaugh asserted.

A decision regarding travel expenses for the nursing staff (currently $500 yearly for the health director, $300 for nurses) was abandoned until the board could compare these expenses with those of other system-wide employees.

St. Peter Church To Hold Open House

St. Peter Lutheran Church congregation, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights, has set aside this Sunday for "open house" for all parishioners who have joined the congregation over the last three years.

This "Let's Get Acquainted Program" is to acquaint the newer families of the church with the church program, its workings, and the many organizations that make up the parish "family."

A special program at 2 p.m. will be directed for newer members. A short program entitled "Faith In Action" will be presented with speakers representing the church body. Separate entertainment will be provided for the children.

FOLLOWING this program, the newer members will have an opportunity to browse about the auditorium, viewing some 25 display booths, with representatives there to answer any questions about the organizations of clubs.

At 5 p.m., the new parishioners will be served supper in the school cafeteria, given by the St. Peter Dorcas Aid.

Starting at 7 p.m., the displays will again be open to the public and the congregation to view and take part in an evening of fellowship. (A

Doctors Pleased by Success Of Mass Polio Immunization

Three-fourths of all residents in the Northwest Community Hospital service area have gained immunity to polio.

This is the estimate of members of the hospital medical staff at the close of two Sundays of mass vaccination "clinics" in the area.

Typical of the doctors' reaction to the program was that of Dr. Donald G. Ewald, project chairman, who says simply "I am very happy."

A total of 90,000 residents, or about 75 per cent of the total potential vaccination population, attended one of the 17 "clinics."

THE 75 PER CENT coverage could be considered 100 per cent immunity for the local communities, according to Dr. Donald G. Ewald, program chairman.

Dr. Ewald states his opinion is based on the large number of unlikely polio victims — residents of old peoples' homes and older people who have little contact with the general public. He pointed out that many younger people are not actually living in the community at the present time — youths in the service, college students and other young people temporarily living away from home.

The total estimated population of the four townships served by the hospital is 145,000. An estimated 23,000 of this total probably attended oral polio clinics in Barrington or Des Plaines-Park Ridge, the doctors say. Another 2,000 were immunized at an oral polio clinic held in Wheeling last year.

DEDUCTING these groups, the total potential vaccination population drops to 120,000. The 82,601 persons immunized May 5, and the 6,788 who attended the special makeup clinic last Sunday represent 75 per cent of this figure. The actual potential could be further reduced by the groups of people cited by Dr. Ewald in making his 100 per cent estimation.

The first Oral Polio Sunday on May 5 (and the makeup clinic last Sunday) distributed Type I vaccine. Type III vaccine will be distributed in a similar mass Oral Polio Sunday June 16. The remaining Type II vaccine will be given Sunday, September 8.

The massive four-township program was sponsored by Northwest Community and its medical staff. Dr. Ewald and Dr. Werner F. Cryns headed the program. Local community volunteers and clinic physical setup was turned over to the Jaycees of the area.

In commenting on the program which was carried on entirely through volunteer work and donations, Dr. Ewald cited a large group as vital to the success achieved.

HE SINGLED out Jack Walsh of Elk Grove Village who coordinated the medical, pharmaceutical and local volunteer efforts. Walsh is an Elk Grove Jaycee and a representative of Wyeth Laboratories, suppliers of the vaccine.

Dr. Ewald also expressed the gratitude of the hospital and medical staff to the Jaycees for their wholehearted cooperation. He cited the many civic volunteers and local nurses who staffed the 17 "clinics" May 5 and the make-up "clinic" Sunday. He extended the appreciation of the hospital group to Randhurst and the local school districts for the donation of [illegible] facilities.

Donations of sugar and other supplies from Jewel and A&P were noted by Dr. Ewald.

"Particular commendation is due local dentists who worked at each clinic station, and we could not have carried out the program without the help given by local pharmacists under the direction of Ken Harris of Harris Village Pharmacy and Jack Keefer of Keefer's Pharmacy," Dr. Ewald said. (B-9

IMMUNITY FROM POLIO for his whole life is assured little Jason Joerger, 2, who joined almost 90,000 northwest suburban residents in successful Oral Polio Sunday campaign May 5. Little Jason, who posed for this picture to stimulate interest in the polio vaccination campaign, has been told that the successful campaign saw about 75 per cent of the potential population gain immunity to Type I polio virus. He knows he will be going back to the second Oral Polio Sunday slated for June 16 when the Type III polio virus vaccine will be distributed, even if he doesn't quite understand how those little pink drops on a sugar cube keep him from getting sick. WHY ARE PLYMOUTH SALES 41% AHEAD OF LAST YEAR?*

One good reason: Plymouth beat Ford and Chevrolet in 8 out of 10 events at Riverside!

No doubt about it any more, Plymouth is the performance champ of the tough and rugged Plymouth-Ford-Chevrolet league. It proved itself by winning events like zero to sixty, passing tests, the quarter-mile and even the economy run at the famous Riverside, California, test track. Add in Plymouth's terrific good looks and low, low price and you have a combination that's hard to beat. Doesn't this sound like your kind of car? Matt Cockrell Pioneers in Food Vending

MATT COCKRELL, head of Cockrell Coffee Service, 112 S. Dryden St., Arlington Heights, indicates to a prospective customer line of soups and sandwiches he can expect to have vended from his machines. Cockrell finds customers like the basics in food rather than the unique. Eventually he plans to try two basic price levels for "standard" and "deluxe" sandwiches.

Magazine Writes About His Success

by JOAN LORENSON

"A growing small town commissary with what it takes" is how American Automatic Merchandiser magazine labels an Arlington Heights vending business.

An article in the April edition of the magazine chronicles the growth and expansion of Cockrell Coffee Services, started 10 years ago by Matt Cockrell, 15-year-Arlington Heights resident.

Cockrell with no experience in the vending business started out with coffee vending machines then graduated to food vending. About 2½ years ago, "much as it scared him," Cockrell decided "to put real meaning into the name of his full-line food operation," Red Rooster Automatic Cafeterias, by setting up his own commissary.

Cockrell's idea was to concentrate on two areas, first class sanitation and quality food, according to the magazine article.

The original commissary was simple, equipped with a used household range, refrigerator, and obsolete ice cream machine which served as deep freezer. Formica tops were used for tables and stainless steel wash sinks were installed. Shelving provided the other basics.

IN SETTING up his commissary, Cockrell planned his layout by moving around paper models of his equipment to find the most efficient layout. He consulted the Arlington Heights health officer for advice and assistance in insuring strict sanitary precautions.

A visit to a Bloomington, Ill. commissary helped him to visualize his operation.

Using the Cockrell business as a case study, the magazine explores the steps Cockrell took in his operation which is considered a success in a competitive vending field.

The article describes Cockrell's taking advantage of the closing of a business next door to his location to enlarge his own quarters.

THE COMMISSARY is located facing the front at 112 S. Dryden St. so passers-by can see food prepared in full view. "Such a commissary location is ideal from a public relations point of view," Cockrell is quoted as saying.

One of the unique features of Cockrell's operation is its confinement to a six-mile radius of Arlington Heights. Originally spread out in the northwest suburbs and in Chicago, time was wasted in getting to and from vending locations. "Driving time from our office is held to a maximum of 14 minutes," said Cockrell who admits his company has had to turn down requests beyond this area.

To staff his commissary, Cockrell depends on local people. He uses part-time housewives to work in the commissary assisting two women, Florence Glade and Paula Nelson, who had previous food preparation experience in school cafeterias.

COCKRELL has found standardized menus with variety are most successful. Experience has shown people like ordinary sandwiches made with ham, roast beef, American cheese, egg, tuna, or chicken salad. For example he tried a turkey-roquefort cheese sandwich which he and his wife had had in a downtown restaurant. Though expensive to make, it did not sell.

"People want good food, but they want something they're used to, something they make at home," Cockrell points out in the article.

His wife Betty helps Cockrell in his vending operation. She spends little more than an hour a week in purchasing chores, maintaining an inventory list.

FOOD IS A valuable tool in acquiring new accounts and is almost essential today for full line operation," Cockrell commented in the article. Though it accounts for a small percentage of total sales "the day will come when it will be much more... profitable enough to stand on its own."

As evidence to his success Cockrell can say he has lost only five accounts since he has been in business; two of these he regained. The routeman is told he is to refund money to anyone who complains, Cockrell said.

"No one likes to be taken even on a cup of coffee," Cockrell said in explaining his policy of keeping satisfied customers.

"The public in general are wonderful people. The average person bends over backward to cooperate," Cockrell has found.

Cockrell's business also was described in detail in a February article "Growth in Your Own Backyard" by American Automatic Merchandiser in an "on location" feature. (B8 COCKRELL LUNCHROOM location provides choice of meals. An attendant on duty will help to handle hot dishes. All purpose unit provides customers with their complete meal. Meals are prepared in a commissary which is set so certain dishes or sandwiches are made on certain days. (B-8

27 Admitted to TB Sanitarium in April

Twenty-seven residents of suburban Cook County were admitted to the Hinsdale Tuberculosis Sanitarium for treatment during April.

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, field director of The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District, said that 151 patients were under care in the hospital as of May 1.

The April admissions include a resident from Mount Prospect and one from Rolling Meadows.

DR. PISZCZEK reminded suburbanites that too often people with tuberculosis are not found until their disease is in its advanced state.

"It is quite true," he said, "that patients are being returned to normal living through the use of modern drugs and early surgery — but only if they have been discovered in time."

Dr. Piszczek commented strongly on the current Chronic Cough - Shortness of Breath campaign being conducted by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County.

"THIS EDUCATIONAL program calling attention to diseases of the respiratory system is of especial interest to those in tuberculosis work," he said. "For one reason, a person with the TB bacilli in his body may be weakened by a lung ailment and break down with TB. Then too, ex-tuberculosis patients are susceptible to other respiratory illnesses."

According to Dr. Piszczek, a great majority of patients being admitted at this time to the Hinsdale-Hospital Sanitarium have given a history of having had virus pneumonia recently.

He urged everyone having chronic cough or shortness of breath to first have a chest X-ray to rule out TB and then see his family doctor. (B9

'Mystery' Drive For Scout-O-Rama

Cub and Boy Scout exhibits ranging from "balloonology" displays to canoe-building instructions will be presented at the 1963 Scout-O-Rama, to unfold at the O'Hare International Airport, May 25 and 26.

Door to door ticket-selling for the two afternoon shows is now under way in the form of a "mystery" campaing.

The Northwest Council this week sent out 500 dollar-coupons to various "mystery" homes throughout the area. If a Scout should attempt to sell Scout-O-Rama tickets at one of these homes, he will receive the coupon which may be redeemed by the council for a silver dollar.

The Northwest Suburban Council is a member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park, and Subban Community Chests; the Skokie United Crusade; The Arlington Heights and Park Ridge United Funds; the Barrington United Drive; the Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights Combined Appeals, and the Palatine Combined Appeal. Hospital Finance Facts Are Explained

"A MAN OF VISION" was the title given A. C. Buehler (left) by Nicholas Lattof, general campaign chairman for the Northwest Community Hospital $4 million expansion program. Buehler, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, pledged $150,000 to the building campaign as a "kick off" for the massive fund drive. (B-9

Unvail Plans For Doctors

by HELENE BRISTOL

The $4 million expansion program for Northwest Community Hospital was officially launched last week at a joint dinner for the hospital board of trustees and medical staff.

An architect's sketch of the new addition was unveiled, the heavy use of hospital facilities was demonstrated, the need for more beds and service areas was emphasized, and the financial "facts of life" for the expansion program were explained.

Nicholas Lattof, general campaign chairman, told doctors and trustees: "Before going out to the public, every trustee and every doctor must subscribe to the fund drive first."

A building budget includes a $400,000 goal for the hospital trustees and a $200,000 goal for the medical staff.

OTHER SEGMENTS of the $4 million needed for the expansion program will come from a $100,000 pledge by the Women's Auxiliary, from $1.3 million in business and industrial donations and residential gifts of $1.1 million.

A tentative $900,000 Hill-Burton federal grant has been approved by the Illinois Bureau of Hospitals, the state agency charged with accrediting and dispensing the federal funds made available under the Hill-Burton bill.

Jack Hughes, chairman of the hospital board of trustees financial development committee, outlined the general organization for the fund campaign. He called for the cooperation of trustees and doctors for the campaign.

Hughes highlighted the need for added facilities with statistics showing Northwest Community Hospital had the highest number per 100 beds of live births, major and minor operations, X-ray examinations and emergency cases of six area hospitals. Other hospitals used for comparative purposes were Sherman, Elgin; Resurrection, Chicago; St. Francis, Evanston; Lutheran General, Park Ridge; and Holy Family, Des Plaines.

HIGHLIGHT of the kick-off dinner was the announcement by Lattof of a $150,000 contribution to the building fund by A. C. Buehler, chairman of the hospital board of trustees. Of the total, Mr. and Mrs. Buehler have pledged $100,000 as their personal donation this year. The $50,000 balance will come from the Victor Foundation, the charitable foundation of Victor Comptometer Corporation headed by Buehler.

Lattof told the doctors and trustees the donation "should give all of us the challenge to go out and do our part, to give generously of our treasure, of our time and of our talent, so that we may bring this hospital campaign to a successful conclusion."

He called the doctors and board of trustees the "official family" of the hospital and warned them they "must set an example" for the community.

"Every trustee and every doctor must go out and sell the hospital expansion program with enthusiasm, and our enthusiasm must be contagious," Lattof said.

INCLUDED IN the proposed expansion of the present 110-bed hospital will be an additional 100 beds. The major portion of the expansion program will not be in bed space, but will provide greatly-enlarged X-ray and laboratory facilities, outpatient and emergency rooms, a larger post-surgical recovery room, bigger equipment sterilization room, an enlarged cast room and added space for offices and medical records.

New facilities will include a therapeutic radiation room, special intensive-nursing-care units for critically ill patients, mental health faciliites, research laboratories, meditation room, father's waiting room, classrooms and meeting rooms and space for an executive health program. (B-9

Buehler Gift Sparks Drive

Nicholas Lattof called it "the special action that will put the campaign on the road."

Other members of the Northwest Community Hospital board of trustees and medical staff expressed their feelings with a standing ovation.

The "special action" was the gift of $150,000 to launch the $4 million expansion program for the hospital.

THE DONOR was described as a "man of vision, a man who is unselfish, a man who believes so much in our expansion program, in what we are trying to do, that he is willing to give us the motivation, who is willing to become the 'angel' of Northwest Community Hospital."

The massive $150,000 donation is the gift of A. C. Buehler of Barrington, chairman of the hospital board of trustees.

Buehler and his wife, Fern, will give $100,000 of the amount as a personal donation this year. The $50,000 balance will come from the Victor Foundation during the campaign period.

BUEHLER IS chairman of the board and president of Victor Comptometer Corporation, formerly Victor Adding Machine Company. Two years ago the firm merged with Comptometer Corporation. The adding machine firm was founded by Buehler's father, and he has been associated with the firm for 40 years.

The Victor Foundation is a charitable foundation of the corporation.

Buehler is in his second term as chairman of the hospital board of trustees.

The hospital received a donation of $35,000 from the Victor Foundation for the initial building drive.

9 From Area to Attend Synod Meeting

New Seminary On the Agenda

Nine pastors and laymen from area churches will be among the more than 1,000 pastors, lay delegates and visitors attending the convention of the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America to be held at the Pere-Marquette Hotel, Peoria, May 20-23.

Christus Victor Lutheran Church, located on Arlington Heights Road in Elk Grove Village, will be represented by its pastor, the Rev. Charles Fischer, and Harold Petersen, 941 Carswell, Elk Grove Village.

The Rev. Bruce Benander and Robert Tesmer, 1724 Bonita, Mount Prospect, will represent the Lutheran Church of the Cross, currently meeting at Pioneer Park Fieldhouse in Arlington Heights.

Grace Lutheran Church, 1010 E. Euclid Road, Prospect Heights, will send the Rev. Albert W. Weidlich and F. A. Gilbert, Inverness Countryside, Palatine, as its two delegates.

Representing Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 1111 N. Elmhurst Road, Prospect Heights, will be the pastor, the Rev. John E. Cooperrider and Roy Hammond, 577 E. Merle Lane, Wheeling.

The Rev. John P. Petersen will serve as the delegate from Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, 1234 N. State Road, Arlington Heights.

The Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Illinois Synod, will preside at the business sessions which begin Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. The synod is made up of 344 congregations with 490 pastors from Illinois and the St. Louis area.

One of the major items to be acted upon at the convention will be the resolution that a $3,200,000 financial campaign be conducted for the development of the new Lutheran School of Theology, to be located at a site near the University of Chicago, beginning not later than January, 1964.

IT WILL ALSO be recommended that the Lutheran Social Service of Illinois, through the Division of Family and Child Care, embark on a program of service to the mentally retarded and their families by providing diagnostic and referral service for the handicapped and comprehensive casework counseling for their families.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the ordination of 16 seminarians to take place Wednesday evening at Episcopal Cathedral in Peoria. The Rev. Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, executive secretary of the Board of Theological Education, Lutheran Church in America, will be the liturgist for the ordination service. (B8

Reliefers Get Doctors' Pledge

CHICAGO, (UPI) — The Illinois State Medical Society said Wednesday that no relief recipient would go without needed medical attention because of his inability to pay.

The assurance came in a resolution adopted unanimously by the society's delegates during a policy-making session at its annual meeting.

The society's president, George F. Lull, said the action was taken to "allay fears by relief recipients that they would be forced to forego needed medical attention due to delayed relief checks."

The medical profession, the ISMS said, traditionally has given medical treatment to the sick "Regardless of ability to pay."

Firemen at Class On Saving Injured

Area firemen attended an advanced course on emergency aid and transportation of the critically ill and injured last week at the Chicago Fire Academy, 558 W. DeKoven St., through the courtesy of Mayor Richard J. Daley and Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn.

The Chicago Committee on Trauma of the American College of Surgeons sponsored the classes for ambulance attendants, firemen, policemen, emergency squads, safety engineers, public health and civil defense personnel.

Besides the 195 men from 16 states who attended the course, approximately 100 others could not be accommodated. A second course is in the planning stage because of requests from Chicago and throughout the country.

THE LECTURES and demonstrations were for those laymen who arrive first at the scene of an accident. To help cope with the growing number of accident-injured, the course showed techniques for keeping people alive, giving the best possible care at the scene of the accident and en route to the hospital. Importance of team effort in treating the whole patient rather than just the single injury was stressed.

Instructors were Dr. Sam Banks, chairman of the committee and director of the coure, and Dr. J. D. Farrington, coordinator and publicity chairman, in cooperation with members of the trauma committee including chairmen of departments and faculty members of medical schools of Chicago.

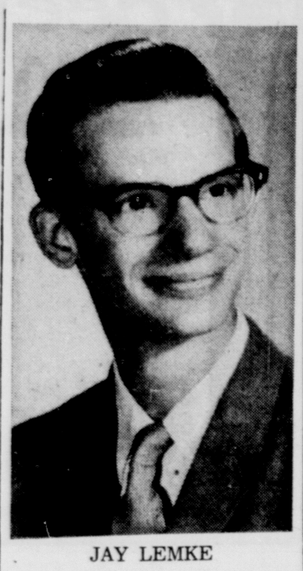
Arlington Pupils Win Science Honors

Arlington High School senior Jay Lemke's second consecutive "outstanding" award in the state finals of the Junior Academy of Science Fair last weekend tabbed him as Illinois' top high school student of mathematics and physics.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Lemke, 3729 Oriole, Rolling Meadows, Jay lectured judges and mathematics teachers Saturday on "An Examination of the Goedesic."



JAY LEMKE

The reading and accompanying questions climaxed the competition which had been narrowed to five finalists.

Judges wrote on Jay's paper, "It has been a liberal education for us to have met you, talked with you, and heard your discussion."

They were not the first professors and Ph.D.'s to be amazed at the high school student's grasp of math and physics.

HIS HIGH school mathematics instructor, Miss Edith Benjamin, introduced Jay to Dr. Menger, Illinois Institute of Technology professor who is considered one of the top mathematicians in the country.

When Dr. Menger learned of Jay's plan to attend the University of Chicago (he has a four-year scholarship), he introduced him to the U. of C. math "brass," who presented Jay was a faculty library card and started him on a project for them.

The amazing senior's ability is not limited to math and physics. He won the Illinois first place Latin award last year and is an outstanding student of English.

HIS REAL interest is mathematics and science, however, although he heads Arlington High's Philosophy Club.

This interest, stimulated by his high school teachers, was turned to relativity while attending a summer seminar (in Texas), sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Jay explains that two summers ago the seminar director, finding himself too busy to do justice to an introductory lecture, asked Jay if he would be interested in taking on a little extra work.

HIS LECTURE grew into two lectures, and a simple study became an intensive examination.

The following fall his paper on "Tensor Calculus" won first place honors in the Illinois competition.

Jay claims there is nothing very difficult about the subject of this year's paper, but few of his associates are up to his "simple" explanations.

His mathematics instructors at Arlington admit that Jay often talks "over their heads" but is "humble," always seeking advice and sometimes embarrassingly coming in for help with math fundamentals.

"WE KNOW THAT if we give something a push, it will continue to go in a straight line," Jay explains in discussing his paper project. "This is Newton's law of motion and is the basis of just about everything in physics.

"But if space is curved, how do we know what is the nearest thing to a straight line? How can we even tell what is the shortest line between any two points? We always assume that the shortest distance lies along the straight line and vice versa, but we know that the shortest airplane route over the world is along a great circle route.

"Likewise on every curved surface there is a way to find the curve of shortest distance, called the geodesic."

He adds that recently straightness in curved space has been defined, enabling the establishment of some important logical simplifications of the theory of relativity. His paper, "An Examination of the Geodesic," advanced some of those simplifications.

Lemke's Paper Best in State

Arlington High School mathematics and science students made an excellent showing last weekend at the state finals of the Junior Academy of Science Fair at the University of Illinois.

Heading the honors was senior Jay Lemke, whose study of relativity, "The Mathematics of Geodecics," was adjudged the number one entry in the paper division.

First place awards (top honors) in the project division were earned by Steve Carns, "New Modes in Numbers"; Jay Lemke, "Relativity and Field Theory"; Stanley Martens, "Symbolic Logic and Thinking Machines"; Michael Masny, "The 'Unutterables', Our Constants"; Sandy Schultheis, Mary Ehrke, and Margo Seamon, "The Golden Section," and Jim Schalin and Bob Conti, "Binary Computer Devices."

RANDY Blaisdell's project, "Topology, the Dimensionless Geometry," won a second place award.

Harley Gates accompanied the group as a delegate from the North Suburban organization, of which he is the 1963-64 president.

In other weekend activities freshman Jerry Fontecchio and sophomore Linda Vetter each received an honorable mention in the Chicagoland Science Exposition held at the Museum of Natural History in Grant Park.

Lemke's winning of the Fair's highest honor was a repeat performance. A description of his project and work in physics and mathematics is included in this week's Herald.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What social activities may properly be attended by a bereaved person?

A. Shutting oneself away from the world for months is a practice sensibly outmoded. Usually for a period of six months one does not attend conspicuously gay parties. However, quiet evenings with friends, small informal parties, the theater, certainly are not to be frowned upon in general today. All this, of course, is strictly up to the individual.

Q. Is it all right for the bridegroom to give his bride something for their home as his special wedding gift?

A. This is not customary. His special gift to her should be something more personal—usually jewelry of some kind.

Three suburban youths won top honors in the Illinois High School Photographer of the Year contest sponsored by the Illinois Press Photographers Association, Inc.

Winners were announced May 11 by contest co-chairmen Joe Patrick and Jim Rutledge at the IPPA convention in Decatur.

Chorus to Sing for Alexian Hospital Fund

The Alexian Brothers Hospital, soon to be giving medical service in Elk Grove Village will receive service instead on June 1 at 8:30 p.m. in the Prudential Building Auditorium, 130 East Randolph Drive, Chicago.

At that time the Catholic Festival Chorus of the Catholic Casino of Chicago will present a program of diversified choral selections, turning over all of its proceeds to the Alexian Brothers Hospital Fund for the new hospital building in Elk Grove Village.

The 200-bed hospital will be on a 30-acre site at Biesterfield and Biesler Roads. The hospital will be an inter-community hospital serving a wide area.

According to Brother Flavian, C.F.A., Superior of Alexian Brothers Hospital in Chicago, the June 1 choral festival concert will launch a drive for $6 million to make the new hospital a reality.

" WE ARE MOST grateful to the Catholic Casino of Chicago and its gifted festival chorus for bringing us such an opportunity," says Brother Flavian. "Through its 91 years of existence, the Catholic Casino has devoted its services to many worthwhile causes, including: hospitals, orphanages, churches, homes for the aged, and others, not to mention its concerts on national broadcasting networks.

"We hope many Chicago-area residents will avail themselves of an opportunity to hear the singers.

"We want Chicagoans to know, too, that their past support of our present hospital work enabled us, in 1962 alone, to extend 5,211 patient-care days completely without charge to needy patients."

The Catholic Festival Chorus is an inter-grading of 60 talented amateur and professional male and female voices mutually dedicated to using their artistic gifts for charitable purposes.

FOR PERSONS who are planning to attend the musical event, tickets are available three places: through campaign headquarters at 200 E. Higgins Road, Elk Grove Village, (Tel. 439-0850); in the Alexian Brothers Hospital lobby at 1200 W. Belden Ave.; or at a booth in the Prudential Building lobby beginning on Monday, May 13. Tickets are $2.50 each and are tax deductible as a charity gift.

Theodore K. Handing, president of the Ampliphone Corp. of Chicago, is chairman of the concert, and Mrs. Mary Anne Kirchschlager is co-chairman.

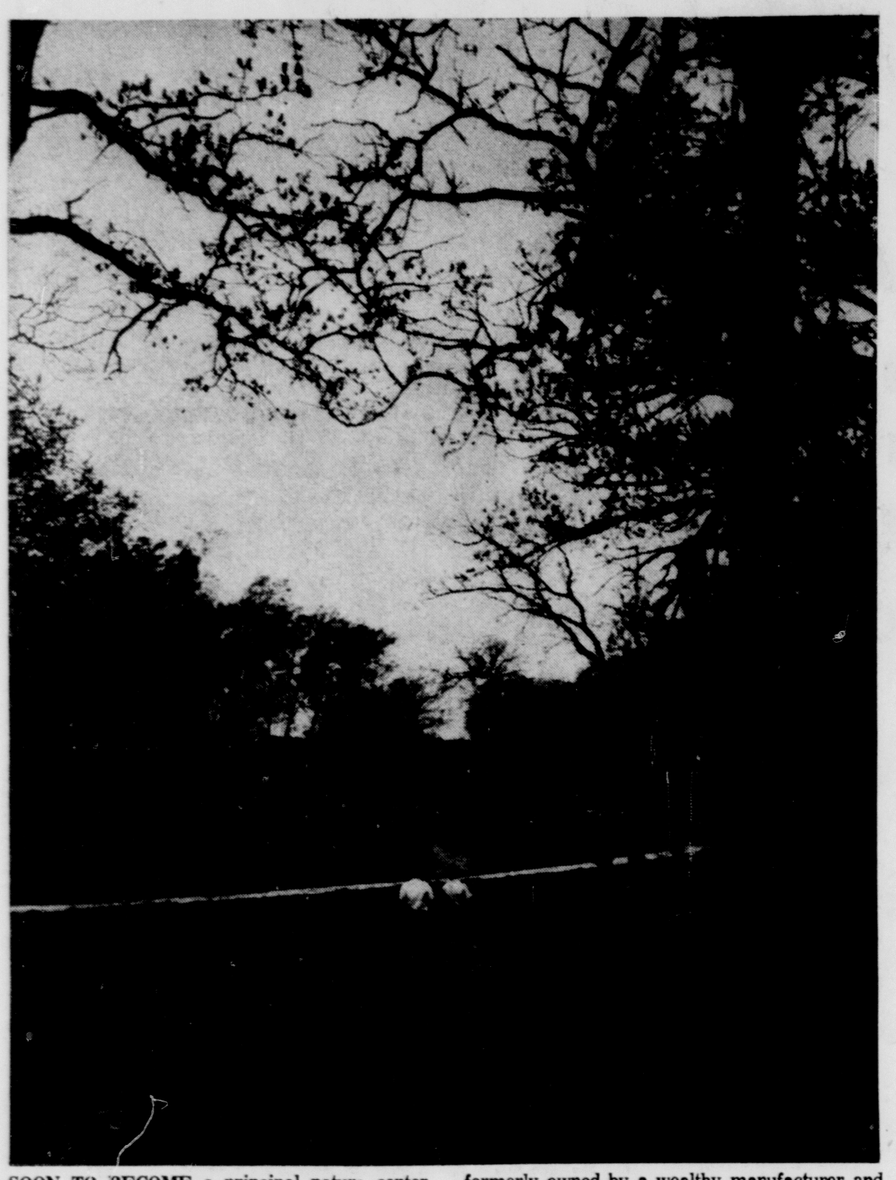
Bird Haven to Become Forest Preserve



SOON TO BECOME a principal nature center of the Cook County Forest Preserve is a 300-acre Crabtree Lake farm and private bird preserve about two miles southwest of Barrington where Route 62 and Palatine Road meet. It was formerly owned by a wealthy manufacturer and naturalist. Above jagged oaks are sentinels around the lagoon. The marshy island in the lagoon is a rookery for white egrets. (A14

Crabtree Lake Highly Scenic

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

What has long been a fascinating private bird sanctuary near Barrington is slated to be the property of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, to become one of its primary nature centers.

It is the Crabtree Lake area lying near the intersection of three main highways, Palatine Road, Route 63 (Dundee Road), and Route 62 (Algonquin Road). It is a little over a mile southwest of Barrington.

It is well known in the northwest sector of Cook County as a stop-over spot for thousands of ducks and geese on their annual migrations.

Coupled with the 1,400-acre Spring Lake site purchased by the forest preserve last year, it will give the northwest corner of the county two highly scenic "wilderness" refuges.

CRABTREE Lake covers about 35 acres of a 300-acre former farm. It became a private wildlife refuge in 1924 when it was purchased by Alfred L. Eustice, a manufacturer with a consuming interest in nature.

Until his death in the early 1940's, he raised many exotic birds in pens on the farm, and turned back to nature much of the acreage. Eustice also did considerable planting to improve the habitat for native wild birds.

In cooperation with the state and federal governments he conducted orithological studies, banding birds and placing wood duck houses throughout the woods.

THE FARM and wildlife area was managed by Eustice's widow, and more recently by his daughter, Mrs. Richard Leach of Evanston.

Roland Eisenbeis, superintendent of conservation of the forest preserve district, is excited about the ne addition to the public domain. On a tour of the premise-, he described it as a location with a rich "character."

He called attention to the varied landscape — hills, lake, marsh, a lagoon with an island in its center, mixed stands of trees, orchard, barnyard, and some still cultivated fields.

Colonies of long-legged wading birds, such as the vivid white egrets and blue herons, feed and roost in the marsh area, he said.

IN ADDITION to adding to the district's nature preserves, he envisions a rather noval project for the district — maintaining an "old-fashioned farm" in connection with a nature center.

Farm animals could be kept in the barnyard for visitors to view from close range, he noted. Looking at the old orchard, he said it could be preserved as a living example of the legend of Johnny Appleseed and of the role orchards played on pioneer farms.

"I think we ought to keep part of this (300 acres) just as an old-fashioned farm," Eisenbeis mused. Most children today rarely have an opportuunity to see examples of "early farms."

SEVERAL excellent buildings include' with the property could be converted to lodges, Eisenbeis said. Weekend nature workshops regularly sponsored by the forest preserve for school teachers could then be held in this sector of the county.

Walking around the lake, he pointed out the wide variety of wildflowers growing in abundance.

In bloom were anemones or wind flowers, blue flag, Jacob's ladder, purple and white trilliums, two types of Solomon's seal, dogtooth violet, Dutchman's britches, the scarce shooting star, Virginia blue bells, cherry, plum, pussytoes, viburnum, and beds of common blue violets. Introduced daffodils added to the color.

OTHER flowers due to bloom soon, and some herbs he pointed out, were bloodroot, coffee weed, leek, wild licorice, multiflora and prairie rose, honeysuckle, raspberry, mustard, grape, asters, May apple, toothwart, cinquefoil, nose bleed, sourdock, spiderwart, and wild geranium.

The forest district will also restore still other native prairie flora: blazing star, cone flower, butterfly weed, puccoon, rattlesnake master, etc.

Eisenbeis told how the district can open the area to accommodate several hundred visitors at one time without disturbing the natural setting. Paths covered with wood chips will lead only to key exemplary spots; observation blinds can be erected so that the birds can be viewed without being disturbed; at vantage points telescopes can be set up to provide "close views from a distance."

BUT THE forest district has to rely on the integrity of the visitors not to pick the wildflowers, which otherwise would be grossly decimated or even eradicated.

The lake is natural and spring fed, Mrs. Leach related. Many of the trees and flowers were introduced or re-introduced by her father, she said.

"I am happy to see it remain a nature preserve," Mrs. Leach stated.

Final stages of the transfer to the forest district are currently being negotiated, it is reported. The district plans to begin working next spring on conversion of the area, and probably will have it ready for the public by 1965.

HOWEVER, the lake and its flocks of birds can easily be viewed by motorists driving along Stover Road on the east side of the lake.

Crabtree Lake "should become one of our principal nature centers," Charles Sauers, general superintendent of the forest district, said. The sale price of $600,000 is "very reasonable," he noted, and the acquisition was made possible by Mrs. Leach's interest in nature.

The Spring Lake preserve is located about two miles due west of Barrington just south of County Line Road. It also is an orinthologist's paradise. (A-14 CRABTREE LAKE (background above) is a primary feature of the new 300-acre acquisition of the Cook County Forest Preserve near Barrington. A dirt road winds around the 34-acre lake's perimeter. The area has long been noted for its huge flocks of geese and ducks that congregate there in the fall and spring. (A14

Suburbs, County Air Issue of Apartments

tion from county officials.

"President Woods and attorney Siegel have expressed it very well," comments John J. Woods, Rolling Meadows mayor. "We have only 11,000 residents, but stand 100 per cent behind Arlington Heights' position.

"We have just had two frightful experiences with zoning, and feel we may have to annex land around us in order to control its development. We do not necessarily want to do this."

Dr. Willard Pedrick rises. He is a law professor at Northwestern University and recently-appointed chairman of the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals.

"WE HAVE A common problem and welcome hearing your views," he starts. "I live in Glenview and I know the suburbs' problems.

"I might say that all the suburbs' problems are not to be attributed to county zoning decisions. The zoning board of appeals is not the whole authority in these matters. The county board and the courts play important roles too.

"I'm not trying to point the finger, but a recent annexation and zoning project of the Village of Mount Prospect resulted in a significant lessening of standards.

"We will either all hang together or hang separately."

There is discussion of residential and multiple zoning theories at this point.

THE MEETING moves on, again when an alderman from Park Ridge suggests the suburbs forward to the county their master plans, land use maps and zoning board reports. The idea is readily accepted.

Eugene Keith, an Elk Grove Village trustee, is next to take the floor.

"Members of our plan commission attend all county zoning hearings," he says. "But we feel like the boy who cried wolf too often.

"I drive past a concrete jungle of apartments every day, and the jungle is getting bigger. We don't like apartments in Elk Grove. We're a single-family community.

"WE ARE neophytes in the political world. What can we do?"

Prof. Pedrick chances to answer. "You want to continue to attend hearings and try to show how the proposed change will work to the jeopardy of your community."

Attorney Siegel, directing another question at Pedrick, asks for a statement as to the "role" of the county zoning board.

Pedrick is quick to say the burden of persuading the zoning board rests with the petitioner and that the board considers current zoning classifications as appropriate.

Impact of multiple zoning in Elk Grove Township on Elk Grove School District 59 is explained by Supt. Roger Bardwell and Robert Palmer, school board president.

"IN THE LAST two years, 4,453 apartment units have been built in the area bounded by Elmhurst, Golf, Algonquin and State Roads," Bardwell says.

Palmer backs him up, noting the school district is "suffering an intolerable burden."

It is Seymour Simon's time to present the county board's views. He rises at 10:10 p.m.

"I read the editorial comment in Paddock Publications newspapers about the 43-acre rezoning at Golf and Busse Roads," he begins.

"I immediately got ahold of the hearing transcript, read it, and saw reasons why the zoning board could have concluded the zoning change should be granted.

"But I saw no reasons why the request should be denied.

"IF YOU'RE dissatisfied, elaborate and specify your objections. Don't just tell your village clerk to file a one-sentence statement to the effect that you object.

"The past is past. Let's look to the future.

"We who represent the county are grateful you had the foresight to organize this meeting. I think it will bear fruit."

Chairman Bonk recommends the meeting be adjourned. He invites attorney Siegel to define for the county's benefit the definition of "public interest," and gavels the meeting to a close.

The two-hour session is analyzed over coffee and doughnuts. Most agree it will serve as a "starter" to better liaison between county and suburban leaders. (AF

Rotarian Herbert J. Taylor, of Chicago, undertook in 1932 the management of a concern which was in desperate financial condition. He knew that he had a good product, but he realized that his competitors were also making good products. Analyzing all of the factors in the situation, he reached the conclusion that only some superiority in the policy and practice of his company would enable it to survive.

Rather than developing detailed rules, he decided that there was a need of in some way reminding the individual, faced with a decision, of what he already knew was right. To provide this reminder he evolved the Four Way Test and progressively tried it in his own daily decisions, then suggested that it be tried by his department heads, and finally asked that all of the people he employed learn and use it. They did — and found it helpful.

The practical value of the Four-Way Test was soon recognized by fellow-Rotarians, and it has been widely publicized in more than 100 countries by Rotary International. It has proved acceptable and applicable to people of all religions and in every kind of a situation. It is not confined to the business and professional fields. It is Rotary's belief that the man or woman who sincerely endeavors to make use of it cannot help but become a better parent, a better friend, a better citizen, and a better public servant. The Rotary Club of Arlington Heights presents it for your consideration in the belief that in your personal problems and decisions, the four simple questions are readily applicable.

A belated welcome is extended to John and Janet Bartell who moved to 1227 N. Race following their wedding trip last February. John, a design engineer at Johns-Nigrelli-Johns, builders of automatic packaging machinery in Skokie, enjoys a variety of outdoor sports including skiing and scuba diving, while Janet has been concentrating on homemaking and gardening. The Bartells attend the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Arlington Heights.

Mother's Day was celebrated at 1228 N. Chicago with the dinner party hosted by Bob and Mary Chernesky and attended by Mary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Dyck of Milwaukee.

The weekend before last was a busy one for the Heise family at 1222 N. Yale, with Saturday festivities following Wayne's First Communion in St. James Catholic Church. Present for a buffet dinner were Regina's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fundiss, who came from North Palm Beach for the occasion, along with 30 friends and relatives, including Wayne's godfather, Joseph Bechtold Jr., and his godmother, Mrs. Mariellen Murray. The following day Bill and Regina had to whisk son Gordon off to Northwest Community Hospital for an emergency appendectomy, from which he is presently recovering nicely at home.

While on the subject of convalescing at home—best wishes are extended to Ann Redding who is doing just that at 1345 N. Wilke, after a recent hospital stay.

MORE MOTHER'S Day social notes were picked up at 1111 N. Wilke, where Jesse and Genevieve Galloway are entertaining a house guest, Genevieve's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Posel of Berwyn. She arrived last weekend in time to attend a mother-daughter banquet with Genevieve in Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church.

Les and Charlene Bang, 1315 N. Illinois, recently hosted an open house for Debby's First Communion rites in St. James Church. Among the guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanus of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hansen of Des Plaines.

Ice cream and cake were treats when Chrissy, daughter of Art and Jeanne Sadowski, 1119 N. Wilke, recently celebrated her sixth birthday. Party guests included Lee Stratton, Kris Blackburn, Linda Stevens, Cathy Galloway, Karen Pedersen and Laura Keener.

Returning to 1330 N. Illinois Sunday evening were Frank and Shirlee Pircher, who, with sons, Frank, Steve, Mike and John, and Frank's mother, Mrs. Rose Lay, had a 4-day holiday at the Wisconsin Dells. Besides a boat ride through the Dells and a horse and buggy tour of Lost Canyon, the Pirchers visited the Circus Museum at Baraboo. They celebrated Mother's Day in Madison, where they stopped for Shirlee's mother and all went to the Rendezvous Restaurant for dinner.

A TRIPLE birthday celebration was held in conjunction with a Mother's Day family dinner in the home of JoAnne and William Herndon, 1333 N. Wilke. In addition to Wayne's fourth birthday, the Herndons also feted niece, Lynn, who was one, and niece, Ellen, who was six. Party guests included JoAnne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Nixon, and her brothers and families, the Wayne and Jack Nixons.

When the Thursday night monthly bridge group met last week in the home of Bertha Wilson, 1257 N. Illinois, first place honors went to Eileen Sanberg. Second through last place players, but not necessarily in this order, included Judy Zare, Carol Clarkson, Hazel Lowell, Winona Duenki, Marion Neilson and Shirle Husted.

April, daughter of John and Jeannine Kearney, 1413 N. Wilke, was ably assisted by her sister, Jeaninne, in the celebration of her seventh birthday. Enjoying Jeannine's heartshaped cake and pencil and paper games were Nancy Workman, Theresa Matthews, Susan Parks, Patty Foreman and cousin, Tammi Hulka of Mount Prospect.

Returning to 1328 N. Yale last week was Andrew Reed, who had a week's stay in Atlantic City, representing his firm at a convention. Intermixed with business, Andy found time for golf and tour of several historic points of interest in nearby Philadelphia.

LAST SATURDAY Janae, daughter of Lois and Ken Schafer, 1231 N. Chicago, was feted on her eighth birthday. Guests included her three brothers, Greg, Dean and Kevin, and friends, Chris Anderson, Laurie and Wendy Miller, Mike Caprara, John Noon, Sue Ann Herbert, Nancy Wayne, o JAnn Ninneman and Karen Pedersen. Another Schafer celebration was last Sunday for Kevin's second birthday. Dinner guests included his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gibis.

Among Terrace residents at at the Canasta Club's year-end festivities last Thursday night, were Betty Cech, Phyllis Fluhrer, Betty Sorensen, and Joan Donath. Following dinner in Old Orchard Country Club, they saw the evening performance of "The Tender Trap," in the country club theatre.

Sympathy is extended to Henry Crowe and children, Allen, Janet, Gary and Bryan, 1224 N. Race, on the recent death of wife and mother, Lenora. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Mother's Day observances took place in Arlington Acres homes Sunday almost without exception. At the Hinchliff home, 428 S. Forrest, the day was brightened by the presence of their daughter, Carol, a sophomore at Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis., home for the weekend.

Susan and Margaret Marshall took time off from their studies at Northwestern to spend the holiday with their mother, Mrs. Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Marshall was a guest of Alpha Gamma Delta at the chapter house in Evanston for a Mother's dinner. Both of her daughters are members of the sorority.

At the Rick Soukops' last Friday, dinnertime was the setting for wishing Karen a happy sixth birthday. On Saturday a luncheon was served to some of Karen's friends. Those attending the party were Barbara Risko, Sharon Conway, Cathy Oravetz, Marcia Roman, Missie Seestedt, Kim Slusser and, of course, Karen's sisters, Kris and Karla. The Soukops live at 525 S. Prindle.

MR. AND Mrs. Robert Smith, 517 S. Prindle, were guests of their son, Richard, a sophomore at Iowa State, for the school's "Veisha Weekend." Events crowded each other with every branch of the college outdoing its fellows in hospitality. Two outstanding highlights were a parade of floats entered by each of 35 sororities and fraternities and a student presentation of "Music Man" at which Meredith Willson himself acted as grand marshal.

Happy birthday wishes go to Dennis Curtin, 420 S. Forrest, on his May 13 birthday. The event was taken note of at a double celebration Sunday when all the Curtin children took their mother out to dinner.

The only flaw in an otherwise perfect day was the absence of their Dad, Jack Curtin, who has been in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, since Thursday, undergoing tests.

The first birthday of Patty Thorstad was the happy occasion for an extra special dinner Sunday at the Thorstad home, 412 S. Phelps. An aunt, Miss Mary Kelly of Skokie, joined Patty's parents and six brothers and sisters in making the day a merry one.

MRS. ANATOLE Lucas, 419 S. Phelps, was hostess at the May 8 get-together in honor of Mrs. James Thorstad's birthday. Cake and coffee were enjoyed by fellow members of a birthday club.

Tommy, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Swank, had his May 13 birthday honored at a family dinner Sunday. Guests, in addition to brother, Timmy, were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Rolf of Lake Forest, great-uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Covington, and a cousin, Hunter Hanson, of Des Plaines.

The May 10 wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Dwyer, 516 S. Forrest, was celebrated at a family dinner surrounded by their daughters, Betty, Donna and Sandy Dwyer Schmidt with her husband, Carl. Mother's Day was again a chance for the family to gather to have dinner together.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mertens, 425 S. Gibbons, received the congratulations of their friends on their May 8 wedding anniversary, which they observed Saturday at a banquet which they attended.

Another Arlington Acres couple to be congratulated are Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dassonville, 428 S. Phelps, who were married 30 years May 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindquist, 436 S. Prindle, were hosts at a smorgasbord Saturday in honor of the 70th birthday of his father, Carl Lindquist Sr., of Chicago. The guest of honor, with Mrs. Lindquist, expected a quiet family dinner and were surprised to be greeted by the Kenneth Swansons of Chicago, Gus Lofsteds of Bensenville and James Kutills of Des Plaines. Ann Smisko left her two daughters, Judy, 18, and Marsha, 15, and husband, Andy, to fend for themselves for a week, and thoroughly enjoyed a vacation visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Kaldon, in Aliquippa, Pa. She was, of course, happy to return home, and was accompanied by her father, John Katrenich, who will visit with the Smiskos for a while. Mr. Smisko is with United Air Lines.

Visiting Jim and Betty Sheahan at 2004 N. Verde Drive is Mr. Sheahan's mother from Detroit, Mrs. William T. Sheahan. Mrs. Sheahan has been entertained by the three Sheahan girls, Susan, 16, Sandra, 14, and Cynthia, 12, since her arrival on May 5. Mr. Sheahan is with the New York Central Railroad in Chicago.

A WELCOME to the Greenbrier neighborhood is extended to Jack and Mary Stuprich, who moved in to 2221 N. Champlain St. on May 1. Mr. and Mrs. Stuprich have no children living at home but have a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stuprich, and their son living in Rolling Meadows. The Stuprichs' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Michaelis, and their three children live in Manitowish Waters, Wis. The Stuprichs formerly lived in Palatine, where Mr. Stuprich has a barber shop.

Bob Lovell returned home from an extended stay in Hines Hospital on May 5, just in time to help his daughter, Betty, celebrate her May 6 birthday. Betty was honored on her 15th birthday with a family dinner, including relatives from Chicago and Hoffman Estates. Her brother, Garry, 12, was amoung the group of 12 to help in the celebration. The Lovells live at 2019 N. Verde Drive.

ALSO celebrating a May 6 birthday was Joe Oder, son of Don and Roberta Oder. Joe was wished a happy fourth birthday by his parents and sister, Jennifer. The Oders live at 2233 N. Champlain St. and Mr. Oder is with the Arthur Anderson Company of Chicago.

May 7 was the birthday of Mary Miller, 2-year-old daughter of Fran and Janice Miller. Mary's guests for birthday cake were her grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Miller, and uncle, Bob Miller, as well as her brother, Tommy. The Millers also entertained company on Mother's Day in their home at 2321 N. Lafayette St. Members of Mrs. Miller's family enjoying Sunday dinner were her sister and family, the Wayne Deckerts. Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Michaels and her sisters and brothers, Mary Beth, Sheila, John and Patrick and Mr. Miller's mother and brother were also included in the group. Mr. Miller is with Digitronics in Chicago and the Millers lived in the Chicago area before moving to Greenbrier. (A

Eastwood Events

Sincerest sympathy from Eastwood friends and neighbors is sent to Enoch Larson, 306 N. Beverly Lane and to Bud and Lou Larson, 400 N. Lincoln Lane, on the death of Mrs. Loraine Larson. Mrs. Larson died in Northwest Community Hospital on May 6.

At first communion services in St. James Catholic Church on May 4, Ronald Hankley was among those who received at the 8 o'clock mass. The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hankley of 724 N. Hickory, Ronald also was honored that day on the occasion of his May 14 birthday. All in all, it turned out to be a busy day for almost 9-year-old Ronald, with communion services in the morning, Little League practice in the afternoon and a party for relatives in the evening.

VIA A TELEPHONE call from Clearwater, Fla. Mrs. Eunice Behm received the welcome news that their former neighbors, Laura and Art Sailor, will soon be visitors in Arlington Heights. The Sailors also reported that other former Lincoln Laners, the Bob Houses, were recent vacationers in Clearwater.

The St. James Women's Guild luncheon at Old Orchard Country Club on Wednesday was well represented by Eastwood residents. Among the ladies enjoying the year-end party were Eileen Anderson, Betty Cockrell, Marcia Kozakiewicz, Eunice Behm, Vera Mell, Pam Schultz, Barbara Hanner, Jean Rogers, Ann Lerch and Olive Hawley. After luncheon, a fashion show "Fantasia from Eurasia" delighted the ladies.

It's happy news to report that Jim Rogers of Lincoln Lane, who recently was hospitalized with a coronary is now recovered and is back at work again.

WELCOME TO THE community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Siegfred who recently moved into the former residence of Mrs. Harriet Woldhausen on Lincoln Lane. The Siegfreds, who are formerly from Barrington, have two daughters, Angela and April, both students at Windsor School.

Mrs. John O'Hare, mother of Mrs. Jack Anderson, will be a guest of her daughter and family next week. Mrs. O'Hare is coming from Coral Gables, Fla. especially to attend a long-time traditional mother - daughter party that Eileen's sorority, Chi Sigma Beta, is having on May 26. The party that literally has been held "for years and years" will be a dinner this year at Tiffany's Restaurant in Niles.

A real whirlwind Mother's Day weekend at the University of Illinois was thoroughly enjoyed May 4-5 by Mrs. Edgar Neas of Brighton Place. As guest of her daughter, Caroline, at the Delta Theta house, Mrs. Neas was kept busy every minute of her stay. A concert in the new auditorium, a performance of "Bye Bye Birdie," attendance at church and dinners didn't even leave Mrs. Neas time enough to see a performance of the play "Yellow Jacket" of which Caroline was a crew member. Teachers, Board Get Together

A "get-acquainted" meeting was held Monday between members of the Arlington Area Teachers' Association and the District 25 board of education.

Seven association officers appeared at the regular school board meeting to outline goals of the group and to show a film strip explaining National Education Association (NEA) programs.

"We want to get acquainted with you and tell you a little about our group," said Robert Danes, president. "We don't want to make any demands whatsoever. We want to work jointly with you."

DANES introduced fellow officers Norm Soderstrom, Bill Simonson, Tom Martin, Don Wagner, Jim Montgomery and Darrell Elder.

Elder explained the work of the association's welfare committee which is divided into salary, fringe benefit, school calendar and teacher welfare subcommittees.

Following the group's presentation to the board, president Joseph Faner commented, "I personally can envision some good coming out of this organization.

"I could see it getting out of control, but I don't think this will happen in Arlington Heights."

Merchants Ask:

Do Maids Take Sting From Parking Ticket?

Future plans for Davis Street was number one on the agenda when Arlington Heights Village Manager L. A. Hanson faced 45 businessmen Tuesday at the monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, but there were plenty of other subjects, too, with liberal sprinkling of questions and answers.

The businessmen were interested in a new approach to the parking meter enforcement, this time provided by Meter Maid Betty Olson of Wheaton, who gave a report on how she and her cohorts keep shoppers, merchants and store employes (and their cars) in line in the DuPage County seat.

IN WHEATON, as in Arlington Heights, it was learned that meters gain the wrath of some, that many shoppers hate to walk a half block to their cars, but that the men are not nearly as rough on a Meter Maid as they think they would be when their male counterparts hand out the ticket.

The village sign ordinance also came up for discussion, as did other suggestions for service from the village for merchants and citizens.

Hanson elaborated at some length on just when the curbs and parkways could be put back in shape, where disrupted by the new sewer. Pictures of many trees and driveways were taken prior to digging, so that village authorities could restore property just as soon as possible, he said. (A

Swim Pool Passes Go on Sale Monday

Season passes to the Arlington Heights Park District swimming pools will go on sale Monday.

The park district offices at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, and Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner, will be open every day of the week except Sunday from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. for purchase of passes.

Season passes will be limited to residents of the park district. Non-residents wishing to use the pools may do so by paying the daily fee. Persons purchasing season tickets will be required to show proof of residence, such as a drivers license.

SEASON PASS rates will be the same as they have been since 1960. A family pass will be $15, an adult pass $8, a child's pass $6 and a wader pass $3.

Daily admission rates at the pools will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children, and 25 cents for waders.

Residents of the park district also are eligible to purchase family activities passes at $25, which entitle them to a family season swimming pass, two child swimming instruction sessions, one adult swimming session, one synchronized swimming instruction session, one handicraft session, and one tumbling and trampoline session for all members of the family.

RESIDENTS ARE urged to register early for the activities, because enrollment in various classes is limited.

The park district brochure describing the complete summer program will be mailed to all village residents this week. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the park district administration office, CL 3-0620.

Spring Blooms in Morton Arboretum

Paradise for Nature Lover

by TOM EDWARDS

For persons who like to wander along by-ways drinking in the new spring — or for those who want to take in as much of the blooming season as they can in one quick gulp — Northeastern Illinois has a special attraction.

It is the Morton Arboretum near Lisle in DuPage County, and just west of Chicago. It is easily reached via the tollway system, with the Illinois East - West Tollway running right along side the 1,375-acre privately endowed preserve.

In it are concentrated approximately 4,800 woody plants from around the world, plus practically all the varieties of plants native to this region.

This week the wildflowers and many species of crabapples are blooming. The tree collections can be easily viewed from the car, but the wildflowers are a little more elusive.

But there are three "nature trails" for pedestrian sightseers. The varieties of wildflowers encountered along the way are marked with their botanical names as well as their common names. Also, the various kinds of trees and rocks along the way are marked for easy identification.

NAMES of the three trails are indicative of what one can expect to find along them: Forest Nature Trail, Evergreen Trail and Thornhill Trail.

The lilac collection, containing about 500 varieties, is also starting to bloom now, reaching its zenith near mid-May.

Another attraction is the Hedge Garden near the east entrance. It includes 195 examples of formal and informal hedges, and is the only formal planting in the arboretum.

Near the Hedge Garden is a garden of over 300 species and varieties of old hardy shrub roses, and 75 specimens of ground cover plants.

SPECIES, varieties and hybrids of flowering crabapples number about 160, and are in two main group collections.

Groves of most any specie of trees and shrubs are observable in the arboretum from the auto roadways.

They include collections of spruce, pine, quince, plum, cherry, holly, oak, ash, beech, burnum, azalea, larch, linden, elm, euonymus, arborvitae, dogwood, juneberry, persimmon, witch hazel, hemlock, mulberry, poplar, buckthorn, yucca, cork, sumac, magnolia, maple, buckeye, willow, birch, yew, etc.

Besides, such pure groves of various species, there are comparative and exotic groves with examples of several species related by country or habit of growth rather than by family. Some are the Japanese, Chinese, Siberian, Caucasian, Balkan and European collections, and Sargent's Glade.

OTHERS are the Nut Tree, Street Tree, Columnar, and Colored Foliage Collections, plus shrub groupings.

A purpose of the arboretum displays is to demonstrate the adaptability of plants to various soils and light exposures, and how they can be effectively used.

The Arboretum also seeks to demonstrate the ecology and evolution of native flora in unmolested native woods.

For those who want to take the time to think about what they are seeing in the arboretum, its staff has printed up a sheet of questions for visitors to try to answer at designated points along each nature trail. They are apparently designed to tease the intellect.

WALKING through the arboretum is encouraged. To drive through costs 75 cents; to park your car in the free parking lot at the entrance and walk through, there is no charge.

Hours are from 8 a.m. until sunset, except for the buildings, which are open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. six days a week, and 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

The arboretum was founded in 1921 by Joy Morton, son of J. Sterling Morton, who was the founder of Arbor Day. It is a "privately endowed, unaffiliated educational foundation administered by a self - perpetuating board of trustees," an information pamphlet tells.

JOY MORTON wrote that his attempt was to create "a great outdoor museum arranged for convenient study of every species, variety, and hybrid of the woody plants of the world able to support the climate of Illinois . . .in order to increase the general knowledge and love of trees and shrubs . . ." During the first spring of the arboretum, Joy Morton had 138,000 trees and shrubs set out in addition to the native woods already in existence.

The history of every plant set out in the arboretum is kept in a card catalogue in the arboretum center's library, it is noted in the pamphlet. The labels on the trees have a number which refers to the card file.

J. STERLING Morton was raised in the east and settled in Nebraska City, Neb., where he missed the trees of the east, the grandson and present chairman of the arboretum board, writes.

In 1872, as State Commissioner of Agriculture, he persuaded the Nebraska legislature to set aside a day for tree planting. "Other holidays repose upon the past, Arbor Day proposes for the the future," he said.

Joy Morton, the eldest son of J. Sterling Morton, came to Chicago and became wealthy in business. And he continued his father's interest in trees.

"When the first Mortons came to New England in 1622, their primary task was to clear the forests. Now, over 300 years later, the descendants . . . strive to preserve trees . . . " and to focus attention on their beauty.

Paddock Editorial Entered in Record

A Paddock Publications editorial has been entered into the record of the United States House of Representatives.

Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, addressing the House recently, read in full the March 14 editorial which questioned President Kennedy's tax reform proposals which directly affect suburban homeowners.

THE EDITORIAL, written by Dick Hoffmann, editor of the editorial page, deplored the suggested tax revision which would allow homeowners to claim deductions for interest on mortgages only to the extent that interest exceeded 5 per cent of the homeowner's taxable income.

The homeowner now claims all of his interest charges as deductions.

Rumsfeld used the editorial to support his claim that his constituents were against the proposed five per cent floor on itemized deductions. (A14

Percy May Be GOP's Candidate

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — A Chicago business executive studied Tuesday whether to throw his hat into the ring as a Republican candidate for Governor in 1964.

Charles Percy, chairman of the board of Bell and Howell, revealed Monday night he was testing the potential of his candidacy in a series of downstate visits.

However, Percy said he did not know when he would make a definite decision whether to run or not.

ASKED IF he felt his presence in a primary race, perhaps against Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, could be a factor that would split the GOP in 1964, he said:

"If we have the good sense to unite after a strenuous primary it could make us a stronger party."

Percy said he had considered running for U. S. Senate in 1962 but decided that incumbent Everett Dirksen's strength was too great.

He said the gubernatorial situation was "quite different in that we do not have an incumbent governor."

CARPENTIER, when told of Percy's possible candidacy replied:

"The Republican primary is open to everyone who wants to get in." He agreed with Percy that a primary fight between the two would not split the party. (A14

See Public Housing as Help to Ex-Migrants

Simon Aide Is Probing Proposal

Cook County Board President Seymour Simon has assigned an aide to investigate the possibility of establishing some kind of public housing in the northwest suburbs to relieve the squalid living conditions of ex-migrant Mexican-Americans.

Simon acted after receiving recommendations from the Rev. Robert A. Reicher of the Catholic Council on Working Life. Simon had requested the proposals after three county officials, Fr. Reicher and a reporter and photographer from Paddock Publications toured rural slums occupied by this minority group last December.

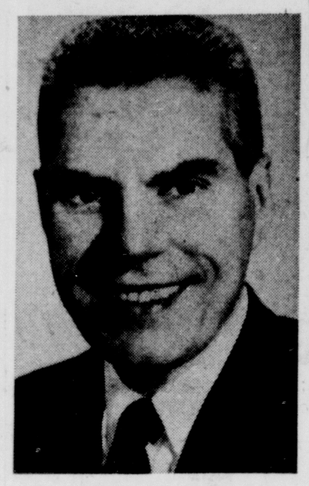
The inspection tour resulted from Paddock Publications' revelations of substandard slum housing in its four-part series, "Harvest's End," also published in December.

A SIMON AIDE, James Walsh, said this week that he was considering different aspects of public housing in a fact-finding probe. Two northwest area townships have indicated a desire to have such a project, he said.

Fr. Reicher, who called his recommendations "guidelines," wrote: "It seems to me that the most immediate need for relieving the poor conditions of so many people is some kind of decent housing. We have made efforts before to secure public housing but the financial feasibility of a program under FHA (Federal Housing Administration) was never satisfactorily proven."

He aded: "However, I do believe that the Cook County Housing Authority might be encouraged to provide some kind of low income housing for approximately 750 Spanish-speaking families in the northwest area.

FR. ROBERT REICHER



SEYMOUR SIMON

Obviously, this type of housing cannot be restricted to Spanish-speaking people, but public housing for low income groups would be a valuable addition to the area."

Fr. Reicher noted that there were approximately 5,000 ex-migrant Mexican-Americans in northwest and south Cook County existing in inadequate, run-down housing. Of this amount, about 2,000 live in the northern portion of the county.

FR. REICHER noted that "the development of our Spanish-speaking citizens, almost all of whom are American citizens born in Texas, is not a problem for the county alone. I believe the county administration has an important part to play, but local groups must assist the county. It seems to me that we need an over-all plan in which the Anglo community, the more stable Latin-American community, and our ex-migrants all have an obvious share in allowing our Spanish-speaking ex-migrants to attain a rightful place in the community."

The priest's recommendations also touched on these areas:

— Services available from bilingual people. "It seems to me that at least for a time bilingual health department, employment service, legal assistants, etc., might be provided in the area. The county seems to have a role to play here."

— Employment counselling and training. "This, as I see it, is not a county responsibility but a necessary part of assisting the Spanish-speaking people in the area."

— Community organization. "It would seem to me that the county could hire a trained bilingual community organizer to assist in the formation of a community among the people who could be related to the larger Anglo community. Most of the Spanish-speaking people are not registered to vote, not enrolled in any kind of adult education program, not able to understand their responsibility in the community in which they live."

— Citizenship education. "Some kind of program for living in a metropolitan area could be undertaken to instruct people in the way of relating to modern urban life."

Fr. Reicher said there were other community organizations whose resources could be drawn upon. He mentioned such groups as the League of United Latin-American Citizens (LULAC), the Opportunity Council, the Cardinal's Committee for Spanish-Sepaking people, and the American Association of University Women. Pharmacists Help On Polio Sundays

The Northwest Suburban Pharmaceutical Council reports its members participated and promoted the first Oral Polio Sunday (Sabin oral vaccination program) May 5.

Each pharmacist working in the massive drive was responsible for immunizing dosages dispensed to approximately 2,100 men, women and children, according to Henry C. Kot, president of the council.

An estimated total of 90,000 persons were processed, the largest number being served at 16 neighborhood stations on May 5. A "make-up" clinic on May 12 processed another 7,000 people.

The council, through its Oral Polio Sunday coordinators Kenneth Harris of Arlington Heights and Jack Keefer of Mount Prospect, was responsible for the placement of registered pharmacists at the 16 stations.

The 42 pharmacists were charged with the duties of procuring the frozen vaccine from Northwest Community Hospital and then thawing it according to a carefully planned time schedule.

THE MOST critical phase of the entire procedure, Kot stated, was making sure that a time limit of 15 minutes was not exceeded after two drops of the vaccine had been placed on a sugar cube and then taken orally. Exceeding this time period, he said, might have nullified the vaccine's immunizing potency.

Harris and Keefer will again supervise the cooperation of the council's pharmacists in the remaining two "Oral Polio Sundays," one of which is scheduled for June 16.

"Serving on the local health team will always be a paramount responsibility of our pharmacists just as it is for physicians, dentists and nurses," Ken Harris said. "Each group is vitally interested in the public welfare."

Harris also paid tribute to the local Jaycees who helped organize the polio program. (B9

Houser on GOP Discipline Body

Thomas J. Houser, Republican Committeeman of Wheeling Township, has been named to the newly created Discipline Committee of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

The committee was established to deal with members "whose actions may not represent the best interests of the Republican Party."

Cook County Central Committee Chairman Hayes Robertson appointed three suburban representatives and four city committeemen to serve on the 7-man committee.

Chairman of the committee is Timothy J. Sheehan, 41st Ward Committeeman and former U.S. Congressman. Members include Hayes Robertson, Houser and Jesse Lehman of Schaumburg Township representing suburban Cook County, and Sheehan and three ward committeeman representing the city.

THE CREATION of the committee came on a motion by Lehman at a recent county meeting held as an outgrowth of the continuing dispute between Cook County Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie and State Treasurer William Scott representing the Republican "new look" on the one hand, and the West Side Bloc on the other.

The dispute gained state-wide attention last week when the county committee met to give a vote of confidence to Ogilvie and Scott for their performances during their first five months in public office.

At the same meeting, chairman Robertson was given a unanimous vote of confidence for his performance. (B8

Church Goers Told Of Hospital's Need

Church goers in northwest Chicago and the northwestern suburbs Sunday learned about the charitable program being carried on at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. A special insert in the Sunday bulletin was distributed in 51 area churches.

The inserts were distributed in connection with Lutheran General's first Hospital Sunday which will be observed May 19. Close to 30,000 pieces of literature were distributed.

"We are tremendously pleased with the response," said T. L. Jacobsen, executive director of the hospital. "We received excellent cooperation from the churches."

JACOBSEN pointed out that Lutheran General serves people of all faiths. Many different denominations joined in sponsoring Hospital Sunday for Lutheran General, he said.

The bulletin inserts explained the charitable work being carried on at Lutheran General. An appeal for funds to aid the charitable work was included in the insert.

"Each year Lutheran General needs funds to help those who aren't able to pay the entire cost of their hospital care. These funds must come from sources other than regular hospital income," Jacobsen said.

LUTHERAN General has received funds from the Hospital Service League's benefits, from memorial gifts and from special gifts designated for this area of hospital work.

Many churches throughout the area have sent out a special mailing on behalf of the hospital. Other churches will take up a special offering for the hospital's charitable program.

Suburbanite Emergency Protection Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- Each member of the family spends the greater part of every 24-hour period at home and far more accidents occur here than anywhere else. Falls on stairs, floors, rugs, in the bathroom, from chairs and ladders, cause injuries to many people. Cuts and burns through the simplest of household chores are very common. Power lawn mowers seem to be an extreme hazard.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

While you're comfortably settled down on the first coffee break of the day, it might interest you to know that the earliest cup of coffee was brewed by a gent named Hadji Omar of Mocha. According to legend, Omar was driven into the desert with only a small amount of water and left to die. Hungry, he bit into berries of an unrecognized bush nearby. The berries were bitter, so Omar started a small fire and roasted them. This did little for the berries as they were too hard to eat, so he tried soaking them in water. This didn't soften the berries, but the water turned brown and this, according to legend, was the first cup of coffee.

(D) Said bonds, together with interest thereon, shall be payable solely from the revenues derived from the combined waterworks and sewerage system of said Village in the manner hereinafter described, and such bonds shall not in any event constitute an indebtedness of said Village within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitation and shall be coequal as to the pledge of said revenues securing the payment thereof and share ratably and equally without any preference, priority or distinction of one over another as to the source or method of payment and security of said bonds.

(B) The governing body of said Village is hereinafter designated the "President and Board of Trustees".

(C) The word "system" shall include all of the properties and facilities of the combined waterworks and sewerage system of said Village presently existing and now being acquired whether lying within or without the boundaries of said Village, as now existing or under construction and as they may hereafter be improved or extended while any of the bonds herein authorized or additional bonds herein permitted to be issued on a parity therewith remain outstanding; including all improvements, additions and extensions thereto or replacements thereof hereafter constructed or acquired by purchase, contract or otherwise; and all contracts, rights, agreements, leases and franchises of every nature owned by said Village and used or useful or held for use in the operation of the system or any part or portion thereof.

(D) The word "revenues" shall mean gross revenues and shall include all receipts received directly or indirectly from the initial and continued use and operation of the system.

(E) The term "net revenues" shall mean that portion of the revenues received from the continued use and operation of the system remaining after providing sufficient funds for the reasonable and necessary cost of maintenance and operation of the system as defined in Section 7(F) hereof, and prior to any provisions for depreciation or payment of principal or interest.

(F) The phrase "cost of maintenance and operation" shall mean all costs reasonably incurred in connection with continued operation, use and maintenance of the system, other than capital improvements, necessary to keep the system in efficient and economical operating condition, including the payment of premiums for insurance hereinafter required to be carried on the system and generally all expenses (exclusive of depreciation) which under good accounting practice are properly chargeable to and are reasonable and necessary to the efficient maintenance and operation of the system, and shall not include any transfer in lieu of taxes or general supervision or administration charges by the Village.

(J) The words "connection charge" shall mean any fee paid for connecting users of the combined waterworks and sewerage system to said system.

Section 8. That the net revenues are hereby pledged to the payment of the principal of and the interest on the bonds and the parity bonds, and the bonds and the parity bonds shall be secured by a prior and paramount pledge of the net revenues. All of the bonds and parity bonds shall be equally and ratably secured by said pledge without priority of one over the other by reason of date of sale or delivery or Series designation or purpose or otherwise.

Section 9. So long as any of the bonds or parity bonds remain outstanding, all of the revenues shall from day to day as collected be deposited in a bank account separate and apart from all other Village bank accounts, and shall thereafter be accounted for in a separate accounting fund, which shall be known as the "Waterworks and Sewerage Fund of the Village of Mount Prospect", (sometimes hereinafter referred to as the "Revenue Fund"). All monies and investments therein shall be used solely for maintaining the following accounts, which are hereby created within said separate accounting fund and to which there shall be credited as of the first business day of each month, except as otherwise hereinafter provided, all such revenues so deposited in said Revenue Fund, in accordance with the following priority:

(a) There shall be credited to the Operation and Maintenance Account as of the first business day of each month an amount sufficient to pay the reasonable and necessary cost of maintenance and operation of said system under economical management for the next succeeding month, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, salaries, wages, costs of materials, supplies, insurance and power, and including one-twelfth of all such expenses paid on an annualized basis.

(b) Beginning May 1, 1963, there shall be credited each month to the Bond and Interest Account an amount equal to not less than one-fifth of the interest becoming due on all bonds and parity bonds on the next succeeding interest payment date; and an amount equal to not less than one-tenth of the principal becoming due on the next succeeding May 1 of all bonds and parity bonds, until there shall have been accumulated in said Account on or before thirty days preceding each such current maturity date of principal or interest, or both, an amount sufficient to pay such principal or interest, or both, of all bonds and parity bonds maturing by their terms on such current maturity date.

From and after the issuance of any of the bonds hereby authorized, and upon receipt of the purchase price therefore, there shall be credited to the Bond and Interest Account all accrued interest derived from the sale of said bonds.

All moneys in said Account shall be used only for the purpose of paying interest on and principal of the bonds and parity bonds of said Village. Funds sufficient to pay interest or principal, or both, of said bonds, together with fiscal agency fees, shall be transmitted to the paying agent not less than fifteen days prior to each current maturity date of either principal or interest, or both, provided that all fiscal agency fees shall be paid from the Operation and Maintenance Account.

(c) Beginning May 1, 1963, there shall be credited to the Bond Reserve Account in equal monthly installments the annual sum of $12,000 in each fiscal year, while any of the bonds or parity bonds are outstanding. The moneys in said Account shall be used only to pay principal of or interest on the bonds and parity bonds of said Village when there are insufficient funds available at any time to pay such principal or interest from any other source; provided, however, whenever the balance in said Account equals the maximum principal and interest requirements on all bonds and parity bonds for any fiscal year, any surplus over and above said maximum amount shall be used for the retirement of the bonds and parity bonds that are subject to redemption prior to maturity; provided, if none of said bonds are subject to redemption prior to maturity or will not become subject to redemption prior to maturity within the next sixty (60) days, then the Village Treasurer shall request tenders for the purchase of said bonds, if available, in the open market. The President and Board of Trustees may direct the acceptance of bonds which, in its opinion, are at the lowest tendered price to the advantage of the Village but shall reserve the right to reject any and all tenders. No tender or purchase at more than the par value and unpaid accrued interest on any of said bonds shall be considered. All such bonds purchased or redeemed shall be cancelled.

(d) Beginning May 1, 1963, there shall be credited to the Depreciation, Improvement and Extension Account in equal monthly installments the annual sum of $12,000 for the fiscal years ending April 30, 1964 through April 30, 1968, and the annual sum of $18,000 for the fiscal years ending April 30, 1969 through April 30, 1973, and the annual sum of $24,000 in each fiscal year thereafter. The moneys in said account shall be used first to provide an adequate allowance for depreciation as shall be determined from time to time by the President and Board of Trustees, which allowance shall be used from time to time to pay for any extraordinary maintenance, repairs and necessary replacements, or for improvement or extension of the system. Said funds shall be used at any time to pay principal of or interest upon any revenue bonds outstanding whenever there are no other funds available to pay the same; provided, however, that from and after such time as said account aggregates the sum of $100,000, any sums in excess thereof may be transferred to the Bond Reserve Account or to the Surplus Revenue Account at the discretion of the President and Board of Trustees.

(e) In the event that in any month, there are insufficient moneys in the Revenue Fund to make the required monthly credits to any of the foregoing accounts (a), (b), (c) or (d), then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the requirements for the succeeding month and made up in the priority in which said funds are herein listed.

(f) All revenues deposited in the Waterworks and Sewerage Fund bank account after crediting the required amounts to the respective accounts herein provided for, shall, at the end of each fiscal year, be credited to the Surplus Revenue Account and the amount so credited shall be held and used for the purposes and in the priority hereinafter mentioned, to wit:

(1) For making up any deficiency necessary to credit accounts (a) to (d), inclusive, with the required amounts therefor for each fiscal year as hereinabove provided.

(2) If, after complying with the requirements of subparagraph (1) hereof, there remains a balance in the Surplus Revenue Account, it may be transferred out of said account at the discretion of the President and Board of Trustees and used for any lawful purpose, including an annual transfer for general administration of the combined system equal to 10% of the annual gross revenues, or such other percentage as may be established from time to time by the President and Board of Trustees.

(g) Moneys remaining in any of the Accounts hereinabove created, may by resolution of the President and Board of Trustees be invested from time to time but only in direct obligations of the United States Government, maturing not later than the earliest date on which it is estimated the moneys in said Accounts will be needed, but in no event later than two years from the date of such investment. Such securities shall be sold from time to time without further authority of the President and Board of Trustees as moneys may be needed for the purpose for which said Accounts have been created. All accrued interest on any moneys so invested, or any gain or loss on any such investment, shall be credited to the Account for which the investment was made. All uninvested money on hand shall be deposited in banks selected as depositaries by the President and Board of Trustees from time to time so as to be available when needed. Such bank accounts shall be separate from all other Village Accounts provided that all money in the Waterworks and Sewerage Fund may be deposited in a single bank account, except money in Accounts (b) and (c) thereof, which shall be deposited in one or more separate bank accounts.

Section 10. It is hereby covenanted and agreed that while any of the bonds issued hereunder are outstanding, the Village will not issue any other bonds or obligations of any kind or nature having a pledge on the revenues of the system which is prior to the lien on such revenues of the bonds herein authorized.

(A) Said Village reserves the right to issue at one time, or from time to time, as shall be found necessary and for the best interest of said Village by the President and Board of Trustees, additional bonds on a parity with the bonds authorized hereunder for the purpose of constructing improvements, replacements and extensions of the system of the Village, or for the acquisition of additional waterworks or sewerage systems or any combination thereof or for the purpose of refunding any of the waterworks and Sewerage Revenue Bonds of the Village, or for any combination of such purposes, but only provided the Village shall have complied with the following requirements:

(a) The amounts required to have been credited to the respective Accounts (a) to (d), inclusive, of Section 9 of this Ordinance up to the date of authorization of said additional bonds shall have been credited to said respective Accounts.

(b) The net revenues of the system for the fiscal year then next preceding or the average adjusted net revenues of the system for the two then next preceding fiscal years, if such revenues are adjusted as herein provided, have been equal to not less than one hundred thirty five per cent (135%) of the maximum combined principal and interest requirements for any succeeding fiscal year during the life of the then outstanding bonds, of (i) all bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues to be derived from the operation of the system and (ii) on the additional revenue bonds then proposed to be issued. Net revenues for the purpose of this subparagraph (b) shall mean the gross revenues of the system less the actual costs of operation and maintenance before making provision for depreciation or other Accounts as required by this Ordinance for such fiscal year or years and shall be evidenced by audit of an independent certified public accountant. Principal and interest requirements shall include principal and interest due May 1 as a requirement of the fiscal year ending April 30 immediately preceding such May 1 maturities.

In the event there shall have been a change in the rates of the system from the rates in effect for either of the two immediately preceding fiscal years, which change is in effect at the time of the issuance of any such additional bonds, then the net revenues as provided in this sub-paragrph (b) shall be adjusted to reflect the net revenues of the system for each of the two immediately preceding fiscal years as they would have been had said then existing rates been in effect during all of each of said years. Any such adjusted net revenues shall be evidenced by the certificate of an independent consulting engineer employed for that purpose, which certificate shall be approved by the President and Board of Trustees prior to issuance of the additional bonds and filed with the Village Clerk upon its approval.

(B) The Village also reserves the right to issue additional bonds on a parity with the bonds authorized hereunder for the purpose of acquiring the sanitary relief sewer system in portions of the Village of Mount Prospect presently owned and operated by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, and for the purpose of refunding any bonds of said District which may be outstanding and having a lien on the revenues thereof. In the event of the issuance of parity bonds for such purpose or purposes, the Village shall employ an independent consulting engineer to examine the reports of operation of such sanitary relief sewer system for each of the two immediately preceding fiscal years, and such engineer shall report as to the amount of revenue and expense which would have been attributable to said system for each of said fiscal years had said system been owned and operated by the Village of Mount Prospect, and should the Village then establish new rates for such sewer service, the actual revenues shall be adjusted for such purposes to reflect the revenues of the system as they would have been had such rates been in effect for all of each of said fiscal years. Said adjusted net revenues shall be added to the net revenues of the existing combined waterworks and sewerage system of the Village of Mount Prospect for the purpose of making the computations required to be made under sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph (A) of this Section, and any such additional bonds to be issued for the purposes outlined in this paragraph (B) shall be thus subject to the restrictions of the aforementioned sub-paragraph (b) of paragraph (A).

(C) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions the Village reserves the further right to issue bonds to refund any of these bonds or bonds on a parity therewith provided they are issued to refund bonds due within three months of the date of refunding and for the payment of which no other funds are or will be available at the maturity thereof.

(D) Any additional bonds issued as parity bonds shall be on an equal basis in all respects with the bonds herein authorized, shall share ratably and equally in the revenues of said system, and shall mature as to principal on May 1, and as to interest on May 1 and November 1.

Section 11. That the Village hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the bonds or any of them remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, that rates charged for the use and services of the system shall be sufficient at all times to pay all costs of operation and maintenance, to provide and maintain the Accounts created and established by this Ordinance, to pay the interest on and principal of all bonds which by their terms are payable from the revenues of said system that are authorized to be issued under the terms of this Ordinance, to pay interest on and principal of all bonds which by their terms are payable from the revenues of said system that are authorized to be issued under the terms of this Ordinance, and including all bonds hereafter issued and on a parity with the bonds herein authorized, and to carry out the covenants of this Ordinance. There shall be charged against all users of said system, including the Village, such rates and amounts for water and sewer services as shall be adequate to meet the requirements of this Ordinance; provided the Village need not charge itself for water and sewer services so long as the revenues of the system are otherwise adequate to meet all the requirements of this Ordinance. To the extent permitted by law said Village further covenants not to grant any competing franchise for the operation of a waterworks system or a sanitary sewerage system or any combination thereof in said Village.

Section 12. That the Village hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the bonds or any of them remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, that any holder of a bond or bonds issued hereunder, or of any of the coupons representing interest accrued thereon may, either in law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus or other proceedings, enforce or compel performance by the officials of said Village of all duties required by law and by this Ordinance, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water and sewer services and segregating the revenues of said system and the application thereof to the respective Accounts created by this Ordinance and in the time and manner as herein provided.

Section 13. That the Village hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the bonds or any of them remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, to carry insurance on the system of the kinds and in the amounts which are usually carried by operators of similar properties including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, fire, windstorm, public liability, and all moneys received for losses under such insurance policies shall be deposited in the Revenue Fund and thereafter credited to the Depreciation, Improvement and Extension Account and be used in making good the loss or damage in respect of which they were paid either by repairing the property damaged or replacing the property destroyed, and provision for making good such loss or damage shall be made within ninety days from date of the loss. The payment of premiums for all insurance policies required under the provisions of this Section shall be considered a maintenance and operation expense.

Any proceeds received by the Village from policies covering public liability shall be paid into the Revenue Fund and thereafter credited to the Operation and Maintenance Account and be used in paying the claims on account of which they were received.

Section 14. That the Village hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the bonds or any of them remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, that proper books and records and accounts will be kept and maintained by said Village separate and apart from all other records and accounts of said Village, showing correct and complete entries of all transactions relating to the system, and that the holders of any of said bonds or any duly authorized agent or agents of such holders shall have the right at any and all reasonable times to inspect the records, accounts and audit report relating thereto, and to inspect the system and all property comprising the system. Said Village further covenants and agrees that it will within not more than ninety days following the close of each fiscal year cause an audit of such books and accounts to be made by an independent public accountant, and that such audit report will be available for inspection by the holders of any of the bonds. Each such audit report in addition to whatever matters may be thought proper by the accountant to be included therein, shall without limiting the generality of the foregoing, include the following:

(a) A statement in detail of the revenues and costs of operation and maintenance of the system for such fiscal year, and including credits to the various accounts provided hereunder.

(b) The accountant's comment regarding the compliance by the Village with the accounting requirements of this Ordinance, and the accountant's recommendations for any changes or improvements, of the manner in which such records are kept.

(c) A list of all the insurance policies in force at the end of the fiscal year, setting out as to each policy the amount of the policy, the risks covered, the name of the insurer and the expiration date of the policy.

(d) The number of sewer customers served by the system at the end of the year, the number of metered water customers and the number of unmetered water customers at the end of the year and the quantity of water pumped.

All expense incurred in the making of the audit required by this Section shall be regarded and paid as a maintenance and operation expense, and it is further covenanted and agreed that a summary of such audit report shall be furnished to the holder of any of the bonds at his request. Statements of revenues and expenses of the system shall be furnished by the person in charge thereof to the President and Board of Trustees at least quarterly and copies of the same shall be mailed to the original purchaser of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance and shall be furnished to any bondholder upon request. A copy of each such annual audit report shall be mailed promptly upon completion to the original purchaser of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance, and such original purchaser of said bonds herein authorized shall have the right to discuss with the accountant making the audit the contents of the audit report and to ask for any reasonable explanation of the contents thereof.

Section 15. That the Village hereby covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds and coupons hereby authorized that so long as the bonds or any of them remain outstanding and unpaid, either as to principal or interest, that it will punctually perform all duties with reference to said system required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water and sewerage service, segregating the revenues of said system and the application thereof to the respective Accounts created by this Ordinance, and it hereby covenants and agrees not to sell, lease, loan, mortgage, encumber or in any manner dispose of said system, including any and all extensions and improvements that may be made thereto, except as in this Ordinance recited (provided, however, that the covenant in this Section shall not prevent the said Village from disposing of any property which in the judgment of the President and Board of Trustees is no longer useful or profitable in the operation of said system, nor essential to the continued operation of said system without a reduction in the revenues to be derived therefrom and the proceeds from the sale of any such property is credited to the Depreciation Improvement and Replacement Account hereinabove established in Section 9 of this Ordinance), and that the Village shall take no action in relation to said system which would unfavorably affect the security of the bonds herein authorized or the prompt payment of the principal of and interest thereon, until all of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall have been paid in full, both principal and interest, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all such bonds and interest thereon in full; and the Village further covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds to maintain in good condition and continuously operate said system.

Section 16. That the provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a contract between the Village and the holders of the bonds herein authorized to be issued, and after the issuance of said bonds, no changes, additions or alterations of any kind shall be made therein, except as hereinbefore provided, until such time as all of said bonds issued hereunder and the interest thereon shall be paid in full or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all such bonds and interest thereon in full.

Section 17. (A) That the President and Board of Trustees shall by resolution provide for the delivery of a portion of the Series 1963 Bonds by exchange on a basis of par for par with the holders of any of the outstanding Water Revenue Bonds of the Village who may have consented to such an exchange, and shall by said resolution designate the face numbers of the Series 1963 Bonds which shall be exchanged for respectively designated outstanding Water Revenue Bonds and shall specify the rate or rates of interest which such portion of the Series 1963 Bonds so exchanged shall bear.

(B) That as soon after this Ordinance becomes effective as may be, the balance of the Series 1963 Bonds not designated for exchange as above provided shall be sold by the President and Board of Trustees of said Village in such manner as it may hereafter determine and an award of the sale of said bonds shall be made to the acceptable bidder upon the basis of the lowest interest cost to the Village; provided, however, that of the bonds sold, the earliest maturing bonds, up to an amount which, together with the face amount of bonds to be exchanged will equal $500,000 total face amount, shall be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, and further provided, that the price for the remaining bonds of the total authorized issue shall be such that the interest cost to the Village for the money received by the Village from the sale of such remaining bonds shall not exceed Five Per Cent (5%) annually computed to maturity according to standard tables of bond values. If the acceptable bidder offers to purchase any of said bonds bearing interest at a lower rate or rates than herein provided, then the President and Board of Trustees shall adopt a Resolution fixing the interest rate or rates on such bonds in accordance with the terms of the acceptable offer to purchase the same and directing the officers of the Village to execute and deliver said bonds to such purchaser bearing interest at such lesser rate or rates so specified by the acceptable bidder, and at the price designated in said acceptable bid, and also by Resolution shall designate the bank to act as the paying agent for all of said Series 1963 bonds.

Section 18. That the proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds, exclusive of accrued interest and exclusive of the face amount of said earliest maturing bonds sold for refunding purposes, shall be by the Treasurer segregated into the "Acquisition and Construction Fund Account of the Village of Mount Prospect", which is hereby created, which proceeds shall be kept separate and apart from all other moneys of the Village and deposited in one or more qualified banks or trust companies in the State of Illinois, which shall be designated from time to time by the President and Board of Trustees as depositaries for moneys of said Acquisition and Construction Fund Account. Said moneys shall be held and used solely to acquire the waterworks and sewerage systems herein provided for and the improvements to the combined waterworks and sewerage system of said Village, as provided by this Ordinance, and shall be held for the benefit of the Village for the purposes herein provided and for the benefit of the holder or holders of the bonds hereby authorized as their interest may appear. The cost of legal, engineering and financial services and all costs incidental to acquisition of the systems and issuance of the bonds shall be deemed costs of acquisition and construction. Said moneys shall be withdrawn from said depositary from time to time by the Treasurer of the Village only upon submission to him of the following:

(A) A duplicate copy of the order signed by the President and Village Clerk, or such other officers that may from time to time by law be authorized to sign or countersign orders on the Treasurer of the Village, stating specifically the purpose for which the order is issued; and indicating that the payment for which the order is issued has been approved by the President and Board of Trustees of said Village;

(B) In the case of the acquisition of the system owned by the Cook County Water Corporation, a duplicate copy of the order signed by the President and Village Clerk stating the purpose of the order and indicating that the payment has been authorized by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village;

(C) Each order drawn for payment to a contractor or contractors for work done in connection with the construction of any improvements and extensions shall be accompanied by a certificate executed by the engineers in charge of the construction thereof, stating the nature of the work completed and the amount due and payable thereon.

Within sixty days after the acquisition of the improvements herein provided for, any surplus remaining in said Acquisition and Construction Fund Account shall be transferred to the Depreciation, Improvement and Extension Account.

From the proceeds derived from the sale of the bonds, the sum received as accrued interest on said bonds shall be credited to the Bond and Interest Account.

The proceeds of those bonds sold and delivered for refunding purposes shall be held separate and apart from all other proceeds of the remaining bonds and applied to pay at face value plus accrued interest to date of payment any of the Water Revenue Bonds of the Village, the accrued interest to be paid from other water funds of the Village.

The moneys credited to the Acquisition and Construction Fund Account may be invested from time to time in direct obligations of the United States of America having a maturity not later than the date or dates when such funds will be needed, such date or dates to be determined from time to time by the President and Board of Trustees, and any such investments shall be promptly sold without further authority of the President and Board of Trustees whenever necessary to provide money to carry out the purposes for which such account was created.

Section 19. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 20. All ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 21. This Ordinance after its passage by President and Board of Trustees shall be published once in the Mount Prospect Herald, a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in the Village of Mount Prospect, and shall be effective in the manner, form and time as provided by law.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS
SPECIAL ASSESSMENT
No. 147

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights have heretofore passed an ordinance for the construction of a local improvement to be paid for by special assessment, which improvement consists of the construction of a sanitary sewer district.

Pursuant to said Ordinance, a petition for the levy of a special assessment to pay the cost of said improvement has heretofore been filed in the County Court of Cook County, Docket Arlington Heights 147 of said court, and an assessment therefor has been duly confirmed by the court and a contract for the construction of the same has been duly let and the work completed as required by law.

A certificate has been filed by the Board of Local Improvements, showing the completion of the work in substantial compliance with the ordinance for the construction of the same, the cost of the improvement, together with the amount estimated to be required to pay accruing interest on bonds and vouchers issued to anticipate the collection of the assessment, and an application has been made to said County Court to consider and determine whether or not the facts stated in the Certificate of Cost and Completion of Improvement are true.

A hearing will be held by the County Court of Cook County on the 4th day of June, 1963 at 10:00 o'clock A.M., or as soon thereafter as the Court's business will permit, and the Court will hear and determine any objections that may be filed before that time and enter an order according to the facts.

INEXPENSIVE WANT ADS HAVE A WAY OF WORKING FOR EVERY ONE

Keep Door Open for Relief Settlement

Debate Second Cup of Coffee

From UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Illinois Legislature this week failed once again to end the deadlock that has stopped relief checks for thousands of public aid recipients.

But the issue now apparently hinges on such questions as the elimination of "a second cup of coffee."

Republicans, after a lengthy meeting, gave Democrats a slightly more liberal formula as a proposal for ending the eight-week dispute. Democrats, after conferring with Gov. Otto Kerner, made a counter-proposal of their own.

Both sides moved to keep alive the possibility of a solution this week. Senate Republicans were scheduled to caucus Wednesday morning to consider the Democratic plan.

THE GOP proposal would approve an emergency appropriation for May and June relief payments without legal limits. This appropriation would be passed at the same time as a bill including limits on aid payments for the two-year fiscal period starting June 1.

Under the Republican measure, the scale of limits would range up to $200 a month for a mother with 10 children. There also would be a $75 monthly rent allowance, which could be raised to $90 or higher in special cases.

The ceilings would be supervised by a special bi-partisan commission of six representatives and six senators.

DEMOCRATS countered with a plan that also would pass the emergency appropriation this week. The same legislative commission would be named immediately to study and recommend the limits for the coming biennium.

The Democratic proposal hinted at a plan of payments that would set limits according to the ages of the recipient, instead of according to the number of persons in a family.

House Democratic Whip John Touhy, Chicago, explained, "It's a question of how the cuts can be made intelligently. For instance, we spend about $2.1 million per biennium for coffee. That's two cups per adult per day.

"We could save more than $1 million if we cut out that second cup of coffee. Do we want to do that?"

THE HOUSE left the door open for a possible late-in-the-week solution by refusing to pass a joint resolution calling for the legislature to adjourn for the weekend on Thursday.

Meanwhile some 30 neighborhood distribution points in Chicago distributed food because the monthly payments were still delayed.

Hundreds of men, women and children began lining up at 8 a.m. Tuesday outside Lincoln Center about one mile east of Comiskey Park in a once-fashionable area. Some of them were still waiting by mid-afternoon.

After receiving a box or bag of canned and packaged food, the recipient presented a white, punched authorization card from the state to a county welfare agent. He checked off the name. The needy person then either lugged out the package or, in many cases, was assisted by a worker.

EARLIER THIS week the IPAC agreed to back legislation calling for ceilings on welfare payments for the next two years.

Holding its regular monthly meeting in Springfield, members agreed to a resolution by State Treasurer William J. Scott that the biennial appropriations should contain "reasonable ceilings" and direct payments of rent to landlords.

Gov. Otto Kerner, after an eariler meeting with four elected state officers, issued a statement that Democratic legislators had accepted a Republican plan for limiting individual welfare payments but not until after the start of the fiscal year.

SENATE Republican Whip George Drach has agreed that it appeared "impractical" to put ceilings on public aid payments for May and June and said he would recommend that the legislature immediately appropriate relief funds for the two months.

An Illinois legislative committee Tuesday recommended passage of a bill which would ban the IPAC from paying for birth control information or contraceptives to any relief recipients except married women living with their husbands.

The vote on the controversial measure was 21-13.

One witness, Dr. Phillip Hauser of the department of sociology, University of Chicago, said passage of the bill would "condemn tens of thousands of families to perpetual deprivation."

"IT WOULD be immoral and inhumane to withhold birth control methods and devices and prevent the rise of these people from their roles as welfare cases."

He said a major reason for dependency is lack of education.

Some 89 per cent of the women on aid to dependent children rolls did not want their babies and 50 per cent of them had no information on how to prevent conception, Hauser said.

Many of the representatives voting for the bill qualified their vote by saying they would not necessarily support the measure on the House floor.

One committee member said he wanted the fate of the bill to be the responsibility of all 177 legislators. (A-14

Paving Starts on Route 53 Frontage Road

Hope to Finish Job by June 10

Paving of the east frontage road along the new Illinois 53 expressway will commence today, Thursday, reports Roger Nusbaum, deputy chief state highway engineer.

The target is to have the new frontage road open by June 10, in good time for the opening of Arlington Park Race Track June 17.

Northbound traffic will be channeled on the two lanes of the east frontage road, while southbound traffic will use the existing Route 53 pavement plus a new frontage road section in the vicinity of Kirchoff Road which will be open by June 15 for summer use.

"In the interim we will be building the expressway itself," Nusbaum said. "As soon as one lane is built, we will probably shift southbound traffic to the expressway."

THE ENTIRE section of the new facility from the Tollway to Kirchoff Road is scheduled for completion by December 1.

Bids will be opened for the Industrial Avenue bridge, included in the next phase of the improvement, in Springfield May 24.

The big Euclid Avenue cloverleaf interchange is scheduled for a July 12 letting in Springfield; and September 27 is the tentative date for the major crossing over the railroad and Northwest Hwy. and the grading and paving from Kirchoff Road to Northwest Hwy.

"These are target dates—we hope we can meet them," Nusbaum cautioned.

ROLLING MEADOWS residents have complained to local police of the dust nuisance affecting particularly homes along Bobwhite. The dust will be abated as the paving progresses.

Others living along Kirchoff Road were surprised last week when the paving contractor started to remove parkway trees for a distance of nearly two blocks east of the overpass.

Plans call for widening Kirchoff nine feet on each side, to channel traffic on and off the ramps to the expressway.

THE INDUSTRIAL Avenue bridge calls for moving some city water and sewer lines.

Highway officials are meeting this week to consider the testimony given April 25 on the Lake County section of the expressway, where the state offered four alternate possible routes. "There's no recommendation yet," Nusbaum laughed. The District 10 recommendation will be forwarded to Springfield for final approval before an announcement is made, he said.

A TEMPORARY concrete mix plant has been set up near Algonquin Road at the south end of Rolling Meadows to speed paving of Illinois 53. The dry batch will be mixed in the big hopper, and water added in the vast machine that mixes and pours the slab in place. Paving of the east frontage road is scheduled to commence today, Thursday, with completion set in time to accommodate race track traffic. (B8 (Staff photo

Federal Defense Funds to Help Equip Wheeling High

Like a knight on a charger, Arlington High's Charles J. Miller sped to Springfield Tuesday, May 14, to beat the state's Title III NDEA May 15 deadline.

Tucked away in his pocket was an application for approval of $63,534.59 in science department equipment, materials, books and laboratory remodeling. High School District 214 is seeking approximately 40 to 45 per cent in National Defense Education Act (NDEA) funds available for science, mathematics and foreign language programs (Title III).

In sharp contrast, Palatine High School District 211 Board of Education last week for the second time turned down any application for federal funds. The school board had been asked to consider application for about $4,000 in Title V NDEA funds for school guidance and counseling programs. The Palatine board had previously voted against applying for Title III grants for this year.

WHEELING HIGH School, now under construtcion, is slated to receive the lion's share of the District 214 NEA funds. A total cost of $51,151 is listed for furnishings, equipment, materials and books for the science laboratories in the new school. This includes special equipment for chemistry, physics, biology and physical science laboratories.

The balance of $12,383.59 will be used to remodel and equip an area in the 1927 addition of Arlington High School for a physical science laboratory. Of this amount $3,409.50 is to be used for equipment and $8,974 is to be used for remodeling. The additional physical science laboratory is needed to take care of the added enrollments at Arlington next year and because the school requirement that every student take two years of science is placing a heavier burden on the science facilities.

The Arlington remodeling program is half of a total remodeling plan for the science area. A similar amount is tentatively slated for the 1964-65 school year.

Insurance Company Buys Sewer Bonds

Recent purchase of $15,000 in Arlington Heights general obligation sewer bonds has been made by Northwestern Mutual Insurance Company of Seattle. Official announcement of the purchase was made this week by Harold G. Holmes, manager of the company's midwestern department in Chicago.

The bond issue will finance improvements and additions to the community sewer system.

"Northestern is especially proud of this bond purchase as we are soon to become part of this community," said Hoomes.

THE NORTHWESTERN has recently bought property on N. State Road on which it is planned to build a modern office building for use by its midwestern department.

"For many years Northwestern has invested in the municipal bonds of growing communities throughout the country," said Holmes. "With this program, we are able to give our policyholders additional value for their premium dollars."(A

Evanston Edges Cardinal Netmen In Both Classes

Evanston surprised Arlington's varsity tennis team Monday afternoon and avenged a previous reversal with an impressive 3-2 victory.

The host Wildkits took both doubles matches and one singles encounter in handing the varsity Cardinals their fourth loss in 21 matches.

Arlington had blanked Evanston earlier, 5-0.

Evanstor. also handled Arlington on a frosh-soph level by an identical 3-2 count.

Russ Walters and Jim Jakubiec gave the Cardinals their only two varsity points with singles victories.

WALTERS NEEDED three sets to topple Dave Crook in first singles 2-6, 6-3, 6-2. Jakubiec, the district champ in singles, stopped Dick Robin 6-2, 6-2 in second singles.

But that was the extent of Arlington's scoring for the afternoon. Chuck Close bowed in third singles 6-2, 6-4, and Evanston also topped the Cards' doubles team of Mirrel Kephart and Rich Wollerman (6-3, 13-11) and Jim Tindall and Jeff Peek (7-5, 9-7).

Greg Inman and Bob VonBoeckmann gave Arlington its only markers in the frosh-soph battle.

Inman continued his fine play in first singles with a 6-3, 8-6 conquest of Herrera. Von Boeckmann, who has been working in second doubles for the varsity, played number two singles for the sophs and registered an 8-6, 6-1 win.

Deadlock In Golf Division

L-Nor Cleaners and Arlington Realty are deadlocked in the Old Orchard Scratch golf league with seventh place Nelson Realtors only four points shy of first.

Peters & Co. Realtors bowled over the men from Beverly Lanes for seven points to gain third place in the strong Scratch leagues which promises one of the most interesting seasons in years.

The weather was the real opponent last Friday and as a result the scores generally were poor.

Ace Ellis, present Illinois State Amateur champ, paced the field with a 36. Other fine scores were a 37 by Conley and 38s by Spinello, Moehling, Musser, and Rolfs.

Dr. Saltz received two new golf balls for delivering shots closest to the hole. He was eight inches away on the fourth hole and 18 inches away at 12.

Cards Drop Pair To Notre Dame, Glenbard Frosh

Notre Dame and Glenbard West each posted two-run decisions over Arlington High's frosh "A" baseball team last week.

Notre Dame exploded in the third, fourth, and fifth innings for 7-5 victory, and Glenbard West claimed a 2-0 shutout.

Arlington carried a 4-0 lead into the third inning against Notre Dame and had two outs when the roof caved in. The young Dons scored a pair in the third and moved into the lead in the fourth.

"It was a game of mistake for us," Arlington's head coach Art Brownell said, "and they were costly mistakes."

"Butch" Pavelle and Gary Bozee toiled on the mound for the Cardinals with Bozee absorbing the setback in a relief role.

Pavelle and Jim Whittington slapped home runs for Arlington and Bozee and Mike Whalen contributed doubles as four of the locals' six hits went for extra bases.

Score by inning:

Arlington	220	001	0—5-6-3
Notre Dame	002	320	*—7-7-3

On Friday afternoon Glenbard West put over single runs in the third and fourth and blanked Arlington, 2-0.

Bob Young started his first game on the mound for the Cards and did a creditable job. He picked two men off first base and yielded only five hits, fanning five.

Arlington had a rally going in the seventh with men on second and third but a doubleplay checked the threat.

Ron Thompson smashed a triple for the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Glenbard	001	100	0—2-5-2
Arlington	000	000	0—0-5-1

Roll Past DeLaSalle

St. Viator Sophs Clinch Title Tie With 2 Victories

St. Viator's frosh-soph baseball team is sitting in a pretty comfortable position right now.

Coach Larry Nomellini's talented crew ripped DeLaSalle in both ends of a doubleheader last week to move into first place in the Chicagoland Prep league.

The young Lions sport an 8-2 conference standard, 9-5 overall, and just have to sit back and wait now as St. Joseph tries to move into a first place deadlock.

St. Joseph owns a 6-2 league mark and has two games remaining. They must win both to claim a tie with St. Viator.

Joe Sanchez fanned 10 and walked only one in pitching St. Viator's sophs to a 3-1 victory over DeLaSalle in the first game of the twin-bill.

Author of a no-hitter on a varsity level, Sanchez yielded only five hits against DeLa Salle.

St. Viator punched across three runs in the fourth with Tom Collins' single driving in a pair. John Loughman drove in the other marker when he walked with the bases loaded.

Score by innings:

DeLaSalle	010	000	0—1-5-0
St. Viator	000	300	*—3-4-3

Loughman worked on the hill in the windup and allowed only one hit, a fourth inning single. John fanned five and walked only two.

Dennis Wilkinson and Mike Graczyk each chipped in with two hits for the victorious Lions. St. Viator collected 10 safeties.

Score by innings:

St. Viator	122	007	00—12-10-1
DeLaSalle	000	000	0— 0- 1-5

In another outing last week St. Francis tipped the Lions, 5-4, with Collins the losing pitcher.

Only three men were able to break 40 as John Andrup, Len Haines, Sr., and Len Haines, Jr. each posted 39s. Low net honors went to Frank Styczkowski with a 34.

Tell Innovations By Arlington Firm

A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., Arlington Heights, was featured in an article on farming in a recent issue of Printers' Ink, a weekly magazine of advertising and marketing.

In an article entitled, "Farmer: A Market With New Status," the company was used as an example of the "open end on credit."

Excerpts from the article are as follows:

"Mr. Farmer is also a businessman, and becoming more so. A troubling aspect is that he must act as his own financial vice president.

"NOT ONLY conscious of this fact, but doing something about it, is A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

"Harvestore manufactures feed-handling systems, the most obvious member of which is a large, blue, silo-like tank that duplicates the function of a silo but has the added advantage of oxygen-free storage.

"About a year ago, Harvestore hired as its first director of financial relations Charles R. Brynteson, a Harvard - trained economist and a lawyer.

"BRYNTESON'S function is to seek out and develop sources of credit for farmers. In the past (and usually true today) farmers made credit arrangements through traditional sources such as local banks and insurance companies.

"Harvestore anticipates a type of growth that will ultimately use up such credit sources. For the market to continue to grow, company officials felt, new sources would have to be developed."

The article continued by explaining in detail Harvestore's program of developing new sources of credit.

Harvestore's offices are located at 550 Algonquin Road. (A

Who Are School Dropouts And What Makes Them Tick?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the nation's proudest resources — its youth — is being wasted. Why? Because in today's world of automation jobs require not only greater skills but a higher education. Our wasted youngsters lack both qualifications. The following article, second in a series, tells how and why 1,000,000 of our youths are unschooled, unskilled and unemployed. Copyright 1963 by Field Enterprises Educational Corp .and reprinted by permission from the 1963 World Book Year Book.)

by PAUL C. TULLIER

The step-up in educational requirements is fanning out into the labor unions. Most have tightened their standards for apprentices; candidates must nearly always have a high school diploma. Nor is that all. Apprenticeships themselves are growing scarce. In 1950, there were 231,000 apprentices in programs registered with the U.S. Dpartment of Labor. But there were only 166,000 in 1960 — a drop of nearly one-third. Here, again, the unemployed dropout is caught in a vise. Not only is he unqualified for a trade union apprenticeship, but the apprenticeship system itself seems in danger of shriveling up.

Oddly enough, child-labor laws often seem to hinder rather than help the million-odd youngsters who haunt our back streets today. The age at which youths may start work is regulated by state law. So are the hours per day and per week, and the type of work they may do.

But the regulations vary from state to state, and the state laws themselves are usually superseded by federal laws when a company is involved in interstate commerce. Rather than get snarled in red tape, firms bypass the young and hire older workers.

Youth unemployment, then, is rooted in a number of causes. But the chief culprits are the dropouts themselves. Who are they, and what makes them tick?

EXPERTS SHY clear of any cut-and-dried definition of a dropout. Each, they point out, is an individual; no two are alike. Girls as well as boys quit before graduation.

Some are like auburn-haired Doris, a 17-year-old who lives in a tenement on Chicago's South Side. The block on which she resides is lined with cheap taverns. Drunks often "sleep it off" in the vestibule of her building. Neighborhood morals are low. Two of Doris' sisters ran away from home.

"My mother always watched me like a hawk," complains Doris bitterly. "I guess she thought I'd turn bad, too. Every time she heard I had a date she'd kick up a storm. I even had to wait until I got outside the house to put on make-up. I quit school to get a job—and to get away from her."

DORIS, WHO quit school to escape home life, is an underprivileged product of a big city slum. But many dropouts come from much more fortunate environments.

Jim, a spoiled, handsome 16-year-old, is from a better-class suburb in New Orleans, where his father is a highly respected minister. His mother is a prominent social worker.

"All my crowd had 'jalopies' except me," says Jim, who is an only child. "I felt left out. When my father said the only way I could get one was to earn it, I decided to do just that. I quit school and took a temporary, part-time job. I was 16. What could he do?"

A few dropouts are like Al, who ran afoul of the law at an early age.

AL'S FATHER died when he was three, and his mother took a job with the Internal Revenue Service in Atlanta to support him.

"My mother was away most of the time. I guess I got mixed up with a bad crowd, and all that jazz. Anyway," he adds, "one day a bunch of us were playing a game called 'chicken' and someone dared me to snatch a purse. Just for kicks, I did. I got nabbed."

The corners of his mouth turned down and he wrinkled his forehead. "When my mother found out, she flipped. 'You're tarred for life,' she says. 'That police record'll follow you around like a curse.' I figured, well, what the heck, if I can't win because of one mistake, what's the use of even trying anymore? What's the good of an education? So," he says, defiantly, "I quit school as soon as I could."

EXPLANATIONS ARE as varied as the faces of the teenagers.

They come from small families that set little store on education—where the parents themselves are barely able to read.

Or they come from large, low-income families who want them to go to work as soon as possible to bring in money. Thousands come from broken homes.

The youngsters themselves often give different excuses: "I wanted to get married"; "I wanted to join the army"; "I was ashamed of my grades." There is no set of rules to explain them.

But, generally, say most experts, the dropouts can be split up into two groups.

Group One takes in below-average students who can't seem to get the hang of reading. The words make no sense. Yet reading is the heart of modern education, the fundamental skill.

Arithmetic, too, is extremely important, but it adds up to zero for some youngsters. Simple sums throw them for a loop.

This "slow learner" group, according to Eli E. Cohen, executive secretary of the National Committee on Employment of Youth, includes 15 to 20 per cent of the entire United States school population — which in 1961-1962 totaled about 38,000,000. They form the bulk of the dropouts.

GROUP TWO is made up of youngsters whose learning ability is normal, or even better-than-average. A study made by the United States Bureau of Labor shows that 70 per cent of the group could finish high school if they wanted to. Between 6 and 13 per cent of them are bright enough to do college work.

These then are our dropouts—youngsters who failed high school because they couldn't do the work, or youths who could have done the work but wouldn't. They are the cruelly mixed-up teen-agers with family, school, or social problems who didn't finish school and for whom we can't produce jobs.

Next Week! Probing for answers to the jobless youth's plight.

To Speed Recovery

Urges Dropping Barriers of Community, Mental Health

The removal of "barriers" between the psychiatric hospital and the community it serves must take place to help prevent mental illness and speed recovery of patients suffering emotional breakdown, declares Dr. Rudolph Novick, who led a panel discussion on "Community Mental Health" Monday at Des Plaines Forest Hospital.

"People often do not understand that hospital treatment is only one phase of a necessary total mental health treatment program," the mental health leader said.

Health, educational and welfare institutions make up the remaining elements of the treatment facilities, Dr. Novick said. He urged that the hospital and these agencies work together in an atmosphere of "mutual trust."

HE CALLED upon medical and non-medical agencies to unify their efforts to provide treatment and prevention at all levels, including case finding, diagnosis and "after care."

He added that while such concepts are not totally new, "they are new enough to engender resistance."

He recommended, in this connection, that the psychiatric hospital conduct necessary emergency or first aid programs. "A resident in a community may be wrestling with emotional problems ranging in severity from every-day emotional disturbances to a serious and urgent crisis," he said. "Prompt help may swing the balance and prevent the pathology from becoming hardened and immune to later therapeutic attack."

Referring to the hospital's own work in this connection, Dr. Novick stated "any person requesting service is usually seen immediately, or within 24 hours, depending upon the seriousness of the situation.

"FOLLOWING an assessment of the problem, based upon interviews with a staff psychiatrist, or with the psychiatric social worker, a treatment plan is developed.

"The aim is to keep the patient at home and on the job, if possible, and to utilize the total resources of the community to help accomplish this."

He named the family physician, psychologist, adjustment teacher, counsellor and clergyman as key people in this effort. General hospitals in the area, as well as clinics, nursing homes, half way houses, family care work and vocational rehabilitation services must be employed as well, he said.

The hospital, he explained, conducts an outpatient service and provides both individual and group psychotherapy in an integrated program of care. He noted, as well, that "part time hospitalization" is used. "Full time hospitalization is employed only as a last resort," he said.

A SPECIAL role which the hospital plays in this program of "community first aid" relates to clients or patients in cooperating agencies. "Workers in our community institutions are not immune to feelings of anxiety and apprehension when confronted with a client showing symptoms of an emotional disorder of psychological crisis," he remarked.

The hospital, he said, relieves this apprehension by providing psychiatric first aid for such persons.

Among the agencies which the hospital works with in this connection is the Travelers Aid, The County Court of Lake County, the Psychiatric Aid Society of Chicago and local high schools.

"Any traveler stopping off at O'Hare Field who is suspected of being emotionally ill may be brought to the hospital for evaluation by Travelers Aid. The agency is then advised whether or not the traveler is in a condition to continue his journey." If certain precautions are necessary, these are clearly defined. If medication is indicated, this is supplied. If the traveler is too sick to travel, he may be hospitalized while suitable plans are made.

DR. NOVICK also reported on the work which the hospital conducts in cooperation with local high schools by helping them find "the most effective means of dealing with a given problem as it may arise in the school population." He noted as well that an increasing amount of work is being done with church groups. Juvenile officers of the Des Plaines Police Department also work in close cooperation with Forest Hospital.

Dr. Novick stated, however, that finally the hospital's primary target in achieving "continuity of treatment" is the family physician. "He is of critical importance because of his key position as a clinician who knows and understands his patient and the patient's family. He is, therefore, urged to maintain contact with his patient during hospitalization and is encouraged to continue the medical treatment of the patient. In turn, the hospital seeks to help the physician understand the nature of his patient's psychiatric disorder."

THE LUNCHEON program was held to observe National Hospital Week. Participating in the round table discussion, in addition to Dr. Novick, were Morris B. Squire, administrator, who spoke on "Forest Hospital, Its Goals and Programs"; Robert Simon, M.D., director of medical service, who discussed "Treating the Whole Patient"; and Thomas Affeldt, M.D., director of the adolescent program, who spoke on "Adolescent Mental Illness."

Seventy people attended the luncheon, consisting of local city officials, clergymen, school principals and others. (A14

Newspaper Increase Reported

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—Newspaper deaths have been outnumbered by newspaper births—contrary to popular belief—particularly in the field of suburban publications, said Vermont Royster, editor of the Wall Street Journal, in an address to the 1963 University of Wisconsin Journalism Institutes.

He said suburban newspapers had adapted to new conditions caused by shifting populations, the need for specialized information, and the fact that newspapers are no longer first with the news.

ON THE latter point, Royster said too many newspapers were reporting big events several hours after they happen as if their readers were hearing about them for the first time. Newspapers should look for other ways to present this news to provide a fresh approach, he said.

The newspaper industry is experiencing one of the most "dynamic" phases in its history, the editor said. He urged newspapers to adapt themselves to the changing times to survive, adding that the others will "go the way of the dinosaur."

The journalism institutes were held here last weekend. (A14

Inside Randhurst

Table Setting Prizes Given

by BARBARA ANN DAVIS

What a marvelous introduction Paddock Publications gave this column last week! Thank you, Mr. Editor.

It seems that Randhurst is always bubbling with excitement. As an example, "Inside Randhurst" last week, dozens of tables appeared in the mall decorated with beautiful china, sparkling silverware and gorgeous floral centerpieces. This was part of Randhurst's first flower and table setting Homemaker's Show.

DAVIS

Several of the tables located on the Bazaar level were sponsored by local garden and women's clubs. Special prize categories were set up for these tables. It was fascinating to observe how each individual table setting was judged. Each item on the table had to be exactly placed and the entire table carried out a definite setting theme. First place blue ribbons were awarded to the following: class C, veranda luncheon bridal shower, went to the Mount Prospect Women's Club; class E, pool-side nautical supper, went to the Plum Grove Garden Club of Palatine and class F, terrace dinner anniversary, went to Mrs. William T. Mott of Mount Prospect.

Second place red ribbons were presented to the Arlington Heights' Garden Club and Riverhurst Home and Garden Club. Third place yellow ribbons went to the Arlington Heights' Women's Club and Nurses Club of Arlington Heights.

Judges for this event were Mrs. Ralph A. Sandeen of Mount Prospect; Mrs. Alfred L. Roulet and Mrs. Wiley Carr. Mrs. Roulet is a member of the Countryside Garden Club of Mundelein while Mrs. Sandeen and Mrs. Carr are members of the Plum Grove Garden Club of Palatine.

In addition to the tables displayed by the above-mentioned, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., The Fair, and Wieboldt Stores, Inc. placed beautifully set tables in the courts in front of their stores. A nod to their display people for an outstanding job. On the main mall in front of Baskins, a triangle of other tables was displayed.

Wieboldt's Food Market used a picnic table to display outdoor cooking treats. The Apple Basket Restaurant used as a centerpiece a dwarf apple tree. The Randhurst Corned Beef Center placed a mouth-watering tray of delicacies . . . Brautigam Florist used their table for a corsage and centerpiece display . . . Randhurst Bank displayed their silverware around a fascinating piece of driftwood. A large stork with a sign "Stork For Rent" and a table setting was Kresge's entry. Jewel Food Stores excited the appetite with a display of cakes decorated by George Pappas. Carson's International Restaurant with their wedding reception table containing a mysteriously bubbling punch bowl and a cake table with the most beautifully decorated cake, crowned the whole display.

Beside the table setting displays throughout Randhurst, the exhibits set up by the Suburban Aquarium Society delighted parents and youngsters alike. Home aquariums and fish raising is a growing hobby in this area. It's not at all like the days of old when I went out and bought an oval shaped fish bowl, two or three goldfish, filled the bowl with water and a clay castle and placed it on the mantel . . . and but for an occasional feeding, forgot about them.

One feature of Randhurst not too many people seem to know about is our Town Hall. In order to acquaint the public with this facility — which by the way is available for social and civic affairs — the stores inside Randhurst presented a two day program featuring topics of interest to most women. One of the most popular features was presented by Miss Doris Anderson whose sewing style shows each Tuesday fill Town Hall to capacity. Charles Price, of Craft Studio, created exciting crystal ware out of silk scarves and other household items.

During the Oral Polio Immunization program sponsored by Northwest Community Hospital, with the co-operation of the Mount Prospect Jaycees and other volunteers, thousands of parents and children took advantage of an opportunity to get immunization from the crippling disease.

I only hope that you will find Randhurst as exciting as I do and hope to see you there for your second and third doses of the oral polio vaccine June 16 and September 8. (Rh

Plan New Help for Retarded

A new approach to aiding mentally retarded adults was announced at the May 13 meeting of the Mary MacDowall Settlement, held at the University of Chicago Quadrangle Club.

The proposed project is the opening of a "halfway house," a service-in-residence for selected male adult retardates from Dixon State Mental Hospital.

Director of the Mary McDowell Settlement, Guido Tardi, indicated that the halfway house would begin operating immediately at the Settlement, 4630 S. McDowell, for 12 adults selected as ready for a gradual return to society. (B8

Urge Voters To Register

County Clerk Edward J. Barrett has issued an appeal to all voters who come under his jurisdiction and who are not registered or who have moved to register now with their city, village or township clerks.

Registration of voters opened on Monday May 6, and will continue until Sept. 16.

The County Election Department, Room 230, County Building, 118 N. Clark St., Chicago, will continue to accept new registrations and transfer applications daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. (B-8

ITEM: Don't overlook divider walls when planning a bathroom improvement project. Dividers, which may take the shape of a full-height wall or low partitions, can give the room more potential. Dividers are functional since they can form one side of a shower, serve as backing for a vanity, or be used for bonus storage space.

ITEM: The manufacturer says a new super-strength sealer will eliminate drafts and leaks around windows, windshields, vents, portholes, moldings and lights. It adheres to rubber, metal and glass to form a permanent and transparent barrier against wind and water. Ready for use right from the tube.

ITEM: Silken, dirty-gray tent-shaped nests appearing in forks of apple, wild cherry, flowering quince and crabapple trees are nests of tent caterpillars which migrate to tree tops by day to devour leaves and defoliate the trees. Don't burn these nests. Burning may scorch the branches and do more harm than good. Simply spray the trees with a forcible stream of insecticide. Quick, like that, the caterpillars will be gone.

Home-School Cooperation Called Vital by PTA Chief

Quality education, says the president of the nation's PTA's, depends on a closer working partnership of parents and teachers, with parents taking an interest not only in what the schools teach but in how they teach it.

Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, N. Y., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, in May PTA Magazine discusses this changing role of the layman in education.

"For more than half a century," she writes, "PTA's generally have adhered to a principle of home-school cooperation that PTA members themselves helped formulate."

What the schools teach has been viewed as "rightfully a citizen responsibility. How they teach it is best left to professional educators." This arbitrary rule of noninterference in school affairs by parents, she feels, is now changing, largely because of "the great stress being placed today on excellence."

"MORE and more we have come to realize that quality education—the watchword of our time — depends upon quality to put it another way, the upgrading of academic standards depends on the upgrading of parent-teacher relations.

"As a result, what constitutes noninterference in school affairs now matters far less than what constitutes the closest kind of cooperation between home and school."

Favoring such a development, according to Mrs. Jenkins, are these current trends:

"The educational level of parents has risen greatly . . ., so that the intellectual gap between parents and teachers is growing constantly narrower. . .

"Parents are not only informed about the schools but genuinely desire excellence in education and the teaching profession. . .

"THEY ARE intolerant of the shabby and shoddy and impatient to get on with the job of improving our schools."

Consequently, she notes, parents are understandably concerned "if their child is in an overcrowded classroom, or on a half-time session, or if he has a substandard teacher." They may wonder whether some schools are not "piling far too much homework on grade-school youngsters." They may even spend an evening in school themselves "to learn how their children are being taught the new math."

Most important, in the view of the PTA's national leader, "is that these questions, like others that were once off limits to parents, are being discussed in PTA's the country over — not by parents alone or teachers alone but by parents and teachers and principals and superintendents together. Clearly," she concludes, "the role of the layman in education is changing." (A14

'Scorched' Elms Just Seed-Happy

The Illinois Department of Agriculture said there is no need for concern about the "scorched" appearance on some elm trees this spring. The condition is brought about by an extremely heavy production of seeds on some elms this year and is not due to any plant pest.

In the next few weeks, however, steps will have to be taken to cope with elm leaf beetles. The Agriculture Department's plant industry division advises spraying the trees as soon as any damage is noted.

They advise using two pounds of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder, or four pounds of arsenate of lead per 100 gallons of water. This is equivalent to two teaspoons of DDT, or four teaspoons of arsenate of lead per gallon of water.

But spray programs for Dutch elm disease have also been severely criticized by some. At best, the spray only proscrastinates the spread of the disease, it is contended, while killing thousands of birds and further polluting the human environment. (A14

Gerrymander Tag Pasted on Demos

From United Press Dispatches

A Republican charge that the Democratic proposal on House reapportionment is an attempted "gerrymander" was the highlight of last week's tug-of-war on the issue.

The charge was made by Rep. Noble Lee, R-Chicago, in a pamphlet distributed by the Republican State Central Committee.

Under the Democratic plan for reapportionment, some districts would be mostly in Chicago but would also extend into suburban areas.

Lee said this proposal "should be called frankly by its proper name of 'gerrymander' — as a simon-pure example of the art of drawing districts for partisan political purposes."

BOTH THE Democratic bill and a Republican bill are at the passage stage in the House. While both plans are very much the same in downstate Illinois, there is substantial and serious disagreement in northeastern Illinois and Cook County.

Under the Republican map there would be 21 districts in Chicago and nine in the rest of Cook County. Democrats would have 23 Chicago districts and seven in Cook County, with some of the city districts overlapping into suburban territory.

The two parties also disagree on where to draw the boundary line dividing DuPage County, which is now one representative district, into two districts.

Holy Land Physician To Speak

Dr. Helena Kagan, 74, a pediatrician from Jerusalem, Israel, will speak at the La Rabida Jackson Park Sanitarium, May 17, 8:30 p.m., about her 50-year practice in the Holy Land.

Dr. Kagan's address will be part of the sanitarium's Hospital Week observance schedule.

Dr. Kagan began her work in Palestine during a cholera-typhus epidemic in 1914. As a result of her work that year, she was issued a medical license by the Turks, the first such license ever issued to a woman.

Dr. Kagan then headed a 12-bed hospital, served as head of Hadassah Hospital's pediatrics department and joined the pediatrics department of Bikur Holim Hospital in Jerusalem where she now heads a 90-bed wing.

Primarily a rheumatic fever expert, Dr. Kagan will tour a number of United States hospitals during her visit. (A14

City Income Tax Upheld by Court

LANSING, MICH., (UPI) — Detroit's controversial city income tax was upheld by the Michigan Supreme Court in an unanimous opinion handed down last week.

The tax which went into effect last July 1, was protested by suburban officials, who went to court to overrule the one per cent levy, which applied to residents and to non-residents who work in the city.

A Wayne County Circuit Judge upheld the legality of the tax after a hearing in the City-County Building. His decision was appealed to the high court in Lansing which ruled that the tax was legal—the ruling coming shortly before noon May 9.

THE BATTLE carried to the legislative chambers and was regarded as instrumental in the defeat of former Democratic Gov. John Swainson last November. A bill was introduced last year to make it illegal to tax non-residents. The bill was passed but Swainson vetoed it, bringing down the wrath of suburban voters.

Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh pushed the tax through the Common Council. He said it was needed to cure Detroit's financial problems. (A14

Brides Reminded On Social Security

According to the marriage license bureau of Cook County, 5,280 marriage licenses were issued in Cook County during the month of June, 1962.

Dorothy Robinson, acting Northwest District manager of the Social Security Administration, issued a reminder to the bride-to-be.

When a Miss becomes a Mrs. she should ask the Social Security office to correct her record to show her new name.

She does not apply for a new account number; instead she asks that her card be reissued with the same number in her married name. If this is not done, earnings reported for her in the future cannot be credited to her account and benefits may be lost.

NOTIFICATION of a change of address is required only if one has filed an application to receive social security benefits. The Social Security Administration does not keep records of the addresses of people who are not eligible to collect benefits.

Information, pamphlets and forms for a change of name may be obtained without charge from any social security district office. The Northwest district office is located at 4255 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago. The telephone number is KIldare 5-8844. DuPage County readers are served by the district office located at 1124 Westgage Ave., Oak Park. (A14

Patterns of Living

'Mobile' Residents Show New Stability

The rising stability of mobile home residents has been pointed out in an article recently published by Properties Magazine, circulated among real estate and construction executives.

"A permanent set of wheels is probably the least necessary appurtenance in a mobile home," the magazine said. "Statistics show that the average mobile home dweller stays in one spot at least 2-¼ years. Many stay permanently in one location. Even among those who do move, many sell their mobile home and buy another in a new location."

The well-planned modern mobile home park of today forms a neat suburban community unto itself, according to the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association. Electricity, gas. water, sewerage lines, and telephones are provided in these parks. In addition, there are laundry rooms, clothes drying area, and adjacent shopping centers. Some parks have swimming pools, recreational areas, and social auditoriums.

AMPLE SPACES among homes allow residents to have neat patios, green lawns, and gardens. Paved roadways are paralleled by bright street lights, and there is plenty of room for auto parking. Some courts have separate sections for retired people and for families with children.

Today's mobile home is usually located on one of the 16,000 mobile home parks, most of them concentrated in Florida, Gulf Coast, southwest, and West Coast regions.

Approximately 1,250,000 mobile homes have been produced since World War II. More than 3 million people use mobile homes with the average family size now 2.9 persons.

LATEST figures available for 1962 indicate the most popular mobile home is from 50 to 54 feet in length and 10 feet wide. Sales of this unit are accounting for 35.0 per cent of all production. Following close behind with 33.7 per cent sales record is the 55 to 59 foot long, 10 foot wide mobile home.

All mobile homes have exterior walls made of aluminum, sheet steel, or both, insulated with spun-glass and/or aluminum foil, secured to uniformly spaced studs. The shell is placed upon a welded steel frame.

Today's homes contain a living room, one to three bedrooms, one to two bathrooms, and a kitchen-dining area, all with plywood walls. The mobile home is centrally heated by oil, gas, or electric furnace and air conditioning is available.

THE ESTIMATED average cost for today's mobile home is $5,400 which includes all furnishings and appliances. Purchasers have their choice of units from $3,500 to more than $15,000.

A display of mobile homes is being featured May 16 to 25 at the Boat and Outdoor Living Show in Randhurst, Rand and Elmhurst Roads, Mount Prospect.

Tuna Sales Fall Here

The consumption of canned tuna fish in Illinois has decreased approximately 30 per cent, according to reports from industry officials to the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Ray Cowperthwaite, superintendent of the department's Division of Foods and Dairies, pointed out that "there never was any reason for particular concern in Illinois, as none of the particular shipment of contaminated tuna fish from a newly established plant of a West Coast packer was sent into this state."

Cowperthwaite explained two simple methods of determining whether to buy or not to buy and use canned foods. "Never buy or use a can that is bulged or with a bulged lid; and never buy or use a damaged can."

Roth to Help Plan Scout Conference

An Arlington High School student last week was chosen to represent Illinois and three adjoining states on the national delegate conference committee of Explorer Scouts.

Robert A. Roth, 16, of 537 S. Chestnut Ave., was elected its delegate by the 2nd Region Seven Explorer Conference at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Roth represented the Northwest Suburban Scout Council, one of 81 councils from Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan.

MORE THAN 2,100 Explorers attended the three-day meeting which was devoted to developing and expanding the Explorer program that now numbers more than 285,000 boys of high school age.

An Eagle Scout and active in Post 57 (sponsored by South Junior High School PTA), Roth will be one of 12 Explorers across the country to plan the movement's second national conference, now planned for 1964.

Roth won his election over spirited competition from several big city councils by his "Think Big" presentation, a program for the 1964 conference that includes an appearance by both next year's presidential candidates.

THE DELEGATES to the Great Lakes meeting formed 12 groups, each of which caucused to select its candidate.

Then each candidate presented his case over closed circuit television to the entire conference as a preliminary to the election. (A

Mayor Hears Case Of Beer and Teens

Rolling Meadows Mayor John J. Woods is studying evidence presented Saturday at a hearing on a charge that a 17-year-old Arlington Heights youth was served beer March 8 at the Rolling Meadows Bowl, 3245 Kirchoff Road.

Woods, also the city's liquor commissioner, is expected to issue a written opinion in 10 days as to whether the Bowl's liquor license should be suspended or its management reprimanded.

The hearing consisted of testimony that two Arlington Heights boys were playing pool at the Bowl, and one of them, Charles Strother, 17, of 1007 N. Vail Ave., purchased two beers and passed one along to a 16-year-old companion.

A bartender, Al Brisard, testified that Strother displayed a motor vehicle driver's license which showed his birth year as 1941.

THE FALSIFIED license was found in Strother's possession and confiscated by police. The youth denied having been asked to show any identification.

It was pointed out by Cy Campbell, Rolling Meadows police chief, that the Bowl's management noticed the younger boy drinking beer and summoned the police.

"The management has policed its establishment," Campbell said. "They have taken upon themselves a more strict curfew for teens than is required by law."

Jack Rafferty, the city's prosecuting attorney, said an extreme penalty in this case might discourage future cooperation with police by both the Bowl and other liquor license holders.

STROTHER HAS reportedly been picked up by area police recently on two other liquor charges. The boy's falsified identification card played a part in a case in Arlington Heights.

Identification of juveniles is difficult for bartenders, it was conceded Saturday by Rafferty.

Physical appearance and wide use of falsified identification cards complicate the matter, he noted.

"Only one type of identification card is acceptable proof of age under state statute," Rafferty said. "A liquor purchasing card can be obtained from the county clerk showing age and a photograph of the holder."

Al Jordan, Bowl manager, said "not one in 10,000" has such a card.

"If we had to turn everyone away who didn't have a card, we wouldn't have any customers." (A

Our Saviour's to Dedicate Education Building Sunday

At three services, 8:15, 9:30 and 11 a.m., this Sunday, dedication ceremonies will be conducted at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, 1234 N. State Road, Arlington Heights in recognition of completion of the new $132,000 parish education building.

The education building, designed by the Park Ridge architectural firm of Buderus and Sunshine, will provide nine additional room areas for the Sunday church school and weekday educational and fellowship activities of the eight-year-old congregation.

The building, just completed, is a second unit of a four-unit master plan proposed by the congregation. The first unit, a combination worship, fellowship and education building complex, was completed in November of 1958 at a cost of $212,000.

AT EACH of the services next Sunday, the building committee, church council and the pastor of the congregation, Rev. John P. Petersen, will conduct ceremonies dedicating the new building to the use of Christian education for the parish.

In addition, pledge cards will be distributed to the worshippers and an opportunity will be afforded to allow members of the congregation to indicate their financial commitment to the building fund for the next two years.

The pledges to be received will be used to repay a $74,000 loan which has made possible the construction of the new building.

LAST SUNDAY, following the two regular worship services, the members of the congregation were given an opportunity to tour the new building as part of an open house observance.

The persons making the tours were told that the new building will accommodate the Sunday church school, grades 1 through 12. In addition, there is a room which will be used as a crib room and there is also a small administrative office for the school.

The morning panel discussion and address will be on "Communities Concern for Youth," moderated by Charles H. Shireman, professor, School of Social Service Administration, University of Chicago.

The afternoon panel will discuss "Children and Courts." Serving on this panel will be Judge Alfred J. Cilella of the Family Court of Cook County.

Judge Theodore B. Knudson from the Family Court division of Minneapolis will give the final address entitled, "What Can We Expect of Family Courts in the Future?"

Illinois Assembly Gets 79 New Bills

From UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Besides being preoccupied with the finer points of public aid, the Illinois legislature this week was rifling through 79 bills introduced Tuesday in the two houses of the General Assembly.

The bills ranged all the way from requiring at least two years of high school fo rbeauty culturists to an increase in the salary of the public health director from $15,000 to $22,000 a year.

Shouldering aside caution, the legislators considered the controversial Sunday closing law in one bill which would create a commission to report back on the subject by April 1, 1965.

On Monday, 11 bills were introduced in the House of Representatives. Seven of the bills were concerned with appropriations, such as a $252 million appropriation for the Department of Public Health, a $19.9 million appropriation for the Illinois Youth Commission and a $43.1 million grant to the Auditor of Public Accounts to pay state aid to schools, all for the coming biennium.

The Illinois Senate formally opened its session Tuesday by hearing two songs by a group of 10 girls from the Jacksonville Braille and Sight-Saving School. The girls received a standing ovation for their renditions of "Illinois" and "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

AMONG THE 79 bills, there were three which would create study commissions. Besides the Sunday closing law commission — which would have a scholarly two years to assess the problem — lawmakers considered bills which would create a commission to study the need and feasibility for establishment of a state building and construction code, and a commission to scrutinize alcoholic liquor laws.

The House Appropriations Committee Tuesday unanimously passed a measure, previously approved by the Senate, to create an Illinois Crime Commission, but in the process slashed its appropriations from $200,000 to $100,000.

The Senate's license and miscellany committee Tuesday approved, by a 7-3 vote, a measure to outlaw professional boxing. A similar bill was previously passed by a House committee and is now at passage stage in the House.

The favorable vote came after the bill's sponsor, Sen. Paul Simon, D-Troy, said, "The most conservative medical studies show that 60 per cent of all professional boxers suffer brain damage."

One of the bill's opponents, Sen. Paul Graham, R-Mattoon, said, "Boxing is a tradition. If we ban this, next it will be automobile racing, then football."

SIMON answered that surveys showed boxing to be 89 times more dangerous than the next most dangerous sport — football. He said there have been 201 deaths from professional boxing since 1945.

Last week, the House passed by a 127-35 vote a million dollar appropriation for an Illinois pavilion at the New York World's Fair. The bill now goes to the Senate.

"The bill would give Rocky (New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller) a wedding present. They participated in our world's fair," said Rep. Peter J. Miller, R-Kedvale.

Rep. John C. Parkhurst, R-Peoria, said: "It's a waste of money. I don't know any reason why we can't leave it alone. Only 16 states will have original exhibits at the fair."

House Minority Leader Paul Powell, D-Vienna, responded, "Those who are speaking against the bill would like to put a wall around the state of Illinois. We are planning a world's fair in Chicago in 1976 and you wouldn't want to keep New York out, would you?"

On the same day, last Thursday, May 9, an attempt to pass a bill to place a six-year moratorium on the death penalty in Illinois failed, but the bill was withdrawn before it could be killed.

The vote on the bill was 87 against and 77 for the moratorium. Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Chicago, the sponsor, then was allowed to postpone consideration of the measure — a parliamentary move which keeps the bill alive for another attempt at passage.

"We do not have to stoop to the level of murder to enforce the laws in our society," Mikva said. He argued that syndicate hoodlums escape the death penalty because they are able to employ good lawyers "but poor people cannot afford these lawyers."

HIS COMMENTS drew these responses:

— Rep. George Brydia, R-Prophetstown, saying since Mikva is "an Old Testament supporter, why don't you follow an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth?"

— Rep. Joseph Stremlau, D-Mendota, said, "Who are you going to take care of if you pass this bill — killers, murderers, rapists?"

— Rep. Paul Elward, D-Chicago, said the bill was "misconceived and misdirected sympathy toward murderers." (A-14

Public Aid Issue Confused: Editor

Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, Inc., told members of the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club recently that "public aid is probably the most confused and misunderstood problem facing the State of Illinois today."

Hayes was the club's guest speaker May 2.

The year-old newsman, winner of numerous state and national press awards for interpretative writing on social issues and community problems, said it is discouraging to witness the state's inability to come to grips with the public aid problem.

"PUBLIC AID is the result of an ill and not the cause," Hayes observed. "We must begin to hit at illiteracy, job discrimination, automation, urbanization and other causes which put people onto the public aid rolls.

"We never will begin easing the costs of aid until the conditions which cause people to need it are corrected or alleviated."

He rapped state legislators who, he said, "refuse to do anything but treat the symptoms of the ill—the costs of aid." He charged some suburban legislators with restricting their interest in the problem to introduction of "punitive and restrictive measures gauged to limit amounts of aid."

HAYES ALSO commented that the State Senate's recent reversal of its approval of Arnold Maremont as chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission was justified "although there was some basis to Maremont's charges."

"Mr. Maremont's comment about Republican senators practicing bias against negroes was inaccurate, intemperate and ill-advised," he said.

"But Maremont did perform a service to the state by bringing into the open the question of birth control."

TOMATO PLANTS IN Jiffy-Pots MADE OF PEAT

Your garden will get an earlier, healthier start—you'll be picking more and better tomatoes one to three weeks ahead of your neighbors.
WHY? Jiffy-Pots are made of molded peat moss impregnated with a special fertilizer. This means sturdier plants to start with.
Since the roots grow right through the pot walls, you simply plant Jiffy-Pot and all. Plants suffer no damaging setback, start right off—bloom earlier, bear heavier.

Check Landscaping In Buying New Home

Buying a new home? Then check the land and the landscaping, advises the American Association of Nurserymen.

Modern advances in landscaping and planting may make the difference between enjoyment of your land for living, and not.

Check the design, the position of the house on the lot and the quality of the landscaping. It usually will pay a prospective home buyer to hire a good landscape nurseryman to go over the property with him and offer advice. He will check the grades before any planting is done, sometimes be able to save good trees. Some builders install the cheapest of plants in a skimpy row along the front of the house just to take away the bareness. Others do a capable landscape job.

THE NURSERYMAN can help you decide whether or not you are receiving sound value in the planting. If the builder allows a rebate for landscaping, the nurseryman can tell what you may purchase for this sum.

Some builders do a basic planting job and then provide a landscape plan for the home owner to have completed by a recommended nurseryman. This is sound procedure, too, resulting in good landscaping values that increase the resale value of the home.

If little or no landscaping is offered with the house, it can be achieved by experienced landscape nurserymen, by means of an F.H.A. home improvement loan up to $3,500, or more, being available for this purpose. Other types of loans also are available for the purpose. (BB

Evergreens Provide 'Color' for Homes

There is not a home property in the United States that can look beautiful all year long without evergreens.

There are evergreens for every location. The foliages vary considerably in relation to form, color and texture. They may be so low as to creep along the ground, or high enough to reach into the sky. They are the most important plants in the home landscape, from the hedge, to the specimen shrub or tree. Some evergreens have lovely flowers, while others, in the warmer climates bear some of our most delicious fruits.

CONSULT WITH your nurseryman in purchasing these plants. Evergreens grow in many shapes and sizes, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, and one should know what he is doing in buying them. He usually cannot tell just by observing them stacked side by side. One should have knowledge of how the plant will grow after purchase. Nurserymen have such knowledge.

Every plant should fit its location on the property. You don't want a tall-growing tree near windows, or even too close to the house. The right trees or shrubs planted in the right places should be the goal with evergreens.

EVERGREENS usually are used for hedges or "wind breaks," in order to make the property warmer in winter and cooler in summer. A solid evergreen "wind break" will tone down cold winds for a distance along the ground of 10 times the height of the planting. It should be planted on the side of the property from which the cold winds blow. Plantings also can be made to channel the breeze into your outdoor living room in hot summer weather. The hedges insure privacy.

No home can be well-planted without evergreens which can serve many utilitarian purposes as detailed by nurserymen. (BB

DON'T BOTHER TO READ THIS AD . . . JUST CALL FOR AN APPOINTMENT

Since you're paying no attention to our first suggestion, maybe we can interest you in the second. Why should you see this home? After all, the world is full of homes — good, bad, and indifferent, BUT a very few are super values like this:

A 12-year-old brick ranch executive home in exclusive Scarsdale Estates, set serenely on a beautifully landscaped half-acre, only 30 minutes from Chicago Loop. The swimming pool (of course!) is formal in design, heated, and a large 20x35 feet with marbleized finish, complemented by a blue stone patio and many evergreens, gas yard lights, and safety secured by an aluminum anchor fence hidden in the flood and spot-lit evergreens, trees and shrubs. The attached 2-car heated garage has automatic openers, and even the outside garage lights and front post lights are on a time switch.

This house is in immaculate condition, with new wool carpeting throughout, new living and dining room drapes, newly decorated interior and exterior, a new roof, central air-conditioning and humidifier, plastic coated canvas awnings, aluminum storms and screens, new wiring throughout, and a paneled family room with slate floor—all designed for minimum upkeep and labor.

Did we mention the kitchen? All new, beautiful and efficient, with Coppes Napanee hard maple wood cabinets in French provincial antiqued finish, and built-ins: 2 ovens, range with grill, refrigerator, and dishwasher, and a few steps away, the breakfast room overlooks the pool and yard area, and the laundry is conveniently located on the first floor.

And if you did read this ad—be sure to send for our brochure on this home, so ideal for family living and gracious entertaining—all for $58,500.

STRIKING NEW MODEL home in Sleepy Hollow, on Route 72 one mile west of Rte. 31, near Dundee, is the "President." Attractively planned on a single level, it has over 2000 sq. ft. of living area, with 3 bedrooms and 2½ baths. Paneled family room has a big, wood-burning fireplace. Exterior is of brick and rough-sawn cedar.

Colonial Style Ranch Popular This Spring

In suburban Sleepy Hollow, attractive community of hills and streams located just west of Dundee, on U.S. Route 72, spring is considered one of the outstanding "features" of the picturesque area.

Builder Floyd Falese claims: "Spring has more to work with, here in Sleepy Hollow."

Falese, well-known sportsman and mayor of Sleepy Hollow, is quick to point out the many natural attractions and opportunities for active outdoor recreation offered by the area. Originally planted and laid out to preserve the natural contours of hills and meadowland of the valley, the community makes a showcase of its sparkling lakes and streams, stocked with fish — its open arrangement of homes and homesites — and its many inviting wooded hillsides.

IN THIS quiet setting, residents of Sleepy Hollow are very conscious of spring's approach — and share an exceptional range of outdoor recreation, including early gardening; horseback riding along the community's thirty-three miles of bridle paths; backyard fishing; and swimming at the popular, new community club.

The builders note that home designs, too, in Sleepy Hollow, have been carefully selected to take full advantage of the area's naturally attractive sites.

Currently popular example is a spacious new Colonial ranch home, with attached 2½-car garage. Known as "The President," it sells for $24,900 plus site — has over 2,000 sq. ft. of living area on a single level, with eight large rooms and 2½ baths.

The California-styled exterior is of distinctive brick and rough-sawn cedar. Inside, the visitor finds a big entry, and a 20'x13' living room. This opens into a 13'x10' dining area, which features a distinctive built-in china closet.

The well-arranged kitchen has many custom oak cabinets, with appliances including refrigerator, range, oven exhaust fan and hood, dishwasher and garbage disposer. Double thermopane sliding doors open onto the patio area. Powder room and handy laundry-utility room are between the kitchen and the attached garage.

JUST OFF the kitchen and extending to the front of the house, is the comfortable, inviting family room, over 12'x16' in size. Designed and located for plenty of use by both family and guests, it features fine pre-finished oak paneling. And a floor-to-ceiling, wood-burning masonry fireplace takes up the entire end of the room.

The space-and-comfort theme of this home is basic to the three bedrooms. Closets are large and well-located. A novel L-shaped corridor assures privacy for the whole area. Custom tiling, fixtures and decor feature both baths — one being private to the master bedroom, which also has a separate dressing room.

THE "PRESIDENT" and other new Sleepy Hollow model homes are open from 10 a.m. till dark every day, including Saturdays and Sundays. An extensive choice of homesites — ranging from one-half to two acres — is also available in the rolling, park-like community, with lakefront, wooded or hillside lots offered.

Main entrance to Sleepy Hollow is on Higgins Road (Route 72) just outside Dundee, about one mile west of Route 31. The attractive valley community is readily reached by Route 72, Northwest Tollway, (turning north at the Route 31 cutoff), or other convenient highways.

'Careless' Penalties Severe

Boat Owners Warned Of Legal Obligations

Are you fully aware of your responsibility under the Nation's laws governing boat ownership and operation?

Legal experts of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company point out that "wrongful death" penalties of our 50 states apply exactly the same to the person responsible for killing someone by boat as by motor car. Thirty-seven states and the District of Columbia have no legal limits to the amount that may be awarded against a defendant in an accidental death suit; 50 states have no limits to the amounts that may be assessed against the person who causes bodily injury.

Tens of thousands of families are joining the ranks of boat-owners each year. A vast majority look upon the boat as a new source of pleasure; few realize that it has the same potential power to kill, to maim or to damage property that is found in a highway vehicle. Opportunity for accident steadily increases with the growing numbers and speed of watercraft.

Although many communities have set up regulations for the operation of watercraft in specified areas, there has been no requirement that operators be examined for ability to handle boats with safety to the public and themselves. The result is that millions who could not qualify for motor vehicle operators' licenses are free to jeopardize life and property on our waterways.

Seventeen states have vicarious liability laws that will hold you financially responsible for bodily injury caused by persons to whom you may loan your boat. In these times when thousands of boats are hauled by trailer from state to state, you may well find yourself a financial victim of these laws if your son, daughter or a friend uses your craft.

When a vacationer takes his boat to an adjoining state, he must realize that damage awards against him are just as easily collected through what is known as "the long arm of the law" as though the accident had happened in his home community. Too, he will often find that juries are most unfriendly to an outsider who has injured one of their friends or neighbors.

Only through proper liability insurance can the boatowner make certain that he will be protected from lawsuit loss in his local waterways and in all other states where he may travel. Too, as with auto insurance, this becomes a moral responsibility to the public as well as a financial responsibility to his family.

Unimportant to the public but vitally important to the boat-owner and his family is the kind of protection needed when the family boat is damaged or destroyed as a result of one of the many kinds of mishaps that occur in boating. Craft at moorings are frequently exposed to violent weather conditions; unlike cars, they can't be readily moved to a place of safety. Serious damage or total loss often results. There is the exposure to loss by collision—not covered by auto insurance—when your boat is being hauled to and from waterways.

As with the automobile, the American Mutual states that modern insurance coverage has been designed to give boating families virtual freedom from financial losses that are peculiar to their new, multi-billion dollar sport. (BB

Small Business Told of Contracts

Bids on 19 government contracts are now open to small businessmen by the U. S. Army Engineers, said their representative, H. J. Zimmerman, today at a "Small Business opportunity Seminar" sponsored by the Centex Industrial Park Association.

At the seminar, held at the Maitre D' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Village, the Veterans Administration also indicated there were many government contracts available to small businessmen at this time.

Procedures and ways in which these small businesses can obtain government contracts were outlined by representatives from the following eight government agencies: Small Business Administration; Naval Ordnance Plant; Veterans Administration Supply Depot; Air Force; U.S. Army Transportation Material Command; U. S. Army Engineers; Rock Island Arsenal; and General Services Administration.

PARTICIPATING in the seminar were approximately 35 persons representing 28 companies from Chicago and the Northwest suburban communities.

The seminar began with a welcoming address by Major Lawrence, vice-president, Centex Industrial Park Assn. Howard G. Krasfur of Bennett and Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for the Park, gave a short talk velopment of Centex's industrial development.

Government speakers were Einar Johnson, SBA deputy regional director; John W. Jones, SBA industrial specialist; and Joel L. Leckness, assistant director of the GSA's business services.

At the seminar, the first of its kind to be held in the northwest quadrant, individual counseling was given to the men by representatives of the government agencies. (BB

A. True. When it is absolutely necessary to clean the glasses in public, it is much better to do so without the aid of one's breath.

Sears Offers New Paint Machine

If you've been having trouble finding just the right color of paint for that home decorating job, don't give up—help is at hand.

Modern science has made the solution to this problem a lot easier by coming up with an automatic paint mixing machine that can whip up any of 45,000 colors and tints.

The new paint mixer, called the Shade-O-Matic, employs 12 different colorants and three paint tint bases, dispensing just the right proportion of each colorant to obtain the exact shade desired.

AND THE HOME decorator who just can't make up her mind about a color will find a new bank of color chips offers 720 different tints and tones. The small chips can be checked right on the spot or taken home for comparison with walls and present decorating pieces.

Top decorators today agree that the average homeowner has a greater array of colors and tones and a greater variety of types of paints available to them than ever before.

These new color selection and paint mixing devices have been installed at your local Sears, Roebuck and Co. store, located in the Golf-Mill Shopping Plaza, Niles. (BB

For Home Owner

Nursery Provides Services

Some home owners become disappointed with their plantings because they do not seek the advice of competent nurserymen, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

"One cannot purchase plants anywhere," the group states, "not knowing whether they are hardy or not; or are the right type for the purpose desired; or whether they will grow tall, when one needs a short plant, or vice-versa. The result may be that the right plants are not planted in the right places and this may cause disappointments."

GOOD nurserymen including mail order nurseries, usually have the newest varieties, the freshest plants. They tell when and how to plant, how to care for the plantings for best results. Most nurseries have far better selections of plants from which to choose. Take any evergreen such as taxus. It may grow tall, short, wide, or spreading, according to the variety, and the customer not only doesn't know this but he cannot even find out at some sales outlets.

Oftentimes, a very few selections of nursery stock are sold in the spring season as "comeons" for sales of other merchandise. Many times, but not always, such sales consist of varieties that long ago were discarded by good nurserymen as better varieties took their place.

Good nurserymen offer home planting service and knowledge of trees and shrubs all year long. This means not only more beautiful, but more successful plantings for home owners.

Today's Agriculture

By CARL MEES, Coordinator, County Extension Service

I am often asked the question, "Do you think that at some future date our farms may not be able to produce enough food to provide an adequate diet for our population?" This, of course, is a difficult question to answer, and at best only can be a conjecture. However, in my way of thinking I can see no reason why we would not be able to produce enough food and fiber for all until at least the year 2000, if present production and population trends continues, and also we continue to lose the amount of land used for other purposes, such as highways, subdivisions and industry.

One must realize however, that with population increases more food is needed and when agricultural land is used for other purposes it no longer is available to produce food. As one cuts from both ends of the stick, it shortens in a hurry.

Recently when my family and I were touring the south we discussed the potential the United States has for food production. In many of the southern states, the soil is of the red clay type. Often we think this soil may not be as productive as the black soils of the midwest. The soil in the south is productive if the proper food elements are supplied in sufficient quantities, and an adequate amount of moisture is available. A young man in Mississippi produced more than 250 bushels of corn per acre a few years ago. He had added all the necessary food elements and used irrigation. What was especially interesting to me was the small percentage of land used to produce our food and fiber.

It appears that we could reclaim much more land in the southern states to produce food if necessary. The southern states do produce sizeable quantities of grains and could produce more.

The south is doing a good job in reforestration. There are literally thousands of acres each year being replanted.

I am confident when people from other parts of the United States drive through Illinois between June and October, they are impressed with our acres and acres of waving corn and soybeans. One soon realizes why the midwest is termed the "breadbasket" of the United States. Yes, Mr. Kerrick Helton of Brockton, Illinois, last year produced 230.58 bushel of corn on one acre. The average yield for all the corn grown in Illinois was 82 bushels per acre.

With the application of the scientific knowledge we have available and if the weather continues to be as favorable as it has in the past twenty years, we will have plenty of food and fiber for all for many years to come.

New Techniques Cut House-Building Costs

So Prices Stay Within Reason

by JOSEPH H. ANDERSON
President, Home Builders Association of Chicagoland

(Fifth in a Series)

Jim and Doris, our typical house-hunting couple, really have watched a house being built. It may have been the very home which, upon completion, made them say, "This is the house for us."

If they saw it being constructed, undoubtedly they were amazed at how fast it went up and how quickly it was under a roof. The actual building these days can take less time than the preparation and planning.

Improved building techniques have cut construction time. This has whittled down costs and made it possible for Jim and Doris to buy the home at a price they can afford.

The speed with which the house was put under a roof helped to protect it from adverse weather and there was less danger of vandalism.

MANY HOMES today are built section by section — rather than small piece by small piece. Builders use large wall panels that are factory made under controlled, scientific conditions that make them stronger and more durable than any in history. It is not uncommon to see an entire wall, with openings for the windows already cut, put into place in a single operation. The trend is toward laying of roofs in large pieces.

The builder today has improved materials with which to work and many entirely new materials also are available, including coated and uncoated aluminum and a whole family of plastics with long-wearing, weather resistant characteristics.

There is better supervision of construction today. Builders and their construction superintendents generally know more about the technical processes involved anc they watch more closely the proper use and placement of materials.

BUILDERS are continually seeking to improve their construction. They are carrying on extensive research on new procedures and building materials.

No one has the time or money to do this by himself. The research is spearheaded by the National Association of Home Builders, which has more than 42,000 members throughout the country and with which the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland is affiliated.

The NAHB has just built its fifth research house near Washington, D. C.

One of the many features of the new experimental home is its exterior walls. They are covered with plywood which has a plastic film laminated in the factory. These panels are a new and exciting building material. The outer walls are smooth to the touch and the finish is said to be long-lasting, washable and completely water repellent.

THE NEW research house has the first practical application of a steel foundation.

It has the advantage of being a time-saver. It can be assembled and installed in less than half a day. Foundations usually take two or three days.

It's the large number of somewhat small savings like this that enable builders to hold down on the cost of a new home, which has not soared in the last 10 years compared to other items that consumers need.

You may have heard it said that "They don't build houses like they use to." That, fortunately, is true. If we built them piece by piece as of old, few could afford them. There is no point in building fine new homes if families cannot afford to buy them.

Members of the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland are bound by a code of ethics which pledges them to the construction of good homes for American families at the best possible value. (BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

One of the biggest complaints about cut flowers, particularly roses is that they do not keep long enough. Whether it be roses from your neighborhood florist, or from your own garden, you will be surprised what proper handling can do to make them last.

Be sure the roses you cut or those you purchase are at the proper stage of opening. Flowers too far open have lost some of their cut flower life; those too tight might not open at all. The proper stage is fairly tight with one petal beginning to curl back.

ROSES NEED plenty of water, so select a deep container. Fill the container with warm (100 degrees F) water in which you have mixed a floral preservative. Floral preservatives are quite new in the flower industry but have been shown by research at several Universities to notably improve the cut flower life of roses. They are available from your florist under a variety of brand names.

As you cut your roses, plunge them immediately into the water. (If you receive roses from the florist, cut off one inch of the bottom of the stem).

Set the container in a cool place for several hours to allow the flowers to harden off and begin picking up water.

WHEN THE flowers are hardened off they can be set out for display or can be used for arrangements. Be sure to cut off the stems each time you remove the flowers from the water, and always use floral preservatives.

This treatment should double the life of your cut roses. For even longer enjoyment, set the container of flowers in a cool place each night. This will stop development of the flowers during the night so they will last longer during the day.

REMEMBER, cut flowers are living creatures and like life itself are here and then gone. I am sure a good part of the charm of roses is the fact that you receive them as buds. They mature, they die and they become a sweet memory before you have forgotten the meaning of the occasion.

As with so many of the spices in life, they are treasured so long as you receive only fleeting glimpses of them. When overdone, you soon tire of them.

Anne Porayko to Sing Bizet Arias

The "Habanara" and "Sequidilla" ariaes from Bizet's "Carmen," sung by Miss Anne Porayko, will be the finale for the closing of the Northwest Chapter of the Lyric Opera Guild spring season, May 23.

Miss Porayko, a mezzo-soprano, pursued her academic studies at the University of Manitoba, Canada, and when she moved to the Chicago area, continued her studies at the American Conservatory of Music.

She has appeared as soloist in oratorios and has presented many programs for various groups in the mid-west. She lives in Mount Prospect.

THIS MARCH, the young singer was the second prize winner in the Metropolitan Opera auditions. This distinction will entitle her to appear on the "Artist Showcase" program.

Also on the Northwest Chapter Lyric Opera program, the Barrington Women's Chorus will perform the "Humming Chorus" from "Madame Butterfly," by Puccini, and the "Smoke Music" from "Carmen" by Bizet.

The duet, "Tutti Fiori" (Flower Duet) from "Madame Butterfly" will be sung by Mrs. Betty Stroh and Mrs. Erma Bartling, who are members of the chorus and soloists from the Barrington area.

A SYNOPSIS of "Carmen" and "Madame Butterfly" will be given by Mrs. Richard Impey of Arlington Heights. Because the opening opera of the Lyric season next fall is the "Nabucco," a brief outline of this Verdi work will also be presented.

The home of Mrs. Edward A. Twerdahl Jr., of Barrington will be the setting for this meeting, Thursday, May 23, at 1:30 p.m.

Theatre's Invitation Is 'Come As You Are'

The May 30, production of "Auntie Mame" is to be "come as you are night," according to Al Estrella, public relations chairman of Arlington Heights Village Theatre.

"We feel our audience will get more enjoyment from both the Memorial Day holiday and the play if there's a feeling of relaxation carried right through to the evening," says Estrella.

"So after the backyard barbecue we're inviting everyone to come see "Auntie Mame" in slacks, sport shirts, capris, sunshifts. It's a fun play, so why not enjoy it?"

Shenanigans of the play revolve around a most unlikely aunt who is faced with the bewildering prospect of raising an orphaned nephew.

MAME'S credo is "life is a banquet . . . take a heaping helping" and young Patrick is immediately invited.

Mame's opponents are a conservative housekeeper who clucks over the morning cocktails, an appointed co-guardian who yanks young Patrick out of a free-wheeling school into a more conventional hall of learning, a whole Southern clan which tries to close ranks when Mame has matrimony in mind and finally an upper-crust family which Auntie finds too stale for her grown-up nephew.

But though Mame has her misfortunes, they are nothing that can't be overcome with wit, fast footwork and perhaps a complete change of costume. Mame's moods change with her clothes and to complete the outlook she calls in the decorator.

IT'S A kaleidoscopic play. The two acts encompass 23 scenes, with costume changes as swift as they are sensational.

Directed by Richard Tyler, the Village Theatre presentation of "Auntie Mame" stars Shirley Freeman in the title role, with Mikel Moses, Herb Braden, Ann Hume, Kay Hawley, Rosemary Barry and John Lobenhofer in featured parts.

The four performances, May 29, 30, 31 and June 1, are slated for Prospect High, 801 Foundry Road, Mount Prospect. Tickets may be reserved by calling CL 9-3200. (Bill

IT'S AUNTIE MAME'S literary phase and it drives her secretary to drink. Shirley Freeman plays Mame, Rosemary Barry the naive Agnes Gooch, and Bob Hawley is Brian O'Bannion, ghost writer in the Arlington Heights Village Theatre production of "Auntie Mame." Show dates are May 29, 30, 31 and June 1 at Prospect High School. (Bill

Not a Dog

Many Offer Help to Find Lost Composer

by DOTY HEYDEN

A total of 51 people telephoned to help find the "Russian Composer, 5'9", dark complexion, lovable, 392-4003" who was indicated as "Lost" in the classified section of the Paddock Publications for the past two weeks.

As part of the promotion of their forthcoming production, "Silk Stockings," the Best-Off-Broadway Players ran a series of ads in the want ad section of the papers to stimulate interest for the musical.

The results proved interesting, and in many cases amusing as well as profitable.

One call proved rather enlightening if you happen to be a dog lover and are searching for a new breed. The result of the phone conversation was, "Is a Russian composer something like a German Shepherd?"

The young boy placing the call was disappointed to learn that it wasn't a dog but prompted his mother to learn who the Russian composer was and now the Anderson family of Arlington Heights possesses four opening night tickets to "Silk Stockings."

LECTURING BY MARGE COLLINS who plays the feminine lead of Ninotchka has little effect on Wally Williams. Both will be seen in Best Off Broadway production "Silk Stockings" to be presented in Barrington High School Friday, Saturday and Sunday. (Bill

THE BOB Players are definitely not opening or starting a marriage brokerage or a lonely hearts club. However, if you answered the ad "Freedom, Wine, Women, Song, Love, Marriage. Information 392-4003" and were disappointed, you need not be, as the active membership in this group of theater lovers is well over 100 and many in the group are finding it is an answer to their social aspirations.

It is a mixed group of ages from 18-60 and getting acquainted with new members is part of the fun of the organization. BOB Players welcomes new members, backstage workers are regarded as highly as front stage talent.

Did you ever wonder if it was worth it? Sigrid Doren of Rolling Meadows, the BOB Players "our gal Sunday" wondered. She answered in a fairly clear state of mind when her phone rang at 5 a.m. Someone "Wanted: Ninotchka, Ivanof, Brankov 'Bibinski.'"

"No, the BOB Players is definitely not fostering a Soviet spy agency. On stage with the troupe, though, are some definitely "mad Russians" who do call each other "comrade."

"FIRST NIGHTERS see—'Silk Stockings'" also provided an interesting response. No, this is not the take-off of the well-known fore-gone radio program by that name. The production "Silk Stockings" is the annual spring production of the BOB Players.

The Players puts on two musicals a year. This production, will be seen May 17, 18 and 19 in the Barrington High School. "First Nighters" merely suggested that theater goers see the first performance this Friday.

Ticket outlets for the production are available at Marsala's Finer Foods, Palatine, Randhurst Ticket Booth at Randhurst Shopping Center, or Carousel Travel and Tours Inc., Barrington, or by calling Sigrid Doren, 392-4003. (Bill

This concert is sponsored by the Arlington Heights Chapter of Modern Music Masters, the National Honor Music Society, and Lyon and Healy, Randhurst. (Bill

Non-Profit Gallery Reflects Growing Interest for Art

The May exhibit of watercolors and garden sculpture at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner, Arlington Heights, has focused attention upon the growing interest of the community in this non-profit gallery, according to Mrs. James Imbrie Jr. of Palatine, who is in charge of arrangements for the garden sculpture.

Mr. and Mrs. Imbrie are patrons of the Countryside Gallery and have lent active support to the art room since the opening Nov. 11, 1962.

Kurt Ledebuhr of Arlington Heights, a landscape architect associated with the Charles Klehm and Sons Nursery, Arlington Heights, is one of the experts who helped arrange this exhibit.

"He advised, guided and actively arranged most of the garden sculpture exhibit" said Mrs. Imbrie, "and was a most valuable aid in creating the springtime atmosphere of the show."

Another member of the northwest area who assisted in the show was Robert Schwake of the Schwake Stone Co., Des Plaines.

Mrs. Kenneth Wagner of Palatine, a gallery director in charge of the watercolors in the exhibit has indicated that almost all of the watercolors by stable gallery artists are new paintings shown for the first time.

These artists are Pat Amlin, Louise Elam, Sallie Gracey, Win Jones, Lois Roe, Irving Shapiro and Frieda Womeldorf. Guest watercolorist is Victor Ing of Morton Grove. In addition to sculpture by stable artists Harold Kerr and William Wimmer, many garden pieces are presented by guest sculptor Earl J. Hooks of Gary, Ind.

More touches of whimsy were provided by the sculptured pieces by William Wimmer, of Arlington Heights. Stable artist Harold Kerr of Palatine, contributed his share of humor with a bronze resembling winged birds, titled "Hitchcock Where Are You?" and a tall metal column topped by a gold leaf, called "A Leaf For Eve."

Lois Roe is represented with a number of newly-created watercolors, many of them depicting scenes in and around Palatine. Louise Elam and Frieda Womeldorf have also created many new watercolors.

This May exhibit will continue through May 30 and gallery hours are Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. The Countryside Gallery is located in Arlington Heights. (Bill

Elks' Frolics Debut At Arlington Tonight

PLAYING THE "Three Blind Mice" in the Elks Frolics being presented for the first time tonight, Thursday, at Arlington High School are Marilyn Raedel, Colleen Zenk and Patricia Strother. They are accompanied in the photo by Mrs. Robert Hutchinson, who plays the farmer's wife. (Staff Photo (BILL

Tonight, Thursday, is the first performance of the Arlington Heights Elks Frolics "If the Shoe Fits," a professionally-directed show starring a cast of over 80 local Elks and their wives.

The show is divided into two parts, the first being a fast-moving Broadway type revue and the second an old-fashioned minstrel, with prominent members of the lodge as the "End Men."

The minstrel is being directed by the Rogers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio, which has produced more minstrels than any other organization in the world.

THERE ARE also a number of special features in the Frolics including Delores Eiler's Dancers, who have been practicing on their special routines for several weeks, and the local Barber Shoppers.

According to Bob Gregory, the Rogers Company's professional director, the show will probably amaze the audience as to its degree of professionalism.

Gregory said, "The group of people in the cast have worked tirelessly for three weeks and all have attained the same kind of a feeling for this show that the professionals get just before the opening of a Broadway show."

HE ALSO stated that the cast, though large, has been extremely easy to work with and have shown an enthusiasm and interest in perfecting all of the details of the show more than most groups he has worked with.

Tonight is student night. Tickets are priced at 75 cents for students and $1.50 for adults.

The Friday and Saturday night performances are priced at $1.50 for general admission and $2 for the reserved seating.

TO OBTAIN TICKETS, telephone Norb West, CL 9-3829, Bob Sabin, CL 5-2338, Tony Tamaso, CL 5-4102, or Sheldon McCandless, FL 8-3247.

Tickets will also be available at the door. (Bill

Reveal New Policy At Santa's Village

Santa's Village in Dundee has announced a new admission policy. Jack Morningstar, general manager of the amusement park on Rt. 25, explains the new policy:

"Any family coming to Santa's Village starting with this weekend, will pay the regular admission of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and will then be presented with a pass good for six months for the entire family.

"These family passes can be used as often as the family wishes during the summer."

Morningstar pointed out that Santa's Village has held to the admission charge during its past five years of operation because of the tremendous cost of keeping the animals, and other atmospheric extras which make Santa's Village unique. (Bill

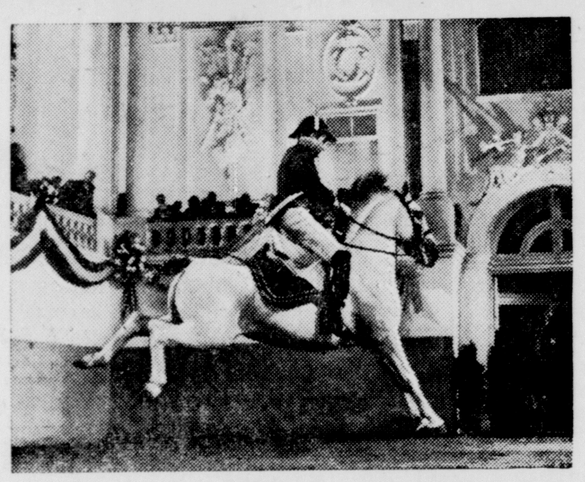
Ice Rink to Stay Open In Summer

The Polar Dome, with its regulation-sized hockey rink, will continue its public skating and hockey clinics throughout the summer months, it was announced by Jack Morningstar, general manager of Santa's Village and the Polar Dome.

There will be public skating sessions each Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Each Saturday from 9 a.m. to Noon, boys' hockey clinics are held with instructors from various hockey teams in the area giving instructions.

ALSO, ON Wednesday nights the ice is reversed for all speed skaters in the Chicago area, who wish to keep their "skating legs" alive during the summer months.

Morningstar said several Black Hawk players have been signed to hold a special hockey school in August. More details will be announced before school closes in the Chicago area.



THE DES PLAINES THEATRE opens this Friday with a double feature program that will appeal to children as well as the young at heart. The above scene is from Walt Disney's technicolor feature, "Miracle of The White Stallions," one of the great untold stories of World War II. Robert Taylor, Lilli Palmer, Curt Jurgens, Eddie Albert and James Franciscus. Co-featured is Edgar Allan Poe's, "The Raven," which stars Vincent Price, Peter Lorre and Boris Karloff. Both films are in color. Opens Friday on the wide brilliant screen of the Des Plaines Theatre.

Modern Etiquette

Q. I have been asked to pour tea at an afternoon social in the near future. How long am I supposed to remain at the tea table?

A. Just so long as the guests are arriving and asking for tea.

He 'Styles' His Date

Suburb Youth Learns Style Design

WHEN HE ISN'T attending school, Gammon Payne works for the Pile Swimming Pool Co., in Elk Grove Village, doing many kinds of manual labor. Above he is shown at work crating fibre glass parts of a pool to be delivered to a customer. He performs various types of work for the company, including digging, laying tile, grouting or any other job necessary for the installation of a pool. Gammon especially likes working for the company as he is an avid swimmer and interested in anything that has to do with this or any other type of sport.

Designing Is Big Business

by MELDA LYNN

While most American girls can be assured the thrill of attending a spring prom — complete with a special dress — and proper escort, it isn't every girl that can have her gown designed and made for the occasion by her special escort!

However, that's the thrill experienced recently by Ellen Rombs, a Mundelein College freshman from Mount Prospect.

Ellen attended her college spring prom dressed in a yellow full-length formal gown designed and made by her escort, Gammon Payne, 712 S. Hi-Lusi, Mount Prospect.

GAMMON IS a student in the Ray Vogue School of Fashion Design in Chicago where he is learning the art of designing beautiful, smart and tasteful apparel for women.

During the recently completed first of the four 20 week semesters, he has already made several garments for Ellen which have caused a flurry of excitement among her friends.

Ellen trained for a career in modeling before she entered Mundelein and is a great asset to Gammon as a model for his fashions.

THE "SIGNATURE" SKIRT made for Ellen by Gammon Payne made quite a hit with her college classmates. The skirt, made of muslin, features rows of rick rack and has space for the signatures of her friends.

ELLEN COMBS models the gown she wore to the Mundelein College Spring Prom which was designed and made for her by Mount Prospect fashion design student Gammon Payne. The gown is of yellow silk organza over yellow rayon brocade and features a slit skirt and low back.

THE FIRST fashion he designed for Ellen was a muslin "signature" skirt. One of his instructors remarked that during the school's 27 years of fashion shows, no one had ever made a garment out of muslin for inclusion in the show.

Gammon accepted the challenge and came up with a skirt of muslin on which he sewed many rows of black, gold and red rickrack. Between the rows he left sufficient space so Ellen's classmates could put their signatures.

The skirt made a hit at the school's fashion show and also with Ellen's friends, who all want one "just like it."

ANOTHER eye-catching costume he designed for Ellen is a black and oyster-white jumper which he named the "hourglass." The back and front panels are of white and the sides of black.

He is currently making a dress for his mother which features panels of silk ranging from soft yellow to green-yellow, which promises to be both smart and comfortable.

The local fashion student is a graduate of Arlington High School. He is the son of longtime Mount Prospect residents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Payne.

AFTER graduation from high school, Gammon attended his father's alma mater, Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio. He quit after one semester because, like the majority of high school graduates, he did not really know what field of work he wanted to go into for life.

He decided he would try to make a decision and then go back to school to study for a career, only after he was sure what he wanted to do.

He has worked at several different places offering him a wide variety of opportunities to test his skills and interests.

DURING THE past two summers he has worked as a laborer for the Pile Swimming Pool Co. in Elk Grove Village. He has always been an expert swimmer and interested in sports of all kinds.

He is currently working for the company and will continue throughout this summer until he again enters school in the fall. He does many kinds of work including laying tile, grouting, digging and crating fibre glass pieces of pools.

In the wintertime, when the swimming pool business is slack, he has worked in retail sales establishments.

In seeking to find the career field most suited to his talents, Gammon decided to take aptitude and interest tests. Results showed that he should be happiest in some work in the field of art. After visiting art schools and learning the many facets of the art world, he decided there was a "wide-open" opportunity for males in the field of fashion design.

SCHOOL DAYS are eight hours each and include not only actual designing and making of patterns and fashions, but lecture courses and study in the general field of fashion history.

History's effect on past and present fashion, students learn, is an important part of fashion design. By studying the fashions of ancient Greece, France, Babylonia and other cultures, eras and standards of living, the students are able to pick up ideas to be incorporated in their designs.

They study color charts, accessories and materials and the suitability of each in the over-all fashion picture. They learn the fibre contents of materials, their draping qualities and suitability. They are encouraged to try new ways with old materials and to even use drapery materials or other fabrics for their fashions which might bring about different approaches.

When students learn the basic color charts and necessary background for fabric uses, they are taught to do eight basic sewing stiches and must complete 24 inches of each stitch before beginning to make an actual garment.

THE FIRST step in designing a costume begins on the drawing board where the fashion is sketched in minute detail. Then a muslin pattern is made to the measurements of the person for whom the garment is to be made. After the muslin is fitted and sewed to the model's exact measurements, it is taken apart and a paper pattern made. This is used when the material is cut. Students learn that there is even an art to cutting fabrics correctly.

Then each garment is sewed together with all but the main seams done by hand. Even zippers are put in by hand and all seams are overcast with a hand stitch. Each garment is lined.

When Gammon completes his two-year course he will become an apprentice in a fashion house either in Chicago, New York, or California—or even Paris, Rome or other fashion center of the world.

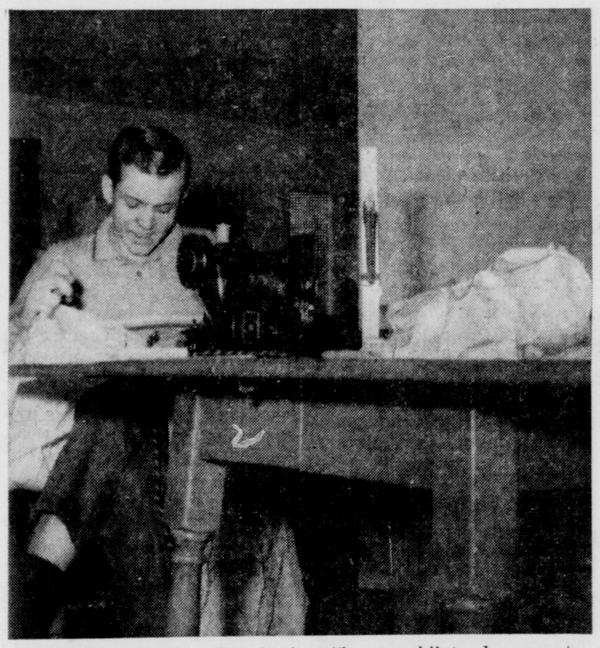
His hope is to then have his own house of fashion.

FROM STRIDES he has already made in this field of art, his work is becoming well-known throughout the northwest suburban area and women are clamoring to get him to place their names on a list of prospective customers — to be first in line when he does step out on his own.

Gammon says he believes men make better designers than women because they have an eye for what looks good on a woman and are not as bound by tradition as women. He thinks a woman designer is apt to design only what she thinks she would want to wear.

"Women want to look nice for both men and other women — and they want to be comfortable at the same time," the on-the-way designer claims.

He is definite in his appraisal of the opportunities for men in the world of women's fashion design. He is confident that American men are able to out-design — out-sew — and out-imagine any of those of other countries — and he, for one, is out to prove it.



GAMMON PAYNE, when he has "homework" to do converts the dining room into a sewing room at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Payne, 712 S. HiLusi, Mount Prospect. Above he is shown as he puts the finishing touches on the full length formal gown he designed and made for Ellen Combs. Gammon is currently a student of fashion design in the Ray Vogue School of Fashion Design, Chicago.

Psychologist Spends Time Playing Games

by DR. GERARD G. NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman,

We took our son to a psychologist for treatment, but all he did was play games in the office. I know I have to do something about my son, but I don't know what. He is rude to his mother and me, he fights with his brothers and sisters, and he's doing failing work in school, although he could be a good student if he would try.

DR. NEUMAN

Someone has to show him that he can't go on this way, but playing games is hardly the way to make him do better. We are considering sending him to a private school, if we can find one that will enforce the necessary discipline. Perhaps you can suggest something else we can try?

Mr. W.

If more and stricter discipline were the answer, Mr. W., I'm sure you and your wife have done as well as anyone could. Apparently discipline has not worked. It would not be doing anything to help him. Since your son was seen by a psychologist, who began treatment, I would suggest that you plan to continue.

It is often hard for parents to understand how play therapy helps children to work out their problems.

Children don't have as much ability as adults do to use words to express their feelings. If you ask them, they can't tell you wnat is bothering them. Their "bad" or "problem" behavior is their way of telling you that something is wrong.

In treating children, we can't rely on words alone. Play is the natural way for a child to approach situations, to test out and explore and to act out feelings of fear and hope, love and hate.

Play during the treatment hour is different from a child's usual play. The child soon learns that this hour is his. He has the choice of what he wants to do and how he wants to do it. The atmosphere is different. He doesn't have to worry about what he should or should not do or how he is supposed to behave. Hidden thoughts and fears can now appear.

FROM OBSERVING the child at play, the therapist is continually deepening his understanding of the difficulties. At the same time, as he either watches or enters into the games, he can tailor his responses in ways that will be most helpful to that particular child. How he plays or does not play, whether he wins or loses, whether he sets firm rules or keeps them flexible, depend on his growing understanding of the individual child and what he needs from the relationship to help him overcome his difficulties.

Play is the language by which therapist and child communicate, bu the important tool that the therapist uses is his relationship with the child. Through the relationship the child gets help in gradually finding better and more successful ways of behaving.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Butt of All Pranks

I have reached the conclusion from years of observation and participation that children all have a bit of the savage in them. There is a little girl in our neighborhood who, if she doesn't develop a trauma, at least will have a rather distorted view of the opposite sex.

MARY

Unfortunately, from her point of view, the pre-school set in this block is composed entirely of male animals. Except for this browneyed curly haired little witch. She is most appealing, tiny and cute as a bug on a rug and these boys treat her as no dog should be treated.

She is the butt of all their pranks. She acts as punching bag, fall guy and schnook for them and bounces back for more. That is, she comes back for more after she has taken a wailing run home to her mother. Don't get the idea that all of us Mamas to all of these boys condone these goings on but it is difficult to keep track of them all the time.

Just the other day I watched a pretty sight. Two little male fiends not mine thank goodness, stationed themselves in one yard and cautioned her to stay in hers as this was going to a fun, fun game and they were going to let her play. Wouldn't that be fun? The game turned out to be I'll tell you a secret type of thing. One of the boys would go up to her, lean over as though to whisper in her ear and then smash her a good oneand run. Would you believe it? The little idiot was so happy to have them play with her at all she just kept taking it. Until an adult broke up the fun pretty darned soon, you betcha.

Today's episode wasn't quite so sad. It seems that my son and his buddy had, after a long and difficult search, found a worm for themselves. Little Miss, feeling that anything they did or had must perforce by both glamorous and desirable, wanted to hold their worm. You can see how far gone she is as most little girls hriek bloody murder at the sight of one. The boys cruelly informed her that worms were for boys and not for girls. Thereby breaking her heart and sending her wailing home.

With visions of worms hiding out in the jeans, I informed the lads that worms were not for boys either. Worms are for ground. And fish. And the birds.

Macau Perfect for Restful Vacation and Sightseeing

by ELISE KAZANJIAN

CHILDHOOD IS A tradtionally happy time and this trouser-clad Chinese girl in Macau doesn't let her baby-sitting responsibilities interfere with her reading. Many of the Chinese women of Macau wear the convenient baby sling and go about their daily chores toting the youngest of the family with them.

MACAU — It's truly amazing to think that eight square miles of land could be so steeped in historical background and antiquity that it represents a living museum. But it is indeed, for Macau, a small peninsula with two neighboring islands, Taipa and Coloane, belongs to Portugal and her history dates back to 1557, rports the Pacific Area Travel Association.

Founded in mid-16th century, this Portuguese province is the oldest foreign settlement in China. Macau was awarded to the Portuguese by a grateful Peking emperor for the part they played in keeping the Province free from marauding pirates in the South China Seas. It has always served as port of refuge and the persecuted still come there to find the peace they are seeking. Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, lived there at one time and the Spanish styled house he occupied can still be seen. The population of Macau is nearly a half million and the Chinese constitute over three quarters of that number.

MACAU IS only a few minutes by air and three hours by ferry from Hong Kong. Visitors coming from the hustle and nervous activity of the British Crown Colony will be disappointed if they expect thrills in this province. But the lover of antiquities will find pleasure in visiting the museums, old ruins and cemeteries which chronicle the history of Macau. The Leal Senado, or town hall, constructed in 1876 contains the oldest European Public Library in the Far East and contains over 30,000 volumes, some of which date back four centuries.

Many tourists who climb the magnificent sweeping steps leading to the ruins of St. Paul's Church for a glimpse of the old city often ignore the fact that the ruins themselves have a fascinating story to tell. Only the facade of the church is left and it almost looks like the false front of a Hollywood set. Finished in 1602 by Japanese Christians, the cathedral burned down in 1835. The remaining facade is a masterpiece of architecture interpreting Christian thought with Oriental background. Baroque style bas reliefs adorn the front in three ornate tiers.

Situated on the isthmus which connects Macau to the mainland is the ancient stone arch barrier, Portas do Cerco. The red and green flag of Portugal waves breezily over the arch while on the other side the red flag of Communist China warns all tourists to stay away. The barrier was built in 1849 and replaced the ruined wall that the Chinese had erected in 1573.

THERE ARE guards stationed at this entry point which divides China from Macau and visitors are not allowed beyond this point. Cameras are also verboten at this spot for you are closer to Communist China here than you will ever be in Hong Kong or the New Territories. The barrier is also the chief point of entry for Chinese refugees escaping from the mainland, and although it is closely patrolled by guards, there are many refugees who successfully cross the border every day.

There are several temples worth visiting in Macau and one of them is the Ma Kwok Temple built before the Portuguese came to Macau. Another temple dating the Portuguese is Kun Yam, honoring the Goddess of Mercy. Located in the midst of its quiet garden is a stone table commemorating the signing of the first peace treaty between the United States and China in 1844. The grotto of Camoens Gardens is nearby and it was here that Camoens, Portugal's great poet wrote his epic poem, Os Lusiadas.

The grotto is also known as the site of experiments carried out by La Perouse, the French scientist, who conducted the first experiment in magnetism in 1775. A small museum adjoins the garden where old paintings of early Macau, Chinese and Portuguese war weapons, and early examples of Oriental furniture, pottery and bronzeware are on display.

FOR AN excellent panoramic view of Macau and the bay, a drive around Guia Hill is recommended. The lighthouse and chapel in the Fort of Guia may be visited with permission of the authorities. The winding road is also the site of the Macau Grand Prix held each November. This event is one of the world's most exciting sports car races and huge crowds assemble to watch the thrills and spills which inevitably occur.

Tourists who find gambling an exciting pastime should visit the Central Hotel where a casino, Oriental style, flourishes. The local game of fan tan and Ku Sik are extremely popular but learn the simple rules first before you attempt to join in the fun.

Tea at Wieboldts For Model, Moms

MODELING MAY 4 AT WIEBOLDT'S, Randhurst, were Forest View High School students, Nancy Novello, Sharyn Washburn and Barbara Imsenik.

Wieboldt's High School Fashion Board members and their mothers were honored last week in the Randhurst Store at the new store's first Mother's Day tea.

Sepaker was Mrs. Grace Peters, who spoke on "Fashion with a Flair." "To be well dressed," Mrs. Peters told the guests, "does not necessarily mean that you spend a fortune on clothes; it is how wise a choice you make when you buy that first item." She advised the girls to formulate a fashion blueprint, not to make hasty decisions and to buy the best their budgets will allow to avoid regrets. She also cautioned the girls to choose colors wisely.

Modelling informally in the store May 4 were Forest View High School board member, Sharyn Washburn and Nancy Novello and Barbara Imsenik.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, has been set as the date for the group's summer fashion show, "Ship Ahoy." Scheduled for 7:30 p.m., the show will be held in the coat department and will feature fashions for summer, sun and action.

Modeling will be Susan Johnson, Kathy Boyd and Leah Strehlow from Arlington High School; Ellen Harrison, Lois Miller and Sharyn Washburn from Forest View; Holly Alexander and Jerilyn Tabbert from Palatine; Pam Cameron, Sally Godenrath and Karen Harris from Prospect and Donna Weidner from Sacred Heart of Mary High School. (S

NOW LIVING IN BENSENVILLE since their late wedding in the First Methodist Church of Palatine are the Wayne Lee Howells. The bride is the former Betty Marie Cole, daughter of the Major Coles of Palatine, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Melville of Itasca. The bride chose a chantilly lace gown and a 3-tiered veil held by a pearl crown, and her attendants, Annette Schroeder, Beverly Howell and Antoinette Cole, were dressed alike in lilac sheer over taffeta. A reception followed the double ring rites in Salk Creek Country Club.

On Committee

On the executive committee planning the annual spring luncheon for Clarke College alumnae, is Mrs. N. E. Willging, 509 S. Hi Lusi, Mount Prospect. The luncheon will be held May 25 at the Homestead in Maywood. (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Friendly Dentist

Dear Peg:

One of my favorite men, besides Dr. Spock, Albert Schweitzer and Peter Lawford, is my dentist. Not only is he friendly, nice and handsome, but Ray is also an excellent dentist — I know because he doesn't hurt me. You see, we just came around to my turn recently, after I had managed successfully to put it off for a year. After all, the children should come first (particularly when it's going to the dentist) and all five needed attention of one kind or another.

McARDLE

With teeth like mine (a filling in every one) a year is a long time to wait and the more time that passed, the more worried I became that they'd all have to come out when I eventually did get myself into the office. So, I literally shoved all the kids in ahead of me — because I'm a good mother! Well, I needn't have been afraid at all. In fact the first visit was just a friendly one with the X-Ray machine. When I walked in for my second appointment I insisted, with as much determination as I could muster, "Now, Ray, no matter what's in those pictures, I don't want you to pull any teeth out!"

In his nice fashion he smiled that sweet smile that says: you might as well keep quiet, because we're going to do whatever has to be done anyway. However, he then told me the good news that I only had about six cavaties — so this doesn't sound like good news to you, it did to me since I was seeing myself with a complete set of false teeth!

With my jaw set, a good grip on the chair arms and my eyes squeezed shut, I waited for the drill. In a year, I guess I'd forgotten that the drills now have a nice, fast sort of zing ing sound of the old sand-blasters. And with sound to them; I still remember the loud grindwater running over the drill all the time, there isn't that old smell of burning teeth — well, that's the way it always smelled to me.

Before I could get my jaw relaxed, my eyes open and my hands unlocked from the chair arms, it was over — and it didn't hurt at all. Now, Ray might have tricked me (you can't always trust these doctors and tentists) and did just a little one first — saving a big one for the next time. No, he wouldn't do that — or would he?

My love,
Patty

Travel Tips

Lake of Ozarks is Perfect in Spring

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

May and early June or September and October are my favorite seasons for visiting that manmade wonder, the Lake of the Ozarks, and its surrounding resort area. The crowds are thinner than in mid - summer, the weather is warm and sunny while nights are brisk, and in the spring the dogwood adds to the beauty of the hills.

Lake of the Ozarks came in being in 1931 with the completion of Bagnell Dam. It is one of America's largest, with a width of from one to three miles, a main channel length of 129 miles and an incredible 1,375 miles of twisting shoreline.

ALTHOUGH there are more than 400 resorts in the area, ranging from the simplest to the most luxurious, many are tucked away in wooded areas and, particularly early and late in the season, the impression is not yet one of overcommercialism. The winding shoreline makes possible "hidea w a y" resorts where quiet is attainable. On the other hand, there is always plenty to do if one is so inclined.

Bagnell Dam is located on U. S. Highway 54, 42 miles southwest of Missouri's capital, Jefferson City. The dam area is the starting point of the resort area. The dam itself, constructed to hold back the Osage River and its tributaries, is open for guided tours seven days a week, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. There is no admission charge. For information regarding special events of the area write to Bagnall Dam Chamber of Commerce, Lake Ozark, Missouri.

ABOUT 18 miles southwest of the dam is Camdenton, hub city of the Lake of the Ozarks area. It is there that the Heart of America Square Dance Festival is held each June. Additional claims to fame include that of white bass capital of the middle west.

At Camdenton is the famous Bridal Cave, but since caves afflict me with claustrophobia I can only tell you that 100,000 people viewed its rock formations last year. If caves are your dish of tea, Jacob's Cave, between Gravois Mills and Versailles, is also acclaimed for the beauty and color of its rocks.

Sunrise Beach and Eldon are other towns in the resort area. Surrounding all of these towns are resorts and lodges all offering year-around fishing, water sports and beautiful scenery. Resorts are so numerous that making a choice is difficult. If poring over travel folders gives you vicarious pleasure, and profusion does not confuse you, write to the Lake of the Ozarks Association, Inc., Lake Ozark, Missouri. That organization will not only send you a large and colorful booklet of the entire area, but your name will be passed on to resorts which belong to the association. Your mailbox will soon be crammed with folders and you'll have a large choice of destination for your spring trip to the Ozarks.

It's about 435 miles from Chicago to the starting point of the Lake of the Ozarks area.

If you have never seen the great Lake you've missed one of our midwest's lovliest nature spots. Once you have visited it, it will probably lure you back again and again, for its size arouses one's curiosity and further explorations are tempting to the imagination. (T

Spring Is Time To Clean Curtains

Spring housecleaning is no longer the all-out effort of grandmother's day when all the linens, curtains and rugs were hung outside for an airing, and every nook and cranny from attic to basement cleaned.

However modern homemakers do find May and June to be the practical time to clean closets, rearrange drawers, send the curtains, draperies and rugs to the dry cleaners.

Curtains and draperies should be cleaned at least once annually, advises the Chicago Dry Cleaners Association. They point out that spring is the logical time so that accumulated grime and dirt from radiator heat and industrial fumes can be removed to lengthen the life of the window coverings.

TO FURTHER increase the length of curtain usefulness, the Association passes along these expert tips:

Reverse top and bottom when rehanging, if the design of the curtain permits.

To evenly distribute exposure of sunlight, change the position of curtains from one window to another.

Do not permit curtains to flap at open windows. This snags curtains and may cause holes that mending cannot hide.

Do not allow curtains to become wet. The moisture, combined with radiator heat, can cause sizing rings which become ugly yellow streaks or circles. (S

Sorority Activities

Teas, Picnic, Luncheon Are On Gamma Phi Beta's Agenda

Northwest Suburban Gamma Phi Betas will discuss three big projects at their monthly meeting Wednesday, May 22, at the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Donald Novaria, 716 S. Dryden.

Most immediate of the projects is a series of "No Strings" teas or coffees which Gamma Phi alumnae from Park Ridge to Barrington will hold this spring and summer. The women hope to acquaint presently inactive alums in the Northwest area with the alumnae rushing program and how recommendations for young women going to college in the fall.

It is also hoped that women from newer towns such as Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, and Elk Grove Village will learn of the existence of the Northwest Suburban group and thus meet other area Gamma Phis.

ON THE SOCIAL side of the ledger is the annual couples picnic. This year the party will be held July 6 at the home of Mrs. Richard Impey, Arlington Heights.

Biggest item ahead for Gamma Phi Betas from the Northwest suburbs is the party for which they will serve as hostesses at the 1964 national convention at French Lick, Ind. Mrs. Robert Green, Palatine, president, has returned from a regional conference at Madison, where she volunteered her group's services as co-hostesses with women from the Western suburbs for a luncheon.

This will mean planning the menu and creating a theme that may be carried out with centerpieces, place cards, favors and program covers for 400 women. Once the theme has been decided, the work will begin when the Gamma Phis start collecting favors and making table decorations.

BETA SIGMA PHI

Arlington Heights Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi celebrated the 32nd anniversary of the organization's founding May 1 with a banquet held in Old Orchard Country Club.

The first chapter was formed in Abilene, Kan., and there are now 7,000 chapters and 150,000 members in 14 countries.

In addition to the banquet, traditional ceremonies were observed. The history of the local chapter was reviewed and four members, Mrs. Regis Balkey, Mrs. Donald Faflik, Mrs. Ross Blodgett, and Mrs. Donald Becker of Arlington Heights received their Ritual of Jewels degree.

Mrs. Frank Weidl of Arlington Heights served as chairman of the banquet and toastmistress for the evening was Mrs. Barnard Bird, also of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Lester Turman presented a special message from the sorority's founder which she received from International Headquarters in Kansas City. It was the central event of the evening and the culmination of the program. The Girl of the Year award was presented to Mrs. Barnard Bird for her outstanding achievments for the past year.

ALPHA PHI

Election of officers for the coming year will highlight the Thursday, May 16, meeting of Alpha Phi Northwest Suburban Alumnae. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. Robert Trochuck.

All area alumnae are invited and may call Mrs. Trochuck at CL 3-6299.

Plans also will be made for a couples barbecue to be held in June.

CHI OMEGA

At 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, Northwest Suburban Chi Omega Alumnae will hold their annual installation of officers and a white elephant auction in the home of Mrs. Verne Whitnell, 433 Banbury, Arlington Heights.

Newcomers to Sponsor Benefit Card Party

The schools of Comas, Peru, sister city of Arlington Heights, will be recipients of sewing machines purchased with proceeds of a benefit card party to be held at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, May 22 in Pioneer Park Field House. Sponsor of the party is the Arlington Heights Newcomers Club.

Dessert will be served at 8, preceding the evening of cards.

THE FRIENDLY "city to city" relations between Arlington Heights and Comas, depicted on the cover of the current local Illinois Bell Telephone directory, were established only a few years ago. The gift of sewing machines from the card party proceeds will be one of the first major projects resulting from this relationship.

The party is open to all residents of the area, whether newcomers or not. Mrs. John E. Cornell, 392-3085, or Mrs. Laddie Janda, 259-1209, may be called for tickets.

Members of the club voted for a new slate of officers during their monthly luncheon May 8 in Old Orchard Country Club. Candidates were introduced and ballots were placed in a sealed box until further voting at the May 15 meeting.

Bridge winners of the afternoon were Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Mrs. James Roe and Mrs. C. Peterson. Canasta winners were Mrs. Robert Novy and Mrs. Stephen McDonald. Mrs. Clarence Nast and Mrs. Fred Bade were pinochle winners.

A coffee for new members will be held in the home of Mrs. Robert Potts, Tuesday, May 28.

IFWC Forest Trail A 'First' for Clubs

Members of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs gathered Wednesday morning to dedicate the Rim Rock Forest Trail in Shawnee National Forest in Southern Illinois. The Trail is the first to be sponsored and financed in any national forest by a women's organization.

Mrs. H. L. Berthold Jr. of Arlington Heights, a past president of the Arlington Woman's Club and currently garden chairman for the Illinois Federation, was among those who "took to the Trail" for the dedication. It was during her term as Conservation Chairman of IFWC that the idea of sponsoring a Trail was formulated and financed.

MRS. BERTHOLD spoke at a pre-dedication dinner in Carbondale, her subject being on wild flowers of that area, as well as other vegitation along the forest trail.

Highlight of the dedication ceremony was the planting of the 3-millionth tree, a symbolic gesture of the IFWC that culminates its efforts since 1934 in planting trees on 3,000 acres of pine plantations within the Shawnee. (S

Clean Bath In Rush With Brush

When you're giving your home its top-to-bottom spring cleaning, don't neglect that much-used bathroom. Even though it gets regular care all year long, you'll want to set this time aside to banish some of the special soil problems that have accumulated over the winter.

All it takes to clean ceramic wall tile is a quick soap-and-water washing. But, if the grouting between the tiles have become grey and dingy, they'll need special attention.

ADD A little bleach to your suds, and scrub well with a brush.

If hard water has made its mark on your bathtub or sink, try this. Make a paste of cream of tartar and lemon juice, and apply it to the hard water stain.

Let it stand for a minute or two then brush vigorously and rinse.

FOR STUBBORN rust stains on bathroom fixtures, this home remedy should do the job. Mix a thick solution of powdered blackboard chalk and household ammonia. Use dish brush to apply this solution to the fuxtures. Scrub thoroughly, rinse, and the rust stains should disappear.(S

'Normal' Couples Lead Dull Lives

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — So called "normall married couples" lead "essentially mundane and dull lives," a psychiatrist said here last week.

Dr. Jules S. Golden, associate professor of psychiatry at the Albany Medical College, Albany, N. Y., said the average couple raised well - adjusted children but "showed little imagination, few interests and had constricted personalities.

Golden said this was the finding of a study he made with Dr. Reuben Silber, Albany College psychologist, and Dr. Nathan Mandel, now of the Minnesota Department of Corrections.

GOLDEN told the American Psychiatric Association that wives rated "more normal" than their husbands but both sexes were low on "richness of personality."

They selected for testing 50 men found perfectly normal 12 years ago, while ninth grade pupils in the Minneapolis schools.

Among questions asked were: What would you do if given $5 million? Most replies were "invest it," or "Buy a house," the authors said, which they felt was a lack of imagination.

Bachelors didn't fare any better. The two men studied who were found to be "significantly disturbed" in adulthood had remained unmarried. (SF

Population Explosions Hit Women

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — Dr. Jerome M. Kummer of Los Angeles said the desire to avert what he called "Personal population explosions" is so great among American women that as many as one in every five pregnancies may end in criminal abortion.

Krummer, associate professor of clinical psychiatry at the University of California said the incidence of abortion is so high that it appears to be "part of our social mores, with society steadfastly refusing to acknowledge it."

Kummer addressed the closing session Friday of the American Psychiatric Association convention. He said the only ways to reduce the almost instinctive drift toward more criminal abortions, were to provide physicians with legal guides for therapeutic abortion or to disseminate contraceptive information widely. State Says Canned Tuna Safe to Eat

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — The consumption of canned tuna fish in Illinois has dropped 50 per cent due to the recent "scare created by the unfortunate death of two Detroit, Mich., women who were victims of food poisoning," the Illinois Agriculture Department said last week.

Ray Cowperthwaite, superintendent of the department's division of foods and dairies, said there "never was any reason for particular concern in Illinois." He said none of the shipment of contaminated tuna fish from the West Coast packer was sent into Illinois.

There is absolutely no reason to suspect any tuna now on grocery shelves, or in wholesale warehouses, as carefully conducted laboratory analysis by state foods and dairies chemists have found no canned tuna containing any harmful bacteria."

Brush Soil Out Of Laundry First

Ground-in dirt and body oils are frequent laundering problems. Pre-treatment to loosen the soil will help make sure that "everything comes out in the wash."

Attack the problem areas with a soft-bristled brush and thick suds or concentrated liquid detergent.

Let the suds "set" on the fabric for five or ten minutes before washing in the usual way.

Louise Berge Is Bride Of Lowell W. Oakland

Following their April 20 wedding and a week's honeymoon in the Ozarks, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Wayne Oakland are residing at 2004 St. James St., Rolling Meadows. They repeated their vows before Rev. Edgar H. Behrens in Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, in a 3 o'clock, double ring service. The bride is the former Louise Beverly Berge, daughter of the Conrad Berges, 908 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Agnes Oakland of Cloquet, Minn.

Vases of white glads decorated the church for the service during which Mr. Berge gave his daughter in marriage. Soloist was Ruth Kirchoff, who sang "O Promise Me" accompanied by Theodore Lams on the organ.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin peau de soie fashioned with chapel train, scooped neckline and long sleeves, and trimmed with lace and beading. Her crown was of white beading and held a fingertip veil. Lily of the valley, white carnations and a center purple orchid made up her bridal bouquet.

HER ATTENDANTS, Miss Beverly Nowak of Arlington Heights as maid of honor, and the Misses Patricia Marciri of Mount Prospect, Patricia Devitt of Rolling Meadows and Maureen Lynn of Des Plaines as bridesmaids, were in ice blue, satin peau de soie, street length dresses with cropped jackets. They carried cascades of pink carnations.

Harvey Oakland of St. Louis served as his brother's best man and ushers were the bride's cousins, Roger Stavren and Steve Amundson of Chicago, and Robert Anderson of Des Plaines, a friend.

A RECEPTION for 150 guests was held in Palatine Fireman's Hall where Mrs. Berge received in a rose pink, chiffon, street-length dress and Mrs.

Oakland in a peacock blue, satin peau de soie, street-length dress. Both mothers complemented their dresses with white orchid corsages.

The new Mrs. Oakland was graduated from Arlington High School and is employed in the accounting department of Illinois Bell Telephone Company. The groom was graduated from Cloquet schools and is with a Des Plaines dry wall company.

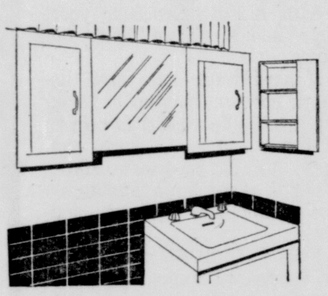
IT'S AN IDEA HOME DECORATIONS



Keeping a small bathroom neat is a problem for any homemaker. There just isn't enough storage space for things that must be kept in this room.

A simple way to get more cabinet space is to realize that it is possible to have more than one medicine chest in the room. By simple rearrangement, it is possible to have chests on each side of the miror above the lavatory. Corners otherwise wasted can be utilized.

A third, or "extra" medicine chest, if there are children in the home, can be placed higher than the others, thus providing a safer place to store medicines and other items of potential danger to the youngsters.

Charlene Rehfeldt Is Bride of Californian

A former Arlington Heights girl who has been working in Hollywood, Calif., for the past year was married Easter Sunday in Beverly Hills Lutheran Church. Mr and Mrs. Charles Rehfeldt, 315 N. Pine Ave., went west to see their daughter, Charlene, married to Lloyd Sawyer of Los Angeles in 4 o'clock rites. Rev. G. Attwood performed the double ring ceremony.

For the simple nuptials the bride wore an Austrian wool suit with a white satin pillbox hat and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of white spring flowers.

THE BRIDE'S cousin, Mrs. Anthony McClure of Bakersfield, was her matron of honor. Her pale blue silk suit was complemented by matching accessories and a blue carnation bouquet.

Cheryl Rehfeldt, the bride's 9-year-old sister, was maid of honor in a yellow and white embroidered organdy dress. She carried a yellow carnation bouquet.

Witnessing the ceremony, the bride's mother wore an Italian knit navy and white suit with navy accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. L. W. Pardridge of Los Angeles, also chose navy blue for her attire, wearing a Dior suit with matching accessories. Both mothers had white corsages.

JOHN McDONALD of Los Angeles was best man, and two men from the bride's family ushered. They were her brother, Charles Rehfeldt Jr., who flew to the West Coast from Norwich Military University in Vermont, and Edward Rehfeldt Jr. of Bakersfield, her cousin.

Mrs. Pardridge was hostess at a champagne reception in her home immediately following the wedding. The couple then left for a honeymoon at Torrey Pines in LaJolla, Calif.

They are now at home at 1121 N. Curson in Los Angeles.

The bride is associated with Needham, Louis & Brorby Advertising, and was transferred from Chicago to the West Coast office a year ago. Her husband is an engineer for Douglas Aircraft Corp. of California. (S

Some 'Brittle Bones' Are Medical Mystery

Normally a person is born with about 206 bones which, of course, do not usually break unless there is rather severe pressure or injury. However, some people have a tendency to break one or more bones by merely sneezing, and these are the ones referred to as having "brittle bones."

Miss Tkach attended Fenton High School and is employed at Tri-Color Farms in Palatine. Her fiance was graduated from Palatine High School and is employed at the One-Hoss Shay in Palatine.

An August 11 wedding date has been set. (S

Mary Lou Ghera

Miss Mary Lou Ghera's engagement to Paul Otto, son of the Alfred H. Ottos, 204 N. Patton, Arlington Heights, has been announced by her parents, the Harry H. Gheras, 419 S. Emerson, Mount Prospect.

Miss Ghera was graduated from Arlington High School and is employed at Mount Prospect State Bank. Her fiance was graduated from Maryville and is now attending Kansas State University.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Normally a person is born with about 206 bones which, of course, do not usually break unless there is rather severe pressure or injury. However, some people have a tendency to break one or more bones by merely sneezing, and these are the ones referred to as having "brittle bones."

There are children who spend most of their childhood in hospitals mending their broken bones because of this brittle quality. Just why these bones are so brittle remains a mystery to medical science, for laboratory tests do not indicate a lack of minerals or other substances in the body, or even a deficiency of hormones, which are chemical substances normally produced in the body.

Even though the exact cause of this brittleness is not known, heredity seems to be a factor, since studies have revealed this characteristic in families.

BONES NORMALLY have a definite quality and straightness. In the femur, or thigh bone, for example, these characteristics provide proper support for the body. If the bone were to become crooked, however, it would break quite easily because the weight of the body and the pull of the surrounding muscles place it at a mechanical disadvantage. This is true of the normal shin bone, or tibia, and the arm bone called the humerus. On the other hand, not all crooked bones, such as bowed legs, are necessarily brittle.

Many medical and surgical procedures have been attempted to overcome the repeated fractures resulting from the brittle quality of the bones.

One that often proves successful is the removal of the bone from the body. For example, a femur is removed and cut into several sections and rearranged in an effort to obtain the straightest alignment. It may be necessary to turn some pieces end for end, or even rotate them. Then a metal rod is inserted to hold the pieces in line and to provide a slide support so they will not break so easily in the future.

WHEN THIS procedure is accomplished the bone is returned to its position in the leg and fastened to the growing ends of the bone, at the top and the bottom. The growing ends of the bone are never removed from the body, since these growing sections must remain in the body to renew again the growth of the bone.

This surgical technique brings out a new concept in that it is now possible to remove large portions of bone from the body, break them up into a new position so that they will continue to stay straight and heal solid.

Advances made in this technique may lead the way to progress in helping other conditions which affect bone and which, thus far, have resisted all efforts for correction. (S

Randhurst Council Plans 3rd Ann'l School of Instruction

"Let's Take a Good Look at PTA" is the theme of Randhurst Council of PTA's third annual school of instruction to be held at an all-day session May 23 in Mount Prospect Country Club.

Although it is the annual meeting, according to Mrs. Charles Nelson, this year's and next year's president of the council, reports of past activities will be kept to a minimum with emphasis being placed on how important each person who works in PTA is and the materials and services of PTA available to local groups and schools.

AFTER A BREAK for coffee Mrs. R. B. Yadon of Arlington Heights, PTA District 21 secretary; Kenneth Gill, Superintendent of the Wheeling Consolidated School District; and Mrs. Howard Hanks, member of the Wheeling Board of Education, will present their views of how PTA helps its members, its schools, and its communities.

During the luncheon break from noon to 1:30 Randhurst Council officers for the coming year will be installed by Mrs. Arnold LoMar, Director of PTA District 21.

The afternoon session will be devoted to workshops designed to help chairmen and committee members learn how to do their particular duties better and easier. Workshops will be held for presidents, secretaries, school education, programming, parent and family life, treasurer, budget and finance, ways and means, legislation, hospitality and room mothers, magazine and publications, health, mental health and exceptional child, publicity and historian, scholarship, membership, and safety.

"THE ENTIRE day has been planned," Mrs. Nelson says, "to assist new members of PTA executive boards for next year become well informed on PTA work, as well as to provide an enjoyable and profitable day for those completing a year of service.

"Special announcements and schedules for the day have been sent to all presidents and principals, and the five superintendents represented in the Council area are invited guests for the luncheon," she says.

The school of instruction sessions begin at 9:30 and end at 2:45. (S

Beef Puffs Made With Left Overs

With all the abundant beef at your meat counter these days, your family menus are likely to feature beef roasts and pot roasts often. And your refrigerator is likely to reveal a few leftovers to stimulate your cookery ingenuity.

Making something completely different from the roast that was served the first day can be fun. A second-day dish that draws praise from your family certainly boosts your ego, too.

THIS BEEF Puff recipe is guaranteed to do just that, states meat recipe authority Reba Staggs. The cooked beef is ground for a spread between two slices of bread. This soaks in a seasoned egg-milk mixture and then bakes until golden brown and puffy. Delicious!

BEEF PUFF

- 2 cups ground cooked beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 8 slices bread
- Butter or margarine, softened
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon sage

Grease a shallow 11 by 9-inch baking dish. Combine meat, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, parsley and mayonnaise. Spread 4 slices bread with butter or margarine.

Cover with meat mixture and top with slice of bread. Place sandwiches in baking dish. Combine eggs, milk, ¼ teaspoon salt and sage and mix well.

POUR OVER sandwiches and let stand in refrigerator at least an hour before baking. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes or until brown and puffed. Four servings. (SH

Summer Clothing Research News

In hot, humid weather you will be no hotter in Orlon or water-repellent cotton than in untreated cotton.

But, according to Mrs. Ruth Galbraith, University of Illinois textiles specialist, wearing Orlon or water-repellent cotton fabric next to the skin may make you more uncomfortable than will untreated cotton.

HERE'S WHY: A University of Illinois study comparing the three fabrics, all similarly constructed, showed no differences in the warmth of these fabrics. But the tests indicated more discomfort from the Orlon and water-repellent cotton fabrics than from the untreated cotton when worn next to the skin.

This discomfort was traced to the fact that neither the water-repellent cotton nor the Orlon fabric removed as much liquid moisture from the body as the untreated cotton.

The study was made with five women wearing suits of the three fabrics while seated in a room kept at 94 degrees F. and 80 per cent humidity. (S

Pan-American Fun

Texas Sombreros Rate High at Teen Parties

Ole!—to the cook who serves Texas Sombreros, a hearty American dish with the flavor of Old Mexico. The south-of-the-border flavor comes from the brim of "tostados"—packaged fried corn chips, and the sprinkling of chili powder.

Then Texas takes over the tostado, and fills it with that American favorite, ground beef, combined with tomato, green pepper and onion, and tops it with shredded lettuce, another authentic Mexican touch. The result: a meal-in-one that improves Pan-American and family relations at the same time.

THE FLAVOR of this recipe (or ground beef recipe)—can be improved by a few shakes of Ac'cent, pure monosodium glutamate. These white crystals derived from the sugar beet, have no taste, no odor, no flavor of their own.

But when they're added to ground beef, they bring out the meat's own natural flavor. Ac'cent should be used before cooking, to give it enough time to find the true, meat flavor. After the seasonings are added, the ground beef should be lightly tossed to distribute them thoroughly.

TEXAS SOMBREROS can be served as a main dish for luncheon or dinner. On a striped tablecloth with an inverted straw hat filled with flowers as a centerpiece, they're fun for teenage get-togethers. And easy enough for them to cook.

Or adapt Texas Sombreros into a hot hors d'oeuvres by spooning it into a large casserole, surrounded by plates of corn chip mounds. Guests simply dip in, then munch.

Either way, all hats are off to Texas Sombreros.

TEXAS SOMBREROS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 teaspoon Ac'cent
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- Corn chips
- ½ cup shredded lettuce

Break up meat with fork in mixing bowl. Sprinkle Ac'cent, salt, pepper and chili powder over surface of meat. Toss gently to distribute seasonings. Melt butter in skillet; add celery, onion and green pepper; cook until tender, but not brown.

Add beef and cook, breaking up with a fork, until browned. Stir in tomatoes and tomato paste. Simmer uncovered 30 minutes. Spoon each serving in a circle of corn chips; top each with approximately 2 tablespoons of lettuce. Yield: 4 servings. (SH

Cook's Search for 'Good' Shrimp Recipe Ends

Tasty Tetrazzini Tops with Family

by LOIS SEILER

After searching a long time for a good shrimp recipe, Mrs. Hal J. Smith finally found one which appealed to her entire family. Called Shrimp Tetrazzini, it is a savory casserole which combines cooked spaghetti, mushroms, shrimp and cream of mushroom soup. Parmesan cheese is sprinkled over the top, and the dish is baked in a half hour.

"This casserole is easy to make and little is needed as accompaniments," Mrs. Smith said. She usually serves a tossed salad and rolls, and prefers something light for dessert such as fruit.

For most other dinners, the Smiths' favorite dessert choice is delicious kolacky. "I suppose everyone has a special kolacky recipe and this is ours," commented this good cook.

Her recipe calls for a pound of lard, and will not work well with any other shortening. It is the lard which makes these pastries so delightfully short and flaky. Although these kolacky are made from a yeast dough, there is no kneading and rising. The dough is placed in the refrigerator overnight and rolled out the next day. Another interesting feature of this recipe is that the dough is rolled out in sugar rather than flour. Thus it does not pick up any additional flour, and is especially tender. The sugar also gives the kolacky a sparkly appearance and a sweet and different flavor.

MRS. SMITH fills the kolacky with prune or apricot filling, folds over only two corners and bakes them for 8 to 10 minutes.

"The dough can be stored in the refrigerator and baked as needed," she said. "And because these kolacky are a pastry, they cannot be placed in a covered container or they will soften." She serves these delicate and delightful kolacky as a dessert, and sometimes accompanies them with sherbet.

Another family favorite which makes a big hit with guests, young, and old alike, is a dressed up version of frankfurters. In this recipe frankfurters are stuffed with a well-seasoned bread dressing, wrapped in bacon and baked in a hot oven.

IN THE summertime these tasty franks are appealing served with potato salad, while in winter they are good with baked beans.

The Smith family moved from Evanston to their home at 537 S. Lincoln Lane in Arlington Heights a year and a half ago. They have five children: Joan, 19; Jeanne, 16; Patrick, 15; Joseph, 13, and Mary, 9. Mrs. Smith is a member of Our Lady of the Wayside Women's Club and the Evanston Catholic Women's Club.

Freeze Steak Now, Grill This Summer

A special note for freezer owners! Although the weather may still be a bit chilly for outdoor cooking, now is the time to stock up on the steaks everyone loves so well when served sizzling hot off the charcoal grill.

High-quality beef is quite abundant at this time. This means probable savings on all cuts of beef, including those tender steaks for grilling or broiling.

You'll be money ahead if you purchase steaks on "special" now and hold them in your freezer until the days turn hot.

Reba Staggs, authority on meat, offers the following advice on freezing. Package steaks and chops according to the number of servings needed. Roasts and pot-roasts should be cut into convenient sizes for family use.

GROUND MEAT should be shaped into patties or packaged in amounts for loaves or other dishes.

All meats for freezing should be wrapped closely in moisture-vapor-proof material and sealed tightly. To insure easy separation before cooking, place two pieces of freezer paper between steaks, chops and patties. Label the packages, noting date, cut and weight or number of servings.

Meat should be quickly frozen at as low a temperature as possible and stored at 0 degrees or lower.

Since the frozen food storage compartment of many household refrigerators is not designed for rapid freezing, it should not be substituted for a home freezer when meat is to be stored for long periods.

The recommended maximum storage times for meat properly wrapped and held at 0 degrees are: 1 to 3 months for ground pork, 3 to 4 months for ground beef and lamb, 2 months for cured and smoked pork, 3 to 6 months for fresh pork, 6 to 9 months for lamb and veal, 6 to 12 months for beef.

Meats not recommended for freezing are bacon, bologna, frankfurters, fresh pork sausage, canned hams, picnics and corned beef.

The flavor and texture may be adversely affected. In an emergency, those meats should be frozen for a short time only.

SHRIMP TETRAZZINI

½ pound uncooked spaghetti
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
½ pound cooked shrimp, cleaned and split lengthwise
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
½ cup cream or evaporated milk
⅓ cup grated parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Drain well. Saute mushrooms in butter.

In a two-quart casserole, layer spaghetti, mushrooms and shrimp. Combine soup and cream and pour over mixture. Sprinkle with cheese.

Bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees. The casserole may be placed under the broiler for a few minutes. Serves 6 generously.

KOLACKY

5 cups flour
1 pound lard
Pinch of salt
1 small cake yeast
1 small can evaporated milk
3 eggs
Apricot or prune filling

Cut shortening into flour and salt as you would for pie dough. Add yeast which has been dissolved in milk. Add eggs and mix thoroughly by hand. Place in refrigerator overnight.

Roll out dough on a sugared board, using enough sugar so that dough doesn't stick. Roll dough about 1/8 inch thick and cut into two-inch squares with a pastry wheel. Place about ½ teaspoon filling in the center and turn only two corners which are opposite each other into the center. The other two corners lie flat.

Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees until lightly browned, about 8 to 10 minutes. Store in an open container.

STUFFED FRANKFURTERS

3 cups dried bread, cubed
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons melted shortening
½ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sage, if desired
8 frankfurters
8 slices bacon

Mix bread, onion, celery and shortening. Moisten with milk. Add seasonings and mix thoroughly.

Split frankfurters lengthwise on one side only. Fill cavity with stuffing. Wrap a slice of bacon around each frankfurter. Fasten bacon with a toothpick; roll any remaining filling into small balls and wrap with bacon.

Place balls and franks in a baking dish and bake in a hot oven (375 degrees), for 20 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Serve hot. (SH

Pork Sausage Macaroni Dish

Informal supper dishes should have just as much variety as the food you prepare for important dinners. Suppers needn't fall into a tiresome routine.

A READY FILE of casseroles and easy skillet entrees is one solution. A recipe you'll want to include is spicy-flavored Sausage Supper Special suggested by meat cookery authority Reba Staggs.

Chili sauce, onion, celery and pimiento bake with fresh pork sausage and, for variety's sake, shell macaroni. On top it's crushed cornflakes.

SUPPER SPECIAL

1½ pounds fresh pork sausage
3 tablespoons water
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup chopped pimiento
1 cup chili sauce
2 cups cooked, seasoned shell macaroni
½ cup crushed cornflakes
¼ teaspoon thyme

Place sausage, water and onion in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Pour off drippings. Combine sausage-onion mixture, celery, pimiento, chili sauce and macaroni.

Pour into a 1½-quart casserole. Combine cornflakes and thyme and sprinkle over casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes. Six servings. (SH

Egg Salad Idea

Quartered hard-cooked eggs, cooked or canned green beans and strips of pimiento make an attractive appetizer salad, especially when the three are served with this dressing: beat together ½ tablespoon anchovy paste with ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, beat in three tablespoons Spanish olive oil, a tablespoon of grated Parmesan cheese and 1 tablespoon vinegar.

Serve on watercress or crisp lettuce. (SH

U. S. Eating Patterns Are All Mixed-Up

Which do you think is served more often in American homes — frankfurthers or beefstak? If you say beefsteak, you're right — and it isn't even close, Russell S. Tate, president of Market Research Corporation of America, reported this week.

Speaking at the 26th annual convention of Super Market Institute in McCormick Place, Tate said his research reveals that the total number of servings per 1,000 families in a two-week period is 1,303 for beefsteak and 1,061 for franks. Six out of ten homes serve beefsteak at least once within two weeks, and the average number of occasions is better than two.

But—and here's a real research bombshell — upper-income families serve frankfurters oftener than families in the lowest income class, Tate reported. Of a group of families studied in the $7,000-$10,000 annual income bracket, 70 per cent served frankfurters at least once in every two-week period, while only 59 per cent did so in the $4,000-$7,000 income range and only 58 per cent of families with incomes under $4,000. Apparently the frankfurter is a status-symbol in reverse—if you've got the money for beefsteak you don't worry about serving franks.

CONTINUING his expose of U. S. eating foibles, Tate said that a higher percentage of upper - income homes serve hamburger patties than do low-income homes. The percentage of families serving hamburger was 66 per cent for families within the $7,000-$10,000 income range; 67 per cent for incomes between $4,000-$7,000, and only 56 per cent for families under $4,000.

As a possible reflection of suburbia's outdoor cooking, Saturday is the biggest day for hamburger. Between them, hamburgers and frankfurters have a stranglehold on Saturday meat servings.

Chicken every Sunday? That's no longer a typical American pattern. Tate's research showed that a relatively modest 25 per cent of all servings of chicken now take place on Sunday, with the remainder about evenly spaced from Monday through Thursday. But Fridays and Saturdays just aren't chicken-serving days in the United States. There's not much difference in chicken serving by family income: 18 per cent of families with over $10,000 income as compared to 19 per cent for families under $4,000.

TATE offered his research to the super market operators, gathered here from all parts of the United States, Canada, and several foreign countries, as an aid to their advertising and merchandising.

"Americans don't buy like masses," Tate declared. "There are indeed big variations in the buying and eating behavior of different types of families. But they do have buying patterns which are shaped by such factors as age, income, family size and education."

POPPY SEED CAKE has a special flavor that only yeast can give. A favorite of many years' standing, the high, wide and handsome dessert is a marvelous accompaniment for sherbet or ice cream.

Yeast Raised Poppy Seed Cake Has Nutlike Flavor

Poppy seed cake is an unusual and delicious dessert with a regal look. Its nutlike flavor and texture contrasts make it a delightful accompaniment for ice cream or sherbet.

This yeast-raised version is rich, moist and extra good, thanks to the special flavor that only yeast can give. It's surprisingly easy, too, despite its impressive appearance! Bake it in a tube pan and serve this high, wide and handsome beauty on your prettiest cake server.

RAISED POPPY SEED CAKE

¾ cup milk
1 cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup margarine
¼ cup warm water (105 degrees-115 degrees)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
3 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons poppy seed
3¼ cups unsifted flour

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine; cool until lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl.

SPRINKLE or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, eggs, 1 tablespoon poppy seed and half the flour; mix well. Stir in remaining flour.

Beat about 1 minute. Scrape batter down from side of bowl; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

WHEN BATTER has doubled, stir it down. Turn into well-greased 10-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon poppy seed. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan to wire rack; cool.

Newspapers Lead in Super Market Ads

Newspapers remain the most heavily used advertising media of the nation's super markets, the 15th annual report of Super Market Institute revealed today.

Nearly all member companies (95 per cent) participating in the annual survey advertise in newspapers. Two years ago, the percentage was 97 per cent. Radio advertising was used by 66 per cent of the companies, compared to 62 per cent in 1960. Use of television dropped to 26 per cent of companies surveyed from 32 per cent in 1960.

THE GREAT lead maintained by newspapers is shown in these figures: 89 per cent of the members spend more money on newspapers than on any other medium; 84 per cent spend more on newspapers than all other media combined (in other words, spend more than half of their advertising dollar on newspapers), and 57 per cent spend over three-quarters of their total advertising expenditures on newspapers.

Over one-third of the super market organizations studied (36 per cent) have a full-time advertising manager. Advertising agencies are used by 23 per cent of the operators. Over half of the companies employing an advertising agency also have their own full time advertising manager. (SH

Ground Beef Forms Spicy Patties

If folks in your household sometimes like their food on the spicy side, they'll applaud this idea for cooking ground beef.

The meat is shaped into small patties and placed in a baking dish. They cook 30 minutes in a spicy mixture of tomatoes, corn, green pepper, onion and chili powder.

YOU HAVE the basis of an easy meal with these Beef Chili Patties, for the meat and vegetables are in the same dish. Just add potatoes, a tossed salad, a beverage and dessert to complete the meal.

BEEF CHILI PATTIES

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes, drained
1 cup cooked corn
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt

Combine ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and egg. Shape into 8 small patties and place in a baking dish. Cook onion and green pepper in lard or drippings until lightly browned.

Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, corn, chili powder and 1 teaspoon salt and pour over patties. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 30 minutes. Four servings. (SH

Spice Paradise

In medieval days spices and precious stones were generally believed to come from the Garden of Eden, carried into the world by the rivers flowing out of it.

Flavoring secret from Mexico: Add ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon to a one-pound batch of chocolate fudge or other chocolate candy for an unusual taste treat.

Ginger is a marvelous enhancer of meat flavors. Just a pinch of this spice adds much to canned beef or chicken soups or roasts. For the latter, add ½ teaspoon ground ginger to salt and pepper used for seasoning; rub all sides of the meat.

Chicken Aspic Charmers Ideal for Entertaining

AN IMPRESSIVE DISH to serve guests are these high protein Chicken Aspic Charmers, layered wit ham slices, chicken and liver pate. Excellent party fare and surprisingly easy to prepare.

Main dish aspics, those handsome creations you generally see at famous restaurants and never trust your skill to create, can be surprisingly effortless. The chicken-ham-plate layered aspics shown here are excellent guest fare and they are easy. The recipe may be doubled or tripled depending on the guest total.

TO CREATE each individual main-dish aspic, start with ham slices. The ham may be home baked (canned or ready-to-cook ham), or you may want to purchose slices at your delicatessen.

Next, spread the ham with liver pate, easily available in cans, and shaped into patties. Then comes sliced chicken. For this you'll use a broiler-fryer which has been simmered in water until tender. The broth from the chicken and three envelopes of unflavored gelatin create the aspic base and give the main dishes their design.

THEY MAY be chilled until firm in individual pie plates, shallow molds, or in plastic refrigerator dishes.

The aspic has been named for the hostess who introduced it to a group of home economists. Rajean Codish, consumer service director for the Talon Company recently gave a dinner for a group of home economists. Being a working gal, she had the party refreshments done ahead. The aspics and cake for the party were made the night ahead. She only had to heat rolls and frozen lima beans and unmold the aspics come party time.

CHICKEN ASPIC A LA RAJEAN

1 broiler - fryer chicken
3 cups water
1 medium onion, sliced
2 celery tops
2 bay leaves
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Ac'cent
2 chicken bouillon cubes

Place chicken in deep kettle. Add water and remaining ingredients, cover with a tight fitting lid. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 40 minutes, or until tender. Remove chicken; strain stock.

Refrigerate chicken and stock at once. When chicken is cool, remove skin and slice meat from breast, remove remaining meat from bones, Skin fat from stock; add water to make 4 cups.

Yield: Chicken and stock for 8 aspics.

TO PREPARE MOLDS

8 stuffed olive slices
8 slices cooked ham
2 cans (4½ ounces each) liver pate
3 cups cooked chicken
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
4 cups *clarified chicken broth

Center 1 olive slice in bottom of each of eight 1-cup molds. Cover with 8 pieces of ham, cut to fit molds. Cover ham with 8 liver patties. Top each with chicken pieces. Sprinkle gelatin on chicken broth in saucepan to soften.

Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Pour into molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Yield: Eight servings.

*To clarify chicken broth, bring to a boil in saucepan with 2 egg whites and crushed egg shells. Strain through a sieve lined with several layers of cheesecloth. (SH

Pork, Asparagus Team for Dinner

Many varieties of vegetables make good companions of meat in main dishes. They needn't always be served as a side dish.

Take flavorful asparagus as an example. You can tastily combine it with a number of meats: ham, sausage, ready-to-serve meats, veal and even lamb.

Here are a few suggestions for teaming meat and asparagus. Put sliced asparagus in a casserole dish with leftover ham, luncheon meat, etc. Use asparagus as a garnish for roasts by arranging in bundles with red pimiento strips.

ROLL SLICES of "boiled' ham around cooked fresh or frozen asparagus spears and fasten with a toothpick. Fry until lightly browned and serve with a cheese sauce.

Sausage and Asparagus Au Gratin is an excellent luncheon idea. Sausage links and asparagus spears alternate on toast slices and are topped with cheese sauce.

SAUSAGE AND ASPARAGUS AU GRATIN

1 pound pork sausage links
1 tablespoon water
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
¾ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
1 package (10 ounces) frozen asparagus spears
6 slices toast

Place sausage links and water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings and brown links. Melt butter or margarine.

Stir in flour and gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add salt, pepper and grated cheese. Stir until cheese melts.

Cook frozen asparagus spears until tender. Arrange sausage links and asparagus spears on toast. Serve cheese sauce over sausage and asparagus. Six servings. (SH

Oil of Spain World Famous

As early as 45 B.C. the olive oil of Spain was world-famous for its excellence. Strabo, the Roman historian, made mention of the olive oil of southwest Spain, in the region now called Andalusia, in his classic eight-volume work, "Geographica," remarking that the olive oil from this region was exported "not only in large quantities but it is of the best quality."

Meat Loaf Goes Glamorous With Quick Potato 'Frost'

When you bring a beautifully frosted cake to the table for the main course, your family and friends may think that the spring season has gone to your head. But when you begin slicing it and they discover it's a meat loaf frosted with light mashed potatoes, they'll fully realize you're full of good ideas.

There are several reasons why a frosted meat loaf surprise is a good idea. It is original, it is a showpiece on the table, and it provides excellent nourishment.

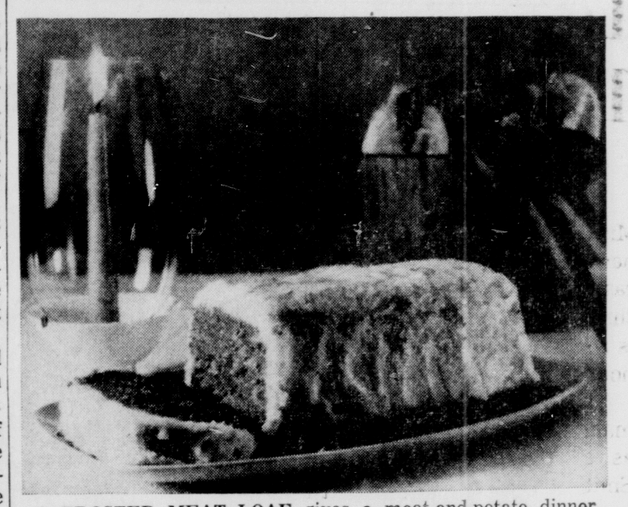
When you taste it, you'll find another reason, the best reason of all: it has a delicious flavor.

The flavor secret of meat loaf lies in the basic mixture. Choose your seasonings with care—mustard, pepper and thyme make a well-assorted spice trio, and choose Ac'cent to let the flavors of meat and spice develop fully and blend together. Ac'cent brings out the rich juiciness that makes beef America's favorite meat.

At the same time it fuses the meat and seasonings so that the meat loaf achieves a true "baked-in" flavor harmony as it cooks.

FOR A CHANGE, use corn flake crumbs in place of bread crumbs to give your meat loaf body, and bind it with evaporated milk for a smooth, soft texture. And for a surprise, add a half pound of sharp cheese to your basic mixture. It adds an unexpected and welcome tang and also adds extra nourishment, also welcome as the weather gets cooler.

Bake your loaf in a loaf pan, the regular way. When it's done, turn it out on a platter and frost it with instant mashed potatoes. For the final touch, slide your frosted loaf under the broiler so that the swirls of mashed potato will be tinted an appetizing tan.



A FROSTED MEAT LOAF gives a meat-and-potato dinner new flavor interest. The basic meat loaf mixture includes cubed cheese and spices for added nourishment and tang and the instant mashed potato "frosting" makes the dish a display piece.

Add a little garnish of parsley to the platter and your dinner is complete. All it needs is a green salad, which you can make in advance, dressing, and all, and pour the dressing onto the

FROSTED MEAT LOAF

2 [illegible]
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup corn flake crumbs
1 cup evaporated milk
1 egg
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme
½ cup minced onion
½ pound sharp American cheese, cut in cubes
2 envelopes instant mashed potatoes

Sprinkle Ac'cent over beef in mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients except instant mashed potatoes; mix with fork until blended. Turn into a 9 by 5 by 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 1 hour.

Invert meat loaf on ovenproof platter. Prepare potatoes according to packages directions. Swirl potatoes on top and sides of meat loaf. Place under broiler heat until flecked with brown. Yield: 8 servings. (SH

KICKIN' IT AROUND

LAST FALL THE ILLINOIS High School Association Board of Directors, prompted by a request from the South Suburban Conference, conducted a referendum to determine whether the state championship golf tournament should be held in the fall.

One hundred and ninety schools, those directly involved in the question, were polled. One hundred and sixteen favored the current dates, hardly a significant number but significant enough in that the board had previously agreed to abide by a majority vote.

It's baffling why schools would favor continuing under the present setup when the problems are mounting for high school golf, particularly in the Chicago area. And it's in this Chicago area where you find most of the top prep links squads in Illinois.

A switch to fall golf would help in many areas but would be more pronounced in regard to the availability of courses. A mushrooming in golf popularity has resulted in numerous leagues at area courses and that spells continued trouble for the high school squads.

Schools are experiencing difficulty each year obtaining courses for both practice and actual competition. Some schools can't practice on the course they use for meets. Some courses want the preps off by four o'clock and that's pretty difficult when most schools don't terminate daily classes until 3 or 3:30 p.m.

With the number of area schools increasing it's obvious that this problem of finding courses will also increase.

Wouldn't a switch to fall golf provide the answer? Most golf leagues close in September, and that would open up the courses to more extensive high school play.

The weather is another factor to consider. Generally, the weather is better in the fall. At least it's more consistent.

With a fall golf program the calibre of competition would improve. Boys would have a summer of golf behind them and would be much sharper in their play. More boys could be retained on the squads.

Golf currently is one of the most expensive sports per capita in the high school program. A coach must cut his squad down to a workable size, and some boys just don't have a chance to learn the game. A week of eliminations at the outset of the season selects the squad.

In the fall, golf courses are in a "dead period" and the coaches would have more time to work with the boys, teaching them the game. Unless a boy is a caddy or belongs to a club he is handicapped by the current arrangement.

Transportation problems also could be alleviated with a switch to fall golf. In the spring there are four sports to contend with, and schools naturally are unable to provide adequate transportation. Cars furnish transportation now for the golfers, but wouldn't a bus carrying the entire squad, a definite possibility in the fall, be more acceptable?

In addition, the Illinois High School Association holds only one state meet in the fall — cross country — while it is forced to handle four in the spring. A switch to fall golf would cut down on some of their problems.

Wouldn't the switch also widen the opportunities of boys for participation in other sports?

With all these factors favoring a switch to fall golf we wonder just why 116 schools voted for the current setup.

Maybe it's tradition. Could it be the possibility of holding two state golf tournaments in one year (which would happen once if there was a switch) prompted some schools to hesitate at making a change? Or was there a fear of conflict with other fall sports?

The latter seems unlikely. Cross country runners normally turn out for track. And how many times do athletes double in golf and football?

We hope the Illinois High School Association continues to consider the advisability of switching from spring to fall golf. The switch eventually will have to come.

The sooner the better.

THE MILE RUN IN the Prospect District track and field meet belonged to Maine West's John Schneider, shown above hitting the tape in 4:30.7. A strong finish enabled Palatine's Jerry Kusek (center) to edge Arlington's Robin Auld for third place in another of their hectic battles to the wire. Seven boys qualified for the state finals in the mile run from the Prospect District. (Staff Photo by Joe Reece)

Prep Finals Open Friday

Champaign-Urbana Host To Golf, Tennis, Track

Schoolboy standouts in track, tennis, and golf, including several area athletes, will invade Champaign-Urbana this weekend for the state championship competition.

Action will get under way Friday morning in each of the three spring sports with the finals scheduled for Saturday at three different sites on the University of Illinois campus.

Only baseball will be without its 1963 state champion after Saturday's scuffling. The diamond finals are scheduled for Peoria on June 6-7.

THE AREA served by Paddock Publications' chain of suburban newspapers will be represented in each state meet this weekend with several definite possibilities for points in the rugged competition.

Arlintgon High School will have two doubles teams and a singles player in the tennis tournament. In rolling to a district title the Cardinals qualified Russ Walters and Chuck Close and Mirrel Kephart and Rick Wollerman in doubles and Jim Jakubiec in singles.

In a match delayed by rain Jakubiec, a junior, gained the district singles title with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Paul Schuwerk of Maine East.

WALTERS AND Close, two seniors, are accorded a fine chance at picking up some points in the doubles action. They've been working in singles throughout the dual meet campaign with Walters in the No. 1 slot and Close in No. 3.

Jakubiec and the second doubles team also are capable of scoring in the state finals although Arlington's best bet appears to be that first doubles unit.

Evanston will be shooting for its fourth straight state title in tennis, but the Wildkits will be hard pressed for a repeat. Hinsdale has two doubles teams and a singles player in the tournament and is labeled a slight favorite.

ARLINGTON AND Lake Park will carry the area hopes in the state golf finals. The Cards qualified a team of five with a tie for first place in the district last Friday, and the Lancers will counter with senior John Barnum.

Barnum, a transfer from Colorado, fashioned a 76 over the Golden Acres layout in the district to tie for medalist honors and earn a trip to the state. He won the first place medal on the first hole of a playoff with Ken Miller of Maine West.

Working for Arlington in the state golf meet will be juniors Fred Devin and Rog O'Neil, seniors Ken Seeger and George Brinke, and sophomore Bob Armour. Devin posted a 78 and O'Neil and Seeger came in with fine 79s in pacing the district win.

TABBING A clear-cut favorite in golf borders on the impossible, but don't be surprised if Hinsdale or Waukegan walks off with the team crown. Hinsdale finished second last year and is loaded. Waukegan turned in a nifty 308 score in the district firing and was seventh last spring.

Peoria Richwoods is the defending champion in golf, with the Black Knights posting a 630 over the 36-holes in 1962.

Track buffs like Chicago Phillips or Alton in the cinder finals at Illinois' Memorial Stadium. Phillips won last year with 29 points and is equipped with several boys from that titlist. Alton possesses its usual assortment of fine trackmen.

TRACK, AS USUAL, brings the greatest collection of athletes from the immediate area to Champaign-Urbana and this spring is no exception. Prospect, Arlington, Palatine, Fenton, Willowbrook, and York all will be represented in the 1962 finals.

York qualified 12 boys in individual events and two relay teams. Prospect has nine qualifiers and two relay teams. Arlington has six qualifiers. Palatine and Willowbrook both have five and one relay team. Fenton has a single representative.

Best bets among the area entries? Palatine's Duane Brooks has a handsome :09.7 in the 100 and has to merit a long look at the state. The Pirates also have a fine 880 man in Bob Frost who has yet to taste defeat and who whipped LaGrange's highly regarded Norm Witek in a triangular.

ARLINGTON HAS A fine discus man in Bill Truax who has won every major meet he's entered this spring. Bill has the third best throw in the state at 164-10½.

Prospect's Larry Bogart and Tom Bremner boast some of the most impressive clockings in the state in both hurdles and could make some noise in Champaign. That hurdle field shapes up as one of the strongest in the state finals with more over-all strength than in recent years.

Rip Three Pitchers for 11 Hits

Knights Eliminate Cards in District Baseball Opener, 6-3

by BILL HALLS

Prospect High, which has lost seven of its last eight games, pulled a mild surprise Monday in the first round of the Forest View District baseball tourney by defeating Arlington, 6-3.

The loss was Arlington's seventh in 16 games this year. The Cardinals have tied one game. Prospect's record in now six wins against eight losses.

The Knights met the winner of Tuesday's Forest View-Palatine game Wednesday, but results were too late for publication.

In winning, Prospect blasted three Arlington pitchers for 11 hits, including a two-run homer by sophomore shortstop Greg Kowal and a pair of triples, but still managed to keep the fans in suspense by providing Card rallies in the late innings.

PROSPECT'S MIKE PHILLIPS
Two Hits, Errorless Defense

JIM HOGARTY, who got credit for the win for Prospect, pitched well until the fifth when he walked four straight batsmen and uncorked a wild pitch after two were out.

Henry LaRocco put out the fire and finished the game. He had his moments in the sixth, giving up a double to Russ Ward after Ken Layden had reached first on Kowal's error, but had enough left to claim Joe Wertheimer and Ed Staahl on infield grounders.

Arlington drew first blood in the opening frame. With two out, Layden reached first when Knight thirdsacker Chuck Halverson booted his grounder. Rog Lindstrom followed with a high fly ball to center which Ed Massof, a converted shortstop, misjudged for a two-base error. Layden scored to give the Cards a one-run lead.

Ward followed with a walk, but Hogarty got Wertheimer on a called third strike.

WITH ONE out in the second, Mike Phillips blooped a single to left, and took second when Lindstrom booted Kowal's grounder.

Catcher Norm Dahlgren followed with another bloop hit, the second off of starter Paul Splittorff, scoring Phillips to tie the game. Splittorff then fanned Massof, but Hogarty lashed a hard single to right center, scoring Kowal with the second run.

Layden made a fine defensive play, holding the runners at first and second with a fine stop and perfect throw to cutoff man Mike Frase.

Dave Leekley followed with a sharp single to left, but the cumbersome Dahlgren had to hold at third as Wertheimer, who played an outstanding game in left field amidst piles of dirt on a construction site, hustled the ball back to the infield.

SPLITTORFF then settled down, striking out Halverson for the final out.

The Knights' third run came in the fourth on a two-out walk to Massof, a stolen base, and Hogarty's second straight hit.

Gary Spencer, another lefthander, relieved Splittorff at the start of the fifth, but lasted only two-thirds of an inning.

Halverson opened with a walk and was forced at second by Bob Geller, Knight first sacker. Spencer fanned Ron Aukamp, but the spunky Phillips belted a triple to deep left field, scoring Geller, and Kowal followed with his homer.

THE BALL carried to a dirt pile, just eluding the outstretched glove of the gutty Wertheimer, and rolled into a road bed ditch. Wertheimer's return throw bounced off of another object, adding still another grimace to a face that was wretched with frustration all afternoon.

When Dahlgren singled to right on the next pitch, Cardinal Coach Bob Baker decided Spencer had had it.

Steve Martin, the new pitcher, was greeted with an infield hit off of Massof's bat, putting two runners on, but Hogarty popped to second to end the rally.

Spencer was in trouble in the sixth but pitched his way out of a bases loaded situation without damage.

LEEKLEY OPENED with a triple and Halverson and Geller both walked. But Aukamp flied to center, and a good throw from Layden prevented Leekley from scoring. Phillips popped to first, and Kowal's long fly to left was caught by Wertheimer through the branches of a misplanted tree.

The Cardinals' final two runs came in the fifth after two were out. Hogarty walked Wertheimer, Staahl, Dick Rosholt, batting for Denny Fitz-Patrick, and uncorked a wild pitch with Martin at the plate to give Arlington one run. After Hogarty walked Martin, to reload the bases, Prospect mentor Churck Aldrich brought in LaRocco.

On the second pitch, Frase grounded to Halverson, who booted the ball, allowing Staahl to score with the final run of the game.

LaRocco got Gordie Keeley on a bouncer to the mound to end the rally.

All in all, Arlington managed only two hits off of Hogarty

Falcon Varsity Golfers Lose, But Sophs Win!

Forest View's varsity golf team dropped two more matches last week, falling victim to Deerfield and Maine West, but the frosh-soph squad put its season mark at six wins and three losses with a pair of victories.

The varsity, now 0-9, lost a nine-hole match to Deerfield last Thursday, 182 to 187. Bob Glass led the Falcons with a 43. In an 18-hole match Tuesday, Maine West bested the Falcons, 334 to 374. Don Campbell was low man for Forest View with an 87. Both meets were played at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Al Piehl led the frosh-soph to a 178-182 win over Deerfield with a 41 for nine holes. Wayne Andre was low man in the 176 to 183 win over Maine West. He carded a 41.

THEIR FISTS RAISED in a victory salute, Prospect track coach Dick Calisch (left) and two of his senior sprinters, John Carsello and Dan Johnson, display the Prospect District trophy. The Knights compiled 37½ points Saturday to easily outdistance their nearest rival, Palatine, which had 28. Prospect qualified nine individuals and two relay teams for the finals at Champaign this weekend. Carsello and Johnson qualified in the 8880 relay event, won by Prospect. Johnson also qualified in the 220-yard dash. (Staff photo)

Warriors Spoilers in 'Knights Day'

Prospect, suffering a letdown after its win in the state district meet Saturday, lost its first dual track meet of the season Tuesday to Maine West, 66-52, before a highly disappointed "Knights Day" crowd at the Prospect track.

Leroy Schlegal spoiled the festivities with a double win in the 100 (10 flat) and 220 (22.7) dash events. Maine's depth in the broad jump, shot put and discus, plus an upset in the 880 relay decided the meet. Prospect juggled the baton on a bad pass.

As usual, Prospect swept the high and low hurdles with Tom Bremner taking a double win. Larry Bogart finished second in the highs and Ron Koepke took the runnerup spot in the lows. Terry Sietmann was third in both events. The times were slower than they have been recently.

Jim Renner won the 440 and the mile relay team of George Morris, John Carsello, Jim McMillan and Jim Renner also took a first.

In the field events, Ralph Stone (discus); Dick Westergaard (pole vault) and Dave Gobeille (high jump) all took firsts. Westergaard's best jump was 11-feet-two-inches.

The Knight frosh-soph won their meet, 64-54, with Jack Pollard winning both the mile and 880-yard run. Ray Kick, Tom Knutson, Tom Hogarty and Jim McMahon also took firsts for Prospect.

Wayne Kuklinski's anchor leg on the 880-yard relay team won that event for the Knights. Teammates were Jim Bowker, Bill Lytle and Andy Kargacos.

Prospect Net Squads Drop Two Apiece

Prospect lost a pair of tennis meetings last week, getting shutout by powerful Deerfield, 5-0, Thursday, and dropping a 3-2 cliffhanger to Maine West Tuesday.

Larry White and Scott Paris combined for one of the wins against Maine in a doubles match. The other win was picked up by Bob Laechelt and Scott Campbell, also in a doubles encounter.

The frosh-soph lost to Deerfield and Maine West by identical 4-1 scores. Craig Wolf and Tom Bryant took a doubles match from Deerfield, and Wolf came back for a singles win against Maine.

O'Keefe Tops In Loss To Niles West

Niles West defeated Forest View, 77-44, in a dual track meet Tuesday, piling up points with depth in most events.

Most impressive of the Falcon performers was Jim O'Keefe who won the broad jump with a leap of 20-feet, four inches.

Gregg Garlisch won the low hurdles and Ray Goertz took the discus. Phil Valentino won the half mile run, and the mile relay team took the other Forest View first.

Niles also won the frosh-soph meet, 78-40. Ralph Perigo won the high jump for the Falcons.

Gary Erwin Named Gym All-American

Gary Erwin of Arlington Heights, NCAA gymnastics champion on the trampoline as a University of Michigan sophomore, has been named to the 1963 Collegiate All-America squad selected by the National Coaches Association.

Nine were named to the first team with Michigan captain Gil LaRose chosen in three events — all-around, high bar, and long horse.

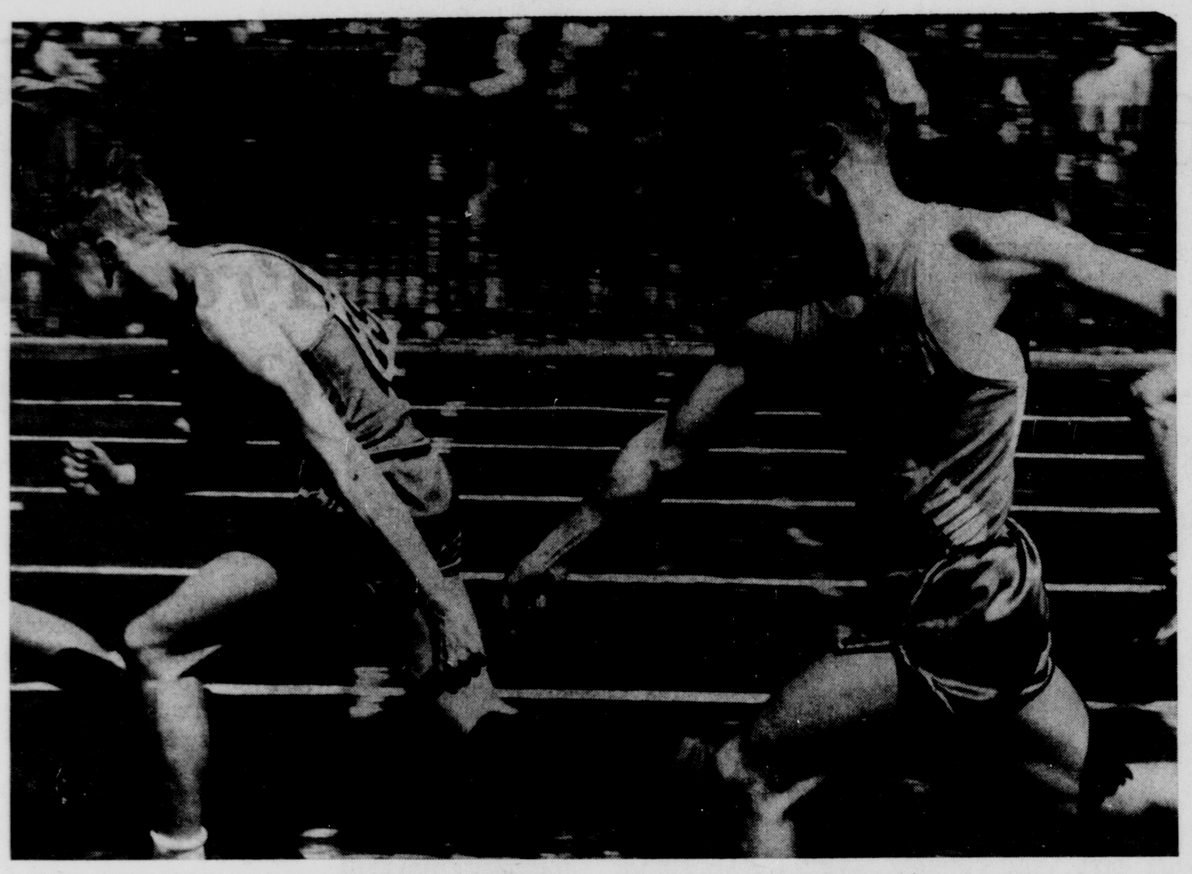
Other first team members were Mike Henderson of Michigan, floor exercise; Russ Mills of Yale, side horse; Arno Lascari of Michigan, parallel bars; Dale Cooper of Michigan State, rings; and Hal Holmes of Illinois, tumbling.

Erwin was also selected for membership in the Sphinx, an honorary organization at Michigan for men who have brought honors to the University through outstanding achievements at the school.

Tri-City Ladies

Event of the day in the Tri-City ladies golf league was Low Net.

Winners were Carolyn Erickson (78) in A Class; Doris Bryant (82) in B Class; Ginny Ide (72) in C Class; and Jean Gallagher (70) in D Class.



TAKING THIS BLIND BATON PASS from teammate Dan Johnson (right), Prospect's George Morris sets off on the third leg of the 880-yard relay in Saturday's State District trac meet at Prospect High. The Knights won the event in 1:33 flat, not their fastest time this year but still good enough to qualify for the finals this weekend at Champaign. Prospect, Palatine 1-2 in Track Finals

by BOB FRISK

They did some work on the track Friday afternoon and early Saturday morning because of a heavy rain.

A talented cast of schoolboy athletes did some work on the record book Saturday afternoon at the Prospect District track and field meet.

So much work, in fact, that only four marks escaped the crack field. Nine standards tumbled and one was tied in the district action that was stepped off in four, well-organized hours.

The weatherman, who tried his best on Thursday and Friday to hamper the proceedings proved to be a gentleman Saturday.

THE COVETED team championship was claimed by the host Knights of Prospect High School with defending titlist Palatine second. Prospect, coached by Dick Calisch, posted 37½ points while Joe Johnson's Pirates picked up 28.

Nineteen of the 25 schools entered at Prospect scored. Fourteen will send individual to the state finals in Champaign-Urbana this weekend. Prospect headed the qualifiers with nine individuals and two relay teams earning berths in the state spectacular.

Runnerup Palatine qualified boys in five individual events and one relay team. Arlington will send six thinclads to the state meet. Forest View failed to land a state slot.

PROSPECT'S team championship was highlighted, as expected, by the dandy duo of Larry Bogart and Tom Bremner. Bogart skipped over the 120 yard high hurdles in a record-setting :14.6 with Bremner right behind at :14.7, and Tom came back for a sparkling :19.3 mark in the lows.

Bogart had company for second place in the lows but still fashioned a nifty :19.4. He was joined by sophomore sensation George Koch of McHenry in the battle to the wire.

Calisch's classy crew picked up two state berths in the 100 yard dash thanks to Jim Renner and John Carsello. Both boys clipped off :10.1 clockings, betterering the state qualifying standard, although they finished fifth and sixth in the finals.

CARSELLO and Renner teamed with Dan Johnson and George Morris for a first place in the 880 yard relay at 1:33.0, a full seven-tenths of a second in front of second place Ela-Vernon. Prospect also landed a second in the mile relay with Palatine edging the Knights at the wire.

Johnson, a member of the half-mile quartet, turned in a :22.7 clocking in the 220 for a seventh place finish with his effort bettering the state's pre-determined qualifying standard.

Prospect also scored in the field events with Dick Westergaard's second in the pole vault, Ralph Stone's third in the discus, and Rick McMahon's tie for third in the pole vault.

WESTERGAARD, district champ at 11-0 last spring, cleared 11-4 this time for a second place and state berth. Stone flipped the discus 145-5½ which also bettered the state qualifying distance.

A brilliant :09.7 in the 100 yard dash by junior Duane (Bullet) Brooks highlighted Palatine's second place finish. Brooks' century clocking equalled the best in the state thus far this spring and stamped the fleet junior as a definite threat in this weekend's finals.

Brooks also tried for a double in the 440 yard dash but finished third at :51.6, one-tenth of a second off state qualifying. The "Bullet" finished up a busy day with a strong anchor leg on the mile relay that carried Palatine to a tight victory over Prospect in 3:30.1.

JOINING BROOKS on the mile relay unit were John Warder, Stew Rogers, and Bob Frost. The lanky Frost, 880-yard run champion, gave Palatine a strong third leg to set up Brooks' heroics.

Don Yokas came up with a second in the 220 yard dash with a :22.4 effort, and Frost's 1:58.3 in the half-mile was his best of the season. Bob has yet to be whipped in his specialty this spring.

Frost was running even with Maine East's highly regarded Larry Kelly heading into the final furlong, but Kelly slipped and fell. Frost turned on the speed and topped runnerup Bill Dremnan of St. Mel by almost three seconds.

IN THE MILE run Palatine's Jerry Kusek caught Arlington's Robin Auld in the final few yards and finished second behind Maine West's John Schneider. The winner was caught in 4:30.7 with Kusek setting his personal best at 4:31.1.

Palatine also scored in the 120 yard high hurdles as Mike Leifer turned in a state-qualifying :15.2 in finishing fifth.

The Pirates' lone point in the field events was garnered by junior Mike Lang who tossed the shot put 47-3¼ for fifth place.

ARLINGTON HIGH School scored 17 points for a sixth place finish, only two and one-half points shy of third.

Junior Bill Truax gave the Cardinals their only first when he got off a 155-1 toss in the discus, well below his season best but still good enough to head the field at Prospect by almost eight feet.

Bill had some trouble at the outset Saturday but still came through with another major triumph. Truax has yet to be whipped in a major outdoor meet this spring, owning victories in the Lake Shore, Palatine Relays, Hinsdale Relays, and now the district.

SENIOR ROBIN Auld lowered his school record in the mile run to 4:31.6 in finishing third behind Maine West's Schneider and Palatine's Kusek. It was a typical Kusek-Auld battle to the wire with the little Palatine runner coming on strong to whip Robin by five-tenths of a second.

Sophomore John Brunner also qualified for the state mile run as he achieved his personal best of 4:37.0 in finishing seventh. Brunner's time was one second better than the qualifying mark.

Dan Bedford skimmed over the 120 yard high hurdles in :15.2 for a fourth place finish, and Dan also earned a trip downstate. Sophomore speedster John Jamison covered the 220 in :22.7 to qualify, and junior high jumper Jeff Hoy gave the Cards' their sixth state slot with a 5-11 mark.

Junior Bob Splitberger missed by two-tenths of a second qualifying for the state in the 440 yard dash. Splitberger finished fourth in :51.7, one-tenth of a second out of third.

ARLINGTON'S final points were provided by junior Jim Varnado who finished in a tie for third in the pole vault. However, Varnado failed to reach the pre-determined height to qualify for the state finals.

In addition to the aforementioned firsts in the Prospect District, other boys earning the top positions were John Rogers of Crystal Lake in the high jump (5-11), Brian Oldfield of Elgin in the shot put (56-7¾), Doug Macomber of Maine East in the pole vault (11-6½), Chuck Porter of Crystal Lake in the 440 yard dash (:50.4), Alan West of Elgin in the broad jump (21-8¼), and Leroy Schlegel of Maine West in the 220 yard dash (:20.0 in the finals, :21.8 in the prelims).

Macomber, Porter, and West set records while Rogers tied the high jump mark. Schlegel was four-tenths of a second off the furlong mark of :21.4 set last spring by St. Mel's Bob Konkols.

Lebben Blanks Deerfield on Three-Hitter

Mike Lebben fired a three-hit shutout last week as Forest View's frosh "A" baseball team edged Deerfield, 1-0. The winning run came in the sixth inning on consecutive three-baggers by Roy Palomo and Kurt Koentopp. Bill Disbrow had two for two. Lebben fanned six and walked three.

St. Viator Notches Latest Win

Forest View Extends Losing Streak to 5

Forest View, in the midst of a slump, extended its losing streak to five games Saturday with a 7-2 loss to St. Viator. Earlier last week, the Falcons dropped a 9-8 slugfest to Deerfield.

The St. Viator win was its 14th in 17 games this year.

Jeff Haiduke started on the mound for the Lions, twirling a four-hitter, and picking up his fifth win of the season. He struck out three and walked four.

Dick Anderson started for Forest View, giving up three runs, including a two-run homer by Jim Vidt, before being relieved by Tom Wilkes and Rick Henderson in the sixth.

THE FALCONS tied the game in the third when Anderson led off with a walk, and took second on another pass to Ken Veltri after Joe Mueller fanned. Ken Peters forced Veltri, but Ralph Kaspari doubled, scoring Anderson and sending Peters to third.

Kaspari was caught in a rundown when he overran second, and Peters scored on the play.

In the fourth, the Lions scored again. Tom Ostermann and Jay Chaiser reached base on consecutive errors by Anderson, and Ostermann came home on Rich Ulbrich's grounder.

The final four Lion tallies came in the sixth. Ulbrich and Tim Walinski walked, and after Don Knudson and Ron Bakalar fanned, both runners scored on Chuck Heinrich's single, plus a passed ball.

TOMMY Lundgren shut out Deerfield for three innings, but gave up two runs in the fourth on a triple and a two-run homer by Tom Bahnsen. In the fifth, the Warriors came back with seven more runs.

Three consecutive passes loaded the bases, and Wilkes took over the mound chores. He got one man but four Falcon errors and three passed balls, plus a single and a triple let in all seven runs.

The Falcons took a 3-0 lead in the third on Kaspari's single, and error and Veltri's base knock. A passed ball, a walk and a two-run single by Lundgren brought in two more.

Two more Forest View runs came in the fifth. Lundgren led off with a double but was caught in a run down on Mueller's grounder. Jim Humphrey forced Mueller for the second out, but Peters walked and Kaspari rapped a two-run double.

Ralph also accounted for the final three runs with a two-out homer in the seventh. The circuit clout followed singles by Wilkes and Peters. With the score 9-8, Tom Meyers ended the threat with a tap to the mound.

and LaRocco. The first was a lead-off single by Lindstrom in the third, but Hogarty fanned the side to end that threat.

The second, a solid double to right center by Ward, came off LaRocco in the sixth with one out.

Again, Arlington did not score.

Hogarty struck out seven and walked eight in four and two-thirds innings before giving way to LaRocco.

Dahlgren led the Knight attack with three singles in four at bats. Leekley, Phillips and Hogarty had two hits each.

Pirates Top Forest View In District

Hal Parmenter, a stringbean lefthander, and Dave Swingley, a sophomore first baseman, combined to give Palatine a 3-0 win over host Forest View in the second round of the State District baseball tourney Tuesday.

Parmenter baffled the Falcons with an assortment of breaking pitches, giving up just three hits, including a pair of scratch singles by little Ken Veltri.

Forest View went with Dick Anderson, a 6-foot-4 lefthander with a blazing fastball and sharp breaking curve. Anderson fanned 16 Pirates and gave up five hits, all but one to right field.

Swingley, added to the Pirate roster after a fine season on the Palatine sophomore team, drove in all three runs with a misjudged triple and a single.

THE PIRATES picked up two runs in the fourth inning when Jack Frost and Ron Fenske trickled singles through the right side of the infield, and Swingley lifted a long liner to right-centerfield.

Freshman Mike Lebben, playing his first varsity game for the Falcons after an impressive stint with the soph team, misjudged the ball and it fell for a triple.

Anderson then settled down, fanning George Gilreath and Dan Leimann. Swingley was nailed at the plate on an attempted steal with Leimann at bat.

In the sixth, Frost led off with a walk, stole second and third, and came home on Swingley's second hit, a single to right, just inside the foul line.

IRONICALLY Anderson struck out the side in the sixth, as he had done in the third. The swift righthander, who deserved better for his efforts, fanned seven of the first 11 men he faced, but had trouble with men on base.

The Pirates stole five bases on Anderson, primarily because of his slow, deliberate motion, and had two others nailed at the plate on attempts.

Anderson walked four Pirate batsmen, keeping the ball low most of the afternoon.

Of his 16 strike out victims, Tom Dettinger and Gilreath were the most consistent. Dettinger, Pirate catcher, fanned four straight times, and Gilreath struck out three times.

Meanwhile, Parmenter, who had excellent control, fanned six and walked only two. The only solid blow off of the lanky southpaw was a sixth inning single by Falcon catcher Ralph Kaspari.

The Pirates, now 10-8 for the season, met Prospect for the District title Wednesday, but results were received too late for publication.

Kirchoff's Homer Seals Loss

Knight Diamond Slump Continues

Still in the depths of a slump, Prospect blew a five-run lead Wednesday (May 15) in bowing to East Leyden, 7-5, on the strength of a three-run homer off the bat of diminutive Tommy Kirchoff with two out in the last of the seventh.

The winning blow came on reliefer Jim Hogarty's first pitch after he had taken over for loser Henry LaRocco. The loss was Prospect's seventh in the last eight games. They are now 3-7 in Interim League play, and 5-8 for the season.

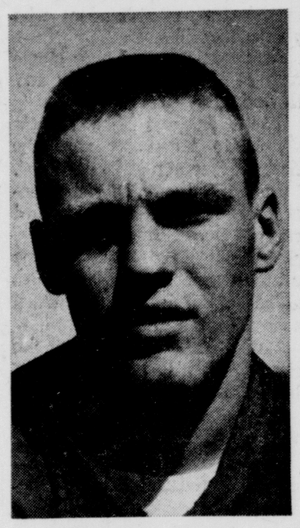
LaRocco had already given up five hits and three runs in the six-run rally but a pair of Prospect errors furthered the Leyden cause.

THE OTHER Leyden run came in the fourth inning on a walk, a balk by LaRocco and a fielder's choice.

The big righthander was staked to a three-run lead in the second inning. Norm Dahlgren, Greg Kowal and Ed Massof opened with singles to load the bases.

Chuck Halverson hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Dahlgren. LaRocco was passed, reloading the sacks, and Dave Leekley scored Kowal on another fielder's choice. Massof scored on an error for the third run.

IN THE THIRD frame, Ron Aukamp made it 5-0 with a two-run homer. The circuit blow came on the heels of a triple by Bob Geller.



RON AUKAMP

All of the Knight runs came off of Hank Veller, who hurled the entire game for East Leyden, giving up seven hits, including two by Aukamp.

Aukamp's doubled in the fifth with one out. Kowal later walked but the Knights could not score.

LaRocco fanned seven and walked only one, but the disastrous seventh inning saw East Leyden collect six of their seven hits.

Warriors Tip Falcon Sophs In Baseball

Despite a four-hit pitching effort by Rick Henderson, Forest View's sophomore baseball team lost to Deerfield, 2-0, last week. A two-out texas league single provided both Warrior runs in the first inning. The Falcons had runners in scoring position in both the sixth and seventh frames, but failed to score on both occasions. Gary Clemens and Gary Maxwell had two hits apiece for Forest View.

New Trier Whips Cardinals' Net Unit for 2nd Time

Chuck Close in singles and the doubles team of Bob Von-Boeckmann and Jim Tindall were the only Arlington entries able to score last Friday in a non-league tennis headliner with powerful New Trier.

Close stopped Wayne Eckerling 6-4, 8-6 in third singles, and Von Boeckmann and Tindall triumphed 6-3, 6-3 in second doubles, but the host Indians won the match, 3-2.

It was New Trier's second varsity victory over Arlington this spring and only the Cardinals' third loss in 20 outings. New Trier had stopped the locals in a previous meeting, 3-2.

Arlington reversed an earlier setback in frosh-soph ranks with an impressive 3-2 decision.

CLOSE'S VICTORY highlighted singles play for the varsity Cards as both Russ Walters, playing No. 1, and Jim Jakubiec, playing No. 2, were bumped. Jay Huebsch stopped Walters 6-1, 6-1, and John Hunter took care of Jakubiec 6-3, 6-3.

New Trier also took first singles but had trouble. Bob Childs and Kit Kaufmann handled Rick Wollerman and Mirrel Kephart 2-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Arlington picked up two points in singles in fashioning a tight victory over New Trier's frosh-sophs.

Greg Inman continued his impressive play with a 2-6, 6-4, 6-0 conquest of Weil in first singles, and Jeff Peek, who has seen extensive action in doubles for the Cardinal varsity, headed second singles 6-1, 6-2.

Posting the Cardinals' third point was the second doubles team of Brian Burke and Dave Milligan. They stopped Chase and Kerby 6-2, 6-3.

Cards, Warriors Tie For District Crown; Barnum Wins Medal

by TOM TULLY

Gary Clendenny and Don Henry had an idea their teams might do well in the district.

Clendenny had watched his Arlington team tour Golden Acres in 327 against Glenbard West and 153 (nine holes) against Prospect in mid-week before the district.

Henry had seen his Maine West linksmen turn in a 326 for a practice round at the Roselle course just a week before the meet.

Therefore, two coaches were no more than mildly surprised when their teams fired 319's to tie for the team championship in the Arlington District at Golden Acres last Friday.

GARY CLENDENNY

For Clendenny, taking a golf team to the state is becoming habit forming. In five years at Palatine, he made two trips to Champaign and trained three conference champions. Last year's powerful Pirate team finished fifth at the meet. Now, in his first season at Arlington, he will guide the young Cardinal entry downstate.

THE CO-CHAMPIONS will join 14 other district winners in the state meet to be held on the University of Illinois course in Champaign-Urbana, tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

Also making the trip is Bob Barnum of Lake Park, who captured medalist honors with a first hole playoff victory over Maine West's Ken Miller. Both had fired 76's over the regulation 18.

The Cards and Warriors edged Prospect, who finished one stroke back with 320. Lake Park was fourth with 323, and Barrington fifth with 326. One of the pre-meet favorites, Palatine, finished sixth with a total of 329.

The Cards used three sub-80 shooters as a springboard to their share of the title. Fred Devin, a playoff winner for fourth in the race for medalist, was the Cards' low man with a 78. One stroke back were Rog O'Neil and Ken Seeger. Bob Armour and George Brinke each had 83's and will round out the state squad.

The Warriors were paced, of course, by Miller's 76. Mike Green fired a 78, and he along with Dave Huntley of Prospect were the losers in the playoff with Devin. Hank Blenner (82) and Tom Wasmund (83) also scored for Maine. Bill Kautter (88) will join these four in the jaunt to Champaign.

IT WAS A case of Arlington catching Maine, passing Prospect in the process. After nine, the Warriors had a 155, good for a three stroke lead on the Knights, and four on the Cards. The only other team in serious contention was Palatine with a 161.

Way Thompson, low man on the front nine with a 36, quickly shot the Pirates out of the running with a fat ten on number ten. Prospect gained ground on the brilliant 35 carded by Huntley coming home, but the other three scoring Knights, Warren Luebke, Bob Robertshaw could manage no better than the 41 turned in by Luebke.

Miller kept the Warriors alive. After taking a 40 going out, he needed just 36 on the back. Greene (37), Blenner (38) and Wasmund (38) lost the fine edge off their front nine games, and came back in 41, 44, and 43 respectively.

IN THE meantime, Arlington was coming on strong. Devin, a 40 shooter on the way out, fired a 38. O'Neil (41) matched it. Seeger (40) was one stroke back at 39. Armour and Brinke had 45 and 42, respectively.

Miller's team - saving back nine also got him a piece of medalist honors. Barnum and Thomposn set the pace on the front nine with 36's. After Way ballooned on 10, the battle appeared to be between Barnum, Green (37) and Bob Navitril (38), of Elmwood Park.

But Green faded to 78 and Miller edged in with Barnum as they edged Navitril by one stroke. While Barnum took care of Miller on the first playoff hole, it took Devin two to dispose of Huntley and Green for fourth place.

Bohn Checks Cards In Opener; Martin Gives Locals Split

Just one week ago Maine East was in serious danger of slipping from its lofty rung in the West Suburban Conference baseball race.

The Blue Demons were only a game and one-half on top of Arlington and Downers Grove with four games remaining.

Now only one game remains and Maine is home free with its eighth baseball championship in the past 13 years.

While Arlington and Downers were dropping two contests in three outings, Maine East swept past three straight opponents to push its over-all mark to 11-2.

THE BLUE Demons journey to Arlington Friday afternoon to meet an Arlington nine that administered one of their two reversals in conference warfare.

Coach Bob Baker's Cardinals, now 7-5-1 in the league and assured of a winning season, came out with a split Saturday in their final doubleheader of the season.

Junior Steve Martin, who now has three victories this season and a fine 2.43 earned run average, authored a six-hitter in the nightcap and hurled Arlington to a 5-3 decision.

LaGrange had copped the opener 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of left-hander Harry Bohn.

MARTIN'S triumph gave the Cards their seventh win of the 1963 league campaign, one better than last spring. Excellent control paid big dividends for the junior right-hander who yielded six hits.

Arlington punched over single runs in the third and fifth and three in the fourth.

Two walks and Mike Frase's double to left-center sent the first marker across in the third.

Russ Ward and Joe Wertheimer scored the second and third runs on Denny Fitz-Patrick's single to right, and "Fitz" came all the way around on an unusual set of circumstances. Ward scored on the single.

THE BALL went through the right fielder's legs, enabling base runner Wertheimer to score, and Denny headed for third.

The relay from the outfield came to the second baseman and he threw wildly over third base, sending Fitz-Patrick in with the third run.

The Cardinals collected their final tally in the fifth on a hit batsman, Ken Layden's line shot to left field, a stolen base, walk, and single by Ward.

Layden, whose safety forced Gordon Kelley at second when the junior over-ran the base, had stolen second, and moved to third on a wild pitch.

Martin fanned two and didn't walk a man over the seven innings. In 31 2/3 innings this spring Steve has walked only five hitters.

Layden had two safeties for Arlington after going hitless in the opener.

BOHN HAD too much for the locals in Saturday's opener. He yielded a single to Dick Rosholt in the third and another one-base knock to Rog Lindstrom in the sixth.

Dave Christensen worked for the Cards and held LaGrange scoreless until the fifth. The Lions put over single runs in both the fifth and seventh and two in the sixth.

Christensen didn't pitch a bad game, but he had some control trouble and that spelled his downfall. Dave fanned two and walked five.

St. Viator Squads 3rd

IC, Fenton Top Two Divisions In Triangular

Immaculate Conception ruled the varsity division and Fenton headed the frosh-sophs in two triangular track tests held last Thursday in Elmhurst.

St. Viator's trackmen, engaged in their first year of prep track, finished a distant third on a varsity level but scored 39 markers, 19 behind the winner, in the frosh-soph competition.

Tom Ostermann, who also plays third base for the St. Viator varsity baseball team, tried his hand at track and field last week and posted a first, third, and fourth in the triangular.

OSTERMANN, a junior, sailed 18-3½ for a first in the broad jump and gained a third in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the shot put.

Also scoring for St. Viator were Gary Forstan with a fourth in the discus, Bill Roche with a second in the high jump, Jerry Blandford with a fourth in the pole vault, Kelsey with a third in the broad jump, Dan Mulcahy with a fourth in the high hurdles, Glen Mitchell with a third in the 880, Mike Smith with a second in the 440, Paul Larson with a third in the mile run, and Dick Helmer with a fourth in the 220.

Immaculate Conception piled up 78 points in winning the varsity meet with Fenton second at 47 and St. Viator third at 23.

FENTON'S 58 points headed the frosh-soph division with IC only eight points behind. St. Viator collected 39.

Heading the Lions' frosh-sophs were Terry Madigan and Jim Kieffer with firsts. Madigan covered 15-9½ in the broad jump, and Kieffer went :56.4 for a first in the 440.

Claiming seconds for the Lions were John Erfort in the 440, Bill Roser in the low hurdles, and the mile relay team of Pete McCall, Erfort, Kieffer, and Dick Merkel.

Manderscheid Wins 6th in Row; Loses

Tom Manderscheid, frosh "A" pitcher at Prospect, put his personal record at six straight wins last week with a doubleheader effort over East Leyden. But he absorbed his first defeat Monday at the hands of Glenbrook North.

Manderscheid beat East Leyden, 5-2, Tuesday, May 14, on the strength of solo homers by J. D. Thorne and Rick Froemling. Wednesday, Tom took over for Dan Agard in the first inning and pitched and batted the Knights to a 4-3 win.

Prospect scored all four runs in the third on a two-run triple by Manderscheid and Ken Traversone's two run homer.

Bob Brubaker outpitched Tom Monday as the Spartans took a 7-1 decision. The lone hit off of Brubaker was a base knock by Manderscheid.

Glenbrook got only three hits but took advantage of Knight fielding lapses to push across four runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh. Prospect staked Manderscheid to a 1-0 lead in the third when Ray Olson got to first on an error, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on another miscue.

PALATINE'S RON SMITH is up but not quite over the high jump bar during Saturday's district track and field competition at Prospect High School. Smith failed to place in the event which was won at 5-11. (Staff Photo by Joe Reece)

Brunner, Jamison Sparkle

John Jamison and John Brunner gained individual firsts Tuesday afternoon as Arlington High School's frosh-soph track team posted a fourth place in the North Shore Invitational at Maine East.

Jamison won the 100 yard dash in :10.3, and Brunner captured the mile run in 4:38.2.

Evanston won the team title with 50 points with Waukegan (47) and New Trier (44) heading Arlington's 26 markers.

Jamison added a second in the 220 in his century triumph. A state qualifier in the furlong, he was clocked in :22.8.

Also scoring for Arlington were Steve Ewart with a fourth in the 100, Bob Hoban with a fourth in the discus, and Ralph Morrisett with a third in the high jump. Morrisett cleared the winning ehight of 5-8 but had to settle for third because of the number of misses.

Arlington posted a second in the frosh-soph 880 yard relay with Jamison, Ewart, Chuck Hood, and Terry Clark turning in a fine 1:35.7 clocking. The Cards' frosh relay team finished fifth with Bill Niemeyer, Saylor, Greg Kolstad, and John Mueller working the four legs.

In Wisconsin Streams

Trout Fishing Faced With Many Problems

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series on Wisconsin trout streams, the trouble they are facing and how some problems are being solved.)

by GENE W. HINTZ
UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

MILWAUKEE, (UPI)—Man's endless duel with nature is continuing in Wisconsin, a land of lakes and streams whose attractions have drawn many tourists to the state for several years.

The war, which threatened to do away with many of our natural resources, was going greatly in man's favor until some men started seeing the results.

Small cities had grown up around lake that just 10 years before were wilderness areas. With the approval of the state public service commission — and more often without—residents of these cities had changed shorelines, built marinas and destroyed spawning beds of fish.

IN SOME OF these cities the results have not been shown yet, but in others a decline in fishing luck has already been noticed. Residents are asking why and urging the conservation department to do something about what they themselves caused.

On trout streams dams were built, warming temperatures, and habitat was destroyed, doing the same thing to the home of a fish that needs cool, clear water to survive.

Some streams were channeled into other paths, also destroyed the fishing.

And, despite the protests of ardent conservationists, such things are continuing today on the state's 8,930 miles of trout waters.

—THE WOLF RIVER, one of the nation's most famous trout streams, is endangered because one county got the go-ahead from the public service commission to build a dam whose only purpose would be to add one more lake to an area which already has many lakes and few streams.

—In Eau Claire County, highway department crews have stripped a productive trout stream of its natural cover preparatory to digging gravel for a road building project.

—In Sheboygan County, streams were channeled into privately-owned "trout farms," virtually destroying many streams for native trout.

—IN SOUTHWESTERN Wisconsin trout have been suffocated by mud, stirred up by cattle and filtering into streams because of poor conservation practices.

—Price County has asked the public service commission for permission to dam two trout streams, creating a 2,000 acre lake near the city of Park Falls.

Recognizing the problems and the declining number of streams where trout can grow naturally, the conservation department is taking two roads to saving the state's trout fishery. One, which serves the purpose of making the trout available to boating fisherman as well as stream fishermen, involves setting up and stocking trout lakes.

THE OTHER involves stocking and rebuilding trout streams, at the same time trying to save what is left.

The stocking program has cost the department between $400,000 and $450,000 a year, with cost per pound of fish produced about 75 cents. More than 1.8 million legal sized trout were stocked in lakes and streams this spring, with about 66.4 per cent going into 627 streams. The rest went into 127 lakes.

Lake Trout were stocked in Green Lake, Trout Lake and Lake Superior with about 200,000 of the yearling lakers going into Lake Superior. In addition about 650,000 fingerling trout were stocked in lakes and streams.

Next—a current battleground —the Wolf River.

Bards Explode Early, Handle Cardinal Nine

For a team battling to escape the conference basement Glenbard West gave Arlington's contending Cardinals fits in the 1963 season.

Bob Baker's Cards were able to show only a tie and loss in two outings with the seventh place Hilltoppers.

Glenbard drove southpaw Paul Splittorff from the mound in the second inning last week and hammered the host Arlington nine, 9-4, with a lusty 12-hit attack.

The normally reliable Splittorff yielded the pitching chores to junior Steve Martin in the second, but Steve also has had better days. Senior Gary Spencer finished up and was the most effective Cardinal pitcher of the afternoon.

Glenbard rocked Splittorff and Martin for nine runs in the first two innings but failed to score the rest of the way.

"Paul (Splittorff) was getting behind the hitters," Baker explained, "and he had to come in with his pitches. They were hitting the ball hard."

TOM FOLLETT, a junior right hander, worked on the hill for Glenbard West and went the route on a yield of only three hits. He hurled hitless ball for four innings.

"Glenbard's coach told me it was Follett's first start," Baker added. "He did a fine job. He's real quick."

Sophomore Mike Frase reached Follett for a single in the fifth inning to give Arlington its initial safety. Two walks preceded Mike's hit and Ed Staahl rode home with the first Cardinal run.

WITH ONE out and two men on Rog Lindstrom belted his fourth homer of the season to right-center, just out of the reach of the Glenbard right fielder. Lindstrom's poke accounted for the three final runs.

In working four stanzas for Arlington, Spencer allowed no runs and only three hits. A standout in American Legion ranks last summer, Spencer was a slow starter this spring but may be coming into his own now.

Frase, Lindstrom, and Joe Wertheimer picked up the Arlington hits with Wertheimer belting a double to left in the sixth.

PROSPECT'S TOM BREMNER (L) AND LARRY BOGART

by BILL HALLS

The two boys, wearing smiles as wide as a piece of homemade apple pie, stood panting at the finish line, clawing uneasily at the cinders with gnarled track spikes.

"We just go all out to beat each other," explained Tom Bremner, who had just finished a wisp behind teammate Larry Bogart in the high hurdles. "There's no special plan."

The words were gasped out, punctuated by gulps for air.

Bogart, a Prospect High junior, had just zipped over the 120-yard course in 14.6 seconds. Senior Bremner's time was 14.7.

A photographer asked for a picture, and the two athletes clasped hands in mutual congratulations. It was a spontaneous gesture.

The boys run against each other often, and someone asked if Bogart usually won.

"NO," REPLIED Bogart, speaking more easily now. "We've beaten each other all year."

The point was emphasized about half an hour later when Bremner edged Bogart in the 180 yard low hurdles. His time was 19.3, one-tenth of a second better than Bogart and George Koch of McHenry, who tied Larry for second place.

The victories and times were important because this was the State District Track Meet. Some 26 high schools competed. The winners, second place finishers, and others who met the minimum qualifying times or distances in each event will go on to Champaign-Urbana for the finals this weekend.

PROSPECT won the meet, run on its home track Saturday, but a note of tragedy prevailed.

Knight fans were happy for Bogart and Bremner and several other Prospect teammates who had qualified, but many could not help but wonder why two other fine hurdlers, seniors Ron Koepke and Terry Sietmann, were not given a chance to compete.

"It's a crying shame," said George Gattas, who coaches the Knight hurdlers for head coach Dick Calisch.

"Koepke could have taken second or third in the lows today," mused Calisch. "And Stietmann can do fifteen-one (15.1)."

CALISCH explained that Illinois High School Association rules prohibit any school from entering more than two boys in any single event. The best he could manage for Koepke was a spot in the 220-yard dash.

The 6-feet-4 senior finished fourth in his heat in 23.6 seconds, not good enough to qualify in an event he has not often run.

Sietmann was not entered in the meet at all.

No amount of sympathy or concern can measure a boy's disappointment. No one will ever know how well Koepke or Sietmann might have done at Champaign.

THE IHSA rule oversight is also compounded — at least in Prospect's case — because there is no shuttle-hurdle relay event in the state meet.

Bogart, Bremner, Sietmann and Koepke are most probably the best in the state in this event. But, again, no one will ever know.

It is always interesting when a crowd sees boys turn in fine performances in any athletic event, to know how it all came to happen.

In the case of Prospect's "Frantic Foursome," Gattas admits that "they were all pretty fair when I got them."

HE REFERRED to the work of Rusty Dowell, now hurdle coach at Forest View, who coached the boys last year.

"They're a good bunch," said Gattas. "They work hard."

Each day, after school, the four boys spent about an hour and a half practicing. Daily workouts include three sets each of sprints ranging from 100 to 440 yards.

The sequence is sprint one, jog one, sprint one, jog one, always increasing the pace and distance until the legs are pain-tired and the coaches' whistle sounds like the back blast of a jet engine.

"BOGART had some trouble one time," recalls Gattas. "He has a habit of dipping his shoulder and throwing himself off-stride."

To try and correct his fault, Larry ran on Sunday. Gattas liked Bogart's enthusiasm. It paid off Saturday.

When the meet was over, and the football-cool sun was slipping behind a spring haze, Gattas spotted Dowell leaving.

"Hey! Rusty!" He called out. "Good job."

"Yeah," replied the towering Dowell, accepting the compliment. "Good job, Boy!"

Maryville Boots Aid St. Viator In 13-9 Victory

St. Viator was outhit 11-9 but was aided by 12 Maryville errors in posting a 13-9 varsity baseball victory last week.

St. Viator carried a 14-3 record into action this week with Frank Mariani's club slated to journey to Immaculate Conception today (Thursday). The locals will meet Marian Central Saturday and Elmwood Park Monday.

Bill Ewald started on the mound for the Lions and pitched well until the fourth inning when he was touched for five runs.

Ewald was relieved by Chuck Heinrich who finished up.

Heinrich and Tim Walinski each blasted out two hits for the varsity Lions.

St. Viator came back with a 7-2 conquest of neighboring Forest View Saturday with Jeff Haiduke on the mound. Jim Vidt rapped a home run.

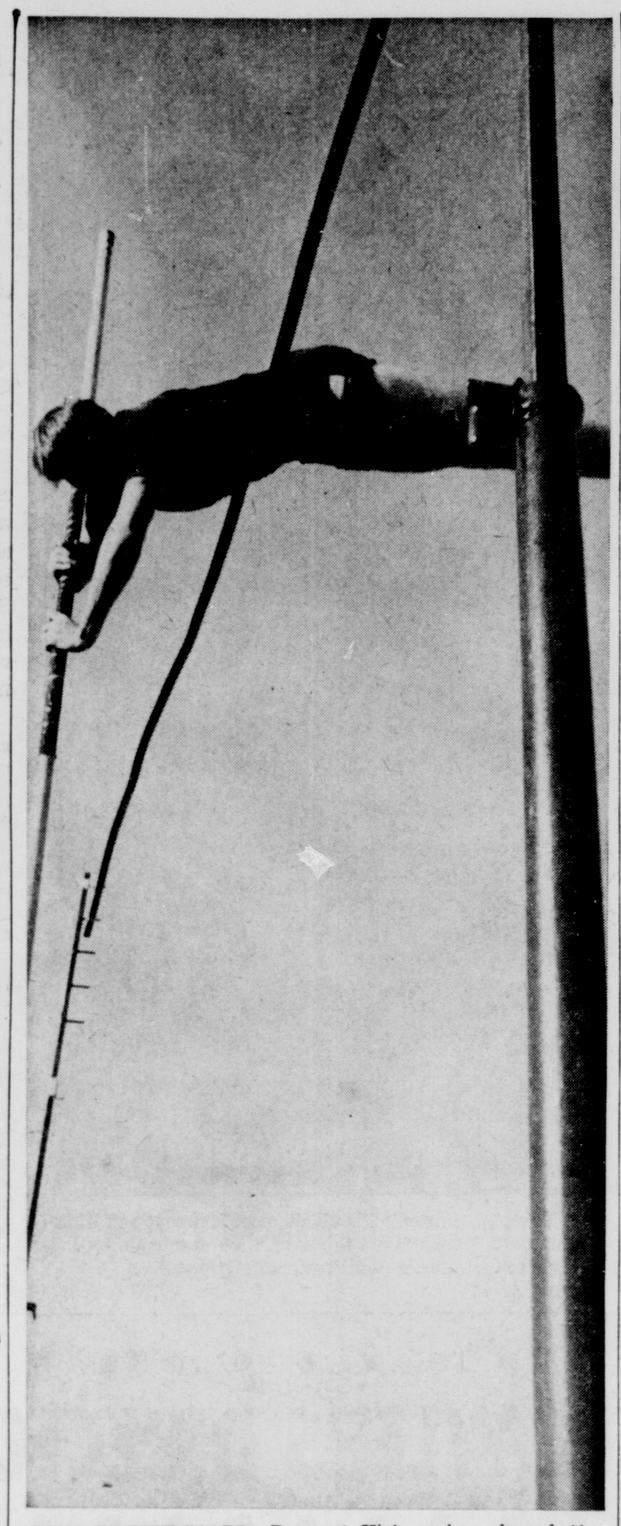
Complete details on the Forest View game appear elsewhere in the sports section.

Three Nights of Racing at O'Hare

Stock car racing swings into full weekend activity this coming weekend at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Roads, with the exciting late model convertibles plus the torrid Cadets in action both Friday and Saturday nights. Sunday continues as All-Cadet night.

Gates open each evening at 6 p.m. with time trials at 7 and the first race at 8:30. Doubleheader cards are the order every Friday and Saturday with twin 25-lap main events.

Convertible racing is rapidly stealing the Chicagoland stock car racing scene with no less than six sharp new entries impressing fans at O'Hare last Saturday night. The latest to join the convert ranks are Chicagoans Harry Simonsen, Bob Dotter and Frank Freda, Cadet Champion Ron Hieber of Elmwood Park, veteran LeRoy Roberts of Elmwood Park and young Jim Burke of south suburban Worth.



DICK WESTERGAARD, Prospect High senior, cleared 11-feet, four-inches Saturday to qualify for the finals of the Illinois High School Association state meeet at Champaign this weekend. Above, Westergaard is shown clearing a lesser height in practice. Dick helped his vaulting Saturday by purchasing half interest in a fibreglass pole, current rage of the nation's top vaulters. The other half of the $54 weapon is owned by teammate John Zasadny, who did not compete Saturday because of an injury. But Zasadny is a junior and should be back next year. Stop LaGrange, 3-2

Arlington Sophs Post One Victory In Week's Action

Dick Miller and John Friedl combined talents to hurl Arlington High's frosh-soph baseball team to a 3-2 victory over Grange Saturday in the first game of a conference doubleheader.

The triumph gave "Bus" Ormsbee's Cardinals their only victory in three outings during the week of league action.

Glenbard West had stopped Arlington on Wednesday, 4-2, and LaGrange bounced back with a 5-1 victory in the wind-up of Saturday's twin-bill.

Miller pitched shutout baseball for six innings in the first game Saturday but was shaky in the seventh and yielded the chores to Friedl. John retired the side on two outfield flies and a strikeout.

Arlington pushed over one run in the first and two in the fifth for the victory.

Score by innings:

Arlington	100	020	0—	3-4-1
LaGrange	000	000	2—	2-6-1

In Saturday's second game LaGrange hit the young Cardinals with a single run in the second and four in the fourth en route to a 5-1 victory.

Jim Kroll worked on the hill for the locals and fanned eight. He yielded 10 hits.

Tom Gack gave Arlington its only run with a long homer to center field.

Score by innings:

Arlington	000	100	0—	1- 6-2
LaGrange	010	400	0—	5-10-0

Glenbard West dumped the Cardinals last Wednesday, 4-2, with single runs in the second and sixth and two in the fourth.

Arlington hit the ball hard but always to someone. The Cards picked up eight safeties.

Kroll worked for Arlington and was tagged with the loss. He was touched for nine hits.

Score by innings:

Arlington	100	001	0—	2-8-1
Glenbard West	010	201	*—	4-9-6

In each of the games last week Arlington turned in some fine defensive play. The pitching was spotty, the batting fair as the Cards couldn't come up both losses.

Sophs Also Triumph

Cards Roll Past Maine in Tennis

Arlington's powerful varsity tennis squad registered its ninth shutout of the 1963 season last Thursday in rolling past visiting Maine East, 5-0.

The blanking was the first for Ken Schaller's West Suburban powerhouse since a conquest of non-league rival Proviso East on April 24.

Frank Bohac's Cardinal sophs, who had been making a habit of 5-0 decisions, had more trouble this time out but did manage a 3-2 triumph.

ARLINGTON'S frosh - sophs, unbeaten in league play after six outings carried a string of three straight 5-0 successes into action last Thursday. The sophs have eight shutouts this spring.

The varsity victory over Maine East was accomplished with little effort. Russ Walters (6-0, 6-0), Jim Jakubiec (6-2, 6-2), and Chuck Close (6-2, 6-2) were easy singles winners.

Mirrel Kephart and Rich Wollerman stopped Tom Roberts and Pete Heckman 6-3, 6-0 in first doubles, and Jeff Peek and Bobby VonBoeckmann whipped Bill Shumay and Larry Peters in second doubles 6-4, 6-3.

Arlington slipped by Maine East in the frosh-soph meet with one point in singles and two in doubles.

Greg Inman stopped Masnuco 6-2, 6-2 for the Cards' only singles triumph. Randy Blaisell and John Stevens and Brian Burke and Dave Milligan headed doubles.

Cards Fall To R-B in League Golf

District Champs Post One WSC Win in Week

Marv Rezabek of Riverside-Brookfield, shooting for his third straight year as a conference medalist in golf, fired a nifty 75 Monday afternoon at Riverside Country Club to spark the host Bulldogs to an impressive 314-337 victory over visiting Arlington.

It was the Cardinals' first outing since wrapping up the district crown at Golden Acres Country Club. Riverside had finished third in the Hinsdale District, 12 strokes behind the champion Red Devils.

Rezabek turned in nines of 37-38 Monday to pace the R-B squad. Marv was frosh-soph medalist in the conference in 1961 and last spring earned varsity honors with a brilliant 34-38 at Acacia Country Club.

Riverside - Brookfield is the defending varsity champion in the West Suburban Conference.

MONDAY'S reversal was the second for Gary Clendenny's outfit in three league meets within the past week. Now standing 3-5 in duals against some of the finest competition in the state, the Cardinals slipped by Downers Grove by one stroke after falling by five to Glenbard West.

In the Riverside match Ken Seeger was low man for the Cards with an 82 on nines of 43-39. Soph Darryl Burkett posted an 83 with scores of 42-41.

Also figuring in the Arlington total were soph Bob Armour with an 87 and junior Rog O'Neil at 85. Rog closed with a 38 after a 47 opening nine.

Fred Devin, Arlington's No. 1 man, mushroomed to an 89 with nines of 47 and 42.

IN CLAIMING a one-stroke victory over Downers Grove Arlington posted a 320 total, its best for 18 holes in dual competition this spring.

Devin was on his game this time with a fine 77. The junior standout covered Woodridge Country Club in 38-39 for a five-stroke conquest of Downers' No. 1 performer.

Playing in the second position, Seeger also reached 77 for the Cards. Ken had the low nine for the day with a 36. Other Arlington totals were 83s by both O'Neil and Armour.

IN A conference match earlier in the week Glenbard West, keyed by a fine 78 by Phil Aughnay, stopped the host Cardinals 322-327.

Aughnay continued his string of success at Golden Acres. He fired a 76 in the Lake Park Invitational for medalist honors.

Armour, playing in his first varsity match, was low man for Arlington with a 79. Devin and George Brinke came in with 82s and O'Neil fired an 84.

Results of the frosh - soph meets and the competition with Prospect appear elsewhere in the sports section.

Cards Tip Knights In Varsity Golf; O'Neil Fires 36

Arlington and Prospect turned in some fancy rounds last week in a nine-hole match at Golden Acres Country Club with the varsity Cardinals pulling out a tight 153-154 vicjtory.

There were six rounds in the 30's, three by each club, with junior Rog O'Neil's 36 heading both aggregations.

Arlington received other fine rounds from soph Bob Armour (37), junior Fred Devin (39), and senior George Brinke (41). Scores which didn't figure in the Arlington total were a 44 by junior Pete Johnson and 46 by senior Ken Seeger.

Sophomore Dave Huntley paced the Knights' varsity with a sparkling 37. Also scoring for Prospect were Norm Milner with a 38, Warren Luebcke with a 39, and Bob Robertshaw with a 40.

Prospect gained some revenge on a frosh-soph level with a 164-170 decision. Steve Herod was low for the victors with a 40, but Dave Lovgren and Doug Sytle chipped in with 41s. Rick Lynch rounded out the Prospect total with a 42.

Roger Baer's 40 was low for Arlington with Dave Carlson and Neal Trent fashioning 43s and Glen Michalski a 44.

Cards' Soph Golf Squad Stops R-B

Arlington's frosh-soph golf squad turned back Riverside-Brookfield Monday afternoon at the Riverside Country Club to snap a three-meet losing skein.

The Cardinals stopped Riverside, 363-378, with freshman Rick Price leading the way on nines of 45-44.

Also figuring in the Arlington total were freshman John Keys (89), soph Dave Carlsen (92), and freshman Roger Baer (94).

In other conference action last week the Cardinals dropped a six-stroke (336-342) decision to Downers Grove and Carlsen and Price turning in identical 84s.

Baer fashioned an 86 for Arlington, and Glen Michalski posted an 88.

Glenbard West initiated the Cards' string of reversals with a 345-350 victory. Carlsen paced Arlington with identical 41 nines.

Sophomores Win 1 of 3 At Prospect

Prospect's soph baseball team split a doubleheader with East Leyden last week, winning the opener, 12-7, and losing the nightcap, 3-1, and then took it on the nose at the hands of Glenbrook North Monday, 15-3.

Bill Phillips, Tom Macaulay and Marty Ryan supplied the punch in the lone victory. Phillips wacked out two hits and drove in three runs. Macaulay also had three RBI's on one hit, and Ryan banged in two more runs.

Craig Thomas started for Prospect and fanned seven in getting credit for the win. However, he needed help from Doug Gunter, Keith Bergen, Gerry Besenhofer and Wayne Pearson before it was over.

Don Greco's bases empty homer accounted for the lone Knight run in the nightcap. Bergen pitched and fanned nine with a fine four-hitter. But Leyden scored twice in the first on a walk, sacrifice and a double, and picked up the third in the fourth on a walk and two more hits.

Bergen didn't have it Monday, Glenbrook's Spartans racked him for six runs in the opening inning, and came back with eight more in the seventh inning, paralleling an earlier 13-4 win over the Knights. Four other Knight pitchers helped Bergen with the mound duties.

Tom Clow drove in one Prospect tally in the first, and Gregg Melzer's hit set the stage for another. The final run came in the second when Bergen reached base on an error, and came around on two more miscues and a wild pitch.

Don Hipple's club now has a 7-4 record.

O'Dea, Stolz Share Honors

The early birds were at a disadvantage last week in the Hoffmen Men's golf league encounters.

Strong and gusty 25 mph winds from the southwest buffeted the course until they changed abruptly to gentle breezes about six o'clock. Late starters played their rounds with practically no interference.

Whether the winds or the callowness of the season are responsible is anybody's guess, but par has scarcely been threatened so far.

Paul O'Dea, number three man for Roselle State Bank, and Lou Stolz, number five for Rainbow Inn, shared honors for low net with 33's. O'Dea captured his team's sole three points with a 43-10, over Bill Arrington's 48-13-35 as the Rainbow five led by Stolz (52-19-33) and Captain Bob Boedecker downed the bankers 13-3, to carry them into second place. Boedecker's 38 earned him low gross for the day.

The Rainbowmen also took low team honors for the week with a 181.

John Milke's five, Monroe Auto Equipment, maintained their hold on first place with a 10-6 win over Tony's Sinclair, despite his own loss toRayLardespite his own loss to Ray Larson, 0-3. Larson fired a tough 41 which, with his 5 handicap, netted him a 36.

Though the scoring on holes one through nine has been unspectacular, everyone in the league has played the tenth with great gusto.

Mishap Fails To Stop Race Driver Curcio

Racine Entry Crashes Into Wall at Waukegan

Milt Curcio, veteran Racine race driver, narrowly escaped death at Waukegan Speedway Saturday night when his modified race car crashed into a cement wall and hurtled 75 feet thru the air. The mishap occurred early in the triple-bill for Modified, Late Model and Sportsman-type stock cars. Curcio escaped with minor injuries and is expected to race again next Sunday night.

According to track manager Mike Kaishian, Waukegan Speedway will begin two nights of racing on Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19. The Saturday night programs will feature Late Model and Sportsman stock cars with the Modified and Sportsman cars running Sunday nights.

Ted Schuster of Zion won the Modified feature race with Ken Heiden of Barrington second and "Junior" Dodd of Waukegan third, Harold Wade of Waukegan fourth and Steve Stevens of Lake Villa fifth.

DICK ERICKSON of Island Lake copped the Late Model feature followed by Len Kannie of Kenosha, Roger Hagi, Antioch, O'Dell Jones of Waukegan and Ray Dickson of Gurnee.

In the Late Model heat, it was Len Kannie, Roger Hagi and Eddie Jones.

Dennis Burgan, Zion, who was 1962 Sportsman car champion, started the 1963 season with a feature win. The Sportsman heat went to Gino Wagner of Cudahy with Bobby Jackson, Zion, Harold Gutche, Kenosha, and Jack Ester and Dennis Burgan of Zion finishing next in order. Glen Eichmann of Lake Zurich set fast time of the evening with 17.32. Allan Gutchie, Jim Cossman and Milt Curcio were the season's first rollovers.

Waukegan Speedway is located one-half mile west of Green Bay Road, Waukegan and races begin at 8:30 with time trials at 7 p.m. Admissions are $1.50 for adults and 25 cents for children under 12.

Seleski Tops St. Emily's Golf Action

Playing in weather more suitable for football or hockey, St. Emily's golf leagure opened the new season last Friday.

Although the weather was cold, Paul Seleski, Prospect Plaza Bank team captain, was hot, and led the league with a sparkling 36 to win low gross and help his team into a tie for first place with Keefer's Pharmacy.

If the scores turned in are any indication, this could be a five-team race down to the wire, as it was last season.

Joining the league this year for the first time is Father T. J. Cannon, Assistant Pastor of Saint Emily's.

Keefer's Off to Fast Start in Twilight League

The Tuesday night division of the Mount Prospect Twilight golf league, after being washed out on the opening night, finally began its 1963 season and 23rd year of play last week.

Keefer's Pharmacy got off to a fast start and the early league lead by taking eight points of a possible ten from Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes. Big point winner for the Pharmacists was Ed Henricks, playing in the "D" slot, who posted a 45 net 34 against his opponent, Cliff Osgood's 52 net 44.

This gave Henricks two points for match and medal plus another point for low individual net. Other results showed Ed Stofft taking two points from Glenn Adams, and Warren Vandervoort taking two from Ben Kopriva. Jim Viger contributed the only two points for the Bowling Lanes when he took two from Harry Patton.

CLOSE BEHIND Pharmacy, with nearly as impressive a start, was Mt. Prospect Electric Construction Co., who scored a 7½-2½ victory over Golden Isle Restaurant.

Winkelman's Shell Service turned up in third place with a 7-3 win over Phil's Pure Oil.

In other opening night matches Wille Lumber and Fuel defeated Licht's Paint Store 6½-3½; Illinois Range eked out a 5½-4½ decision over Annen and Busse Realtors; and Kirchhoff Insurance and Kruse's Tavern battled it out to a 5-5 tie.

Weather conditions were somewhat difficult with gusty winds making play more unpredictable than usual. As a result only two players broke 40. Art Hammerstrom shot a 39 on the first nine and Clarke Robinson a 37 on the second nine.

The only birdie reported was one by Earl Meeske on the 18th hole.

League standings May 7:

Keefer's Pharmacy	8

Seventh Annual National Drag Races Scheduled

The Seventh Annual National Championship Drag Races, expected to draw all the leading drivers in the country, will be held on May 30-31, and June 1-2, at the Great Lakes Dragaway, Union Grove, Wis.

The program calls for races on Thursday, Memorial Day, and Sunday, June 2, to start at 2 p.m. The Friday, May 31, and Saturday, June 1, races will be held both in the afternoon at 2 p.m. and in the evening, starting at 7 p.m.

Spectators coming these days for the 2 p.m. races may remain for the evening races. Time trials for all four days will begin at 9 a.m.

TRACK officials have high hopes that the existing track records of 187.50 miles per hour, set two years ago at the National Meet, will be broken over the Memorial Day Weekend. The record is held jointly by Don Garlits of Tampa, Fla., with his powerful nitro-fuel Dragster, the "Swamp Rat," and Chris Karamesines of Chicago, who drives the famous "Chizler."

The track Top Speed Record of 180 MPH, on Gas, is held by the twin-engine Dragster, "Engines Unlimited," driven by John Tunison of Milwaukee. He will be driving an entirely new and lighter weight Dragster for this National Meet.

Last year, more than 300 entries from 37 States competed in the Annual Classic, and both numbers may go even higher with the longer weekend this year.

The Dragstrip is located 20 miles south of Milwaukee, and 12 miles north of the Illinois-Wisconsin State line, on Hiway 45, at Union Grove, Wis. For further information, please contact Robert Metzler at HI 2-7200 or HI 2-4686 in Milwaukee.

Story of Nurses Caps

by HELENE BRISTOL
Phtographs by Don Vickery

This is American Hospital Week.

One of the most integral parts of any hospital is the staff of nurses with their white uniforms and caps.

Everywhere in the hospital are seen the busy figures in white — dispensing medication, comforting the sick and lonely, supervising medical routine with knowledge and dedication, aiding doctors in their pain-relieving and life-saving tasks.

At casual glance, nurses may all look the same but each wears a distinguishing mark to designate their school of nursing. Each nursing school has a different cap — some similar, but on close examination all different. Nurses wear their caps proudly as knights once carried their family coat-of-arms.

Where did the cap tradition begin — and why?

No one knows for sure.

Some say caps originated with the wide "Dutch-style" hats worn by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul who established the first modern school of nursing in Parish in 1864 and who had a centuries-long reputation for hospitals and sick care.

Another opinion is that the caps came from the stiff white caps worn by the women trained as nurses at the Institute of Protestant Deaconesses, founded at Kaiserwerth, Germany, in 1836. Florence Nightingale took a course of nursing there. Since she set up the first nurses-training school in an English-speaking country, it is possible this was the source of her "cap" inspiration.

Others note that every lady in the mid-nineteenth century wore a cap indoors.

Still others say caps to cover the hair were required as part of the cleanliness demanded of early nurses by others of their profession and by early hospital directors and trustees.

Early caps were designed to completely cover the hair (worn up in a knot or braid on top of the head. Typical of the early caps is the one at lower right from New England Hospital for Women and Children, Boston. It was at this hospital that Linda Richards became the first nurse trained in America. The cap was adopted about 1875.

The early "hair-covering" caps are in sharp contrast to the typical nurses cap of today shown at right. This cap is from the Mary Thompson School of Nursing, Chicago.

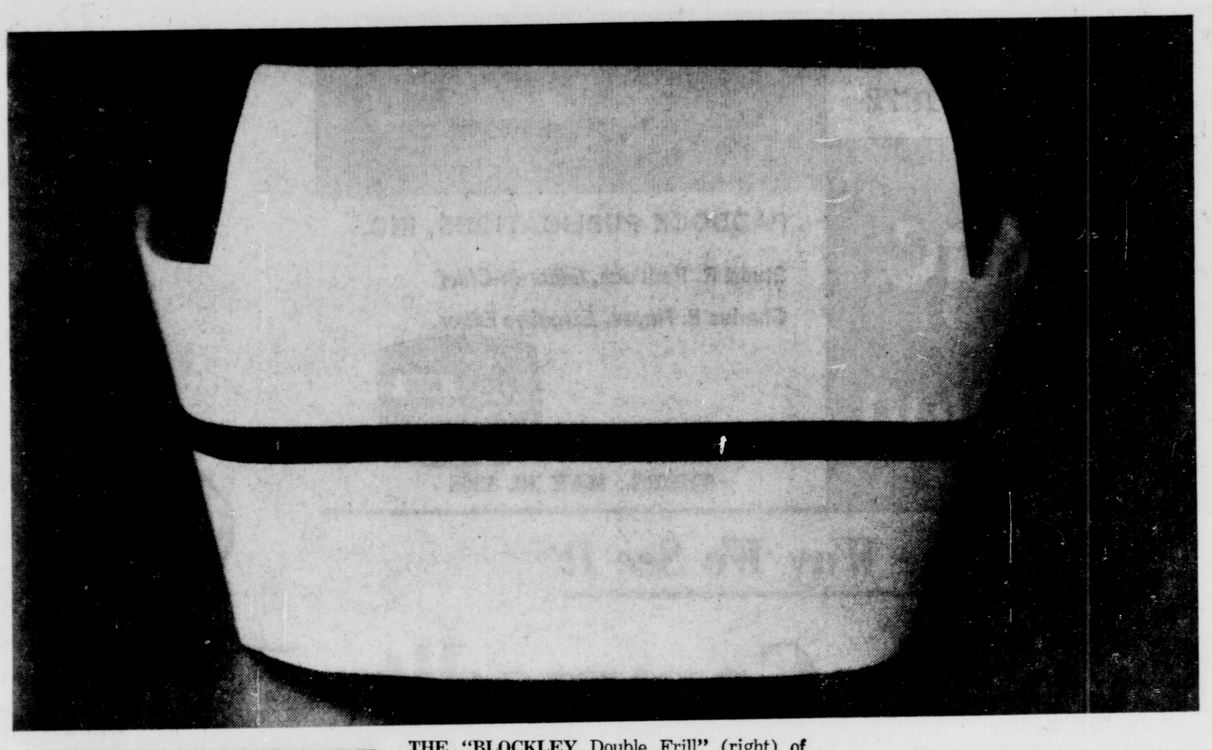
Nurses who proudly wear the distinctive caps of their schools of nursing today differ from the early nurses. At the Massachusetts General Hospital Training School for Nurses, established in 1873, it was not until 1878 that caps were introduced "against the wish of the nurses." When a probationer was accepted at the school, she was given crinoline, cut according to a pattern, and ruching. She made her own cap.

Later, at almost all hospital schools, a "little old lady seamstress" was found who traditionally made the caps. Many nursing caps are still the sole domain of "little old ladies."

Some of the early opposition to caps and uniforms is shown in the minutes of the Bellevue Hospital Board of Managers in 1873. The Commissioner of Charities and Corrections "assured" Miss Helen Bowden (Sister Helen), superintendent, that "a uniform was an essential part of hospital nursing — and would be required by the authorities." The Board of Managers agreed, but noted "we must devise something which our nurses will be willing to wear."

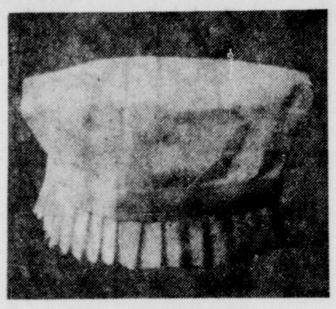
In 1876, the board minutes state "It should be impressed upon our nurses that the caps were intended to cover the hair and not to be simply coquettish ornaments, also that long dresses in the Wards were most objectionable."

Today the cap is a badge of honor and a coveted award of a successful nursing probation.



AS DISTINCTIVE AS nurses caps are the nursing habits of Catholic sisters. Studying an article on nursing care in a professional magazine are Sister Mary Paul of Ressurrection Hospital and Sister Mary Modesta of Holy Family Hospital. The habit of Sister Modesta dates from 1875 when the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth was founded in Rome. Sister Mary Paul's habit is that of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Resurrection founded in Rome in 1891.

A NURSE in her school cap at Massachusetts General Hospital, 1878.



THE "BLOCKLEY Double Frill" (right) of Philadelphia General Hospital was designed by the first superintendent in 1885. Originally the cap covered the entire head, but was modified to the present size in 1898. Not only has the design of the cap remained unchanged, but Philadelphia General graduates throughout the world send back their caps for laundering or order new ones from the same Philadelphia family who laundered the first caps in 1885. A special starch is used in the process and no one outside the family has been able to duplicate it.

A NURSING CONFERENCE at Northwest Community Hospital is a circle of varied nurses caps: Mrs. Cecelia Wyant of Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York (standing); Mrs. Margaret Bredow of St. Joseph, Fort Worth; Mrs. Irene Coxhead, Huron Road, Cleveland; and Mrs. Mary Gadberry, Mount Carmel, Pittsburg, Kan.

Nurses Pledge

The "capping ceremony" marks the entrance of a student nurse to actual hospital nursing after her beginning probationary or classwork-study period. With lighted tapers, and under the sponsorship of senior-student and graduate nurses, the girls receive their "caps" as marks of their profession.

Just the medical profession has its Oath of Hippocrates, nursing has a pledge recited during the "capping." Faces framed in the light of candles, the students repeat the Nightingale Pledge.

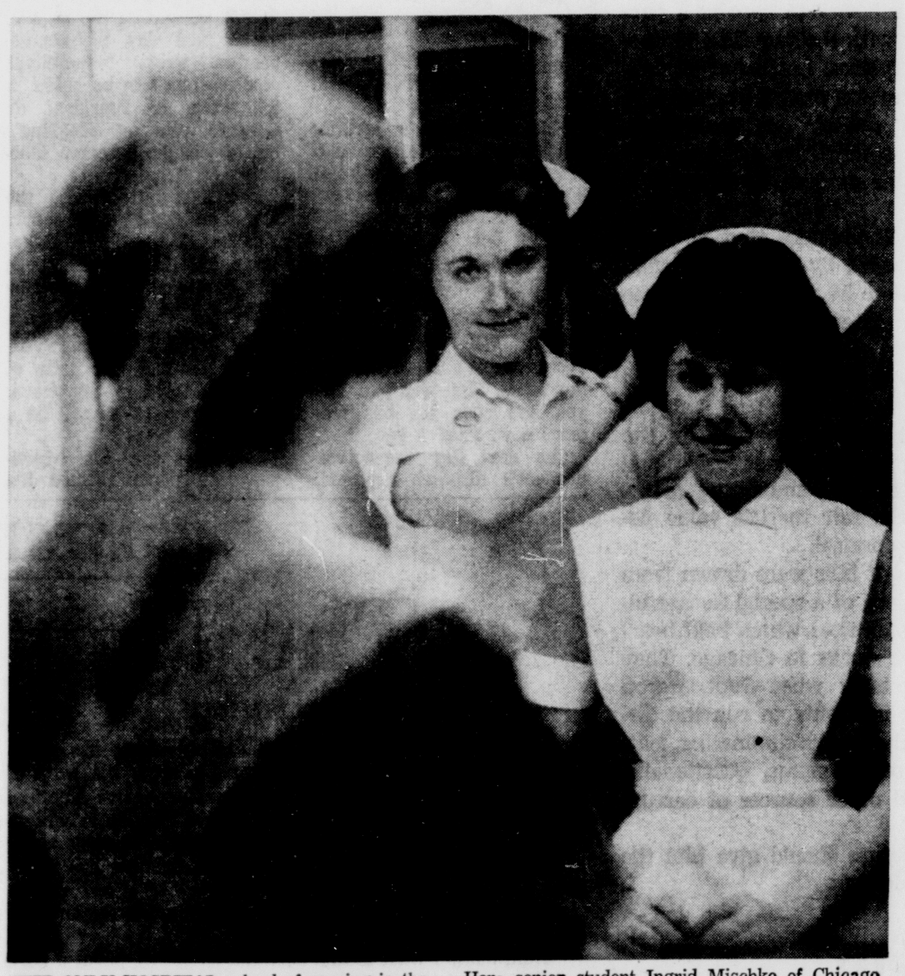
I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly:

To pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully.

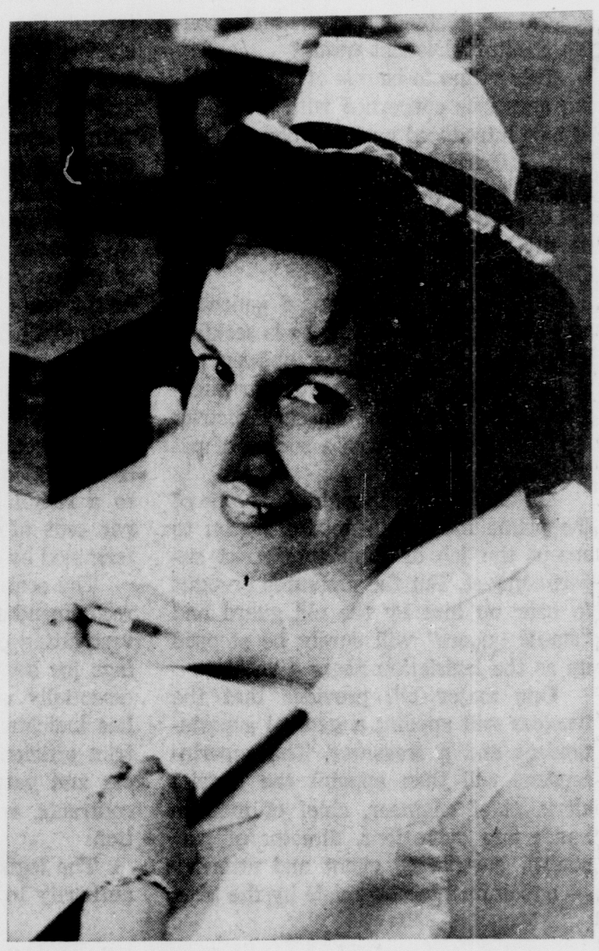
I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug.

I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my profession.

With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.



THE ONLY HOSPITAL school of nursing in the northwest suburbs is Lutheran General and Deaconess School of Nursing in Park Ridge. Here senior student Ingrid Mischke of Chicago gets a helpful adjust for her cap from graduate Paula Martens of Des Plaines.



ON DUTY AT Lutheran General Hospital, Mrs. Virginia Castritis of Glenview wears her cap from Worcester City Hospital, Mass., while she catches up on her paper work.

Precious Resource

The Way We See It

Valuable Commodity

The evening shower, the watering of the lawn, the filling of the automatic washer are all taken for granted. Few users of water realize this is a precious commodity.

Of late, however, more and more scientists and concerned officials are coming to the realization that we cannot afford to keep pumping away such a natural resource without replenishing it.

One television special, in fact, quoted an expert who envisioned the apocalyptic sight of a dried up, barren and uninhabited earth circling the sun unless we do something to conserve this resource.

The water pinch is being felt locally by northwest suburban communities whose well supplies are falling. It was recently manifest in the meeting between the municipal heads of Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines to determine the feasibility of obtaining water directly from the city of Chicago.

Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, along with Palatine and Arlington Heights, are members of the DAMP Commission, formed in 1956 to determine future sources of water supply for the thirsty suburbs. DAMP is also conducting a study to decide if a Chicago water connection is advisable.

In the background is the seven-state legal battle being conducted over the issue of diversion of Lake Michigan water. Six other states — Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota and New York — maintain Chicago is the only metropolitan center which does not return used water to Lake Michigan.

Sanitary sewers in the metropolitan Chicago area now drain the water into the Illinois River system where it eventually travels southward to empty into the Gulf of Mexico.

The legal contentions rest before the United States Supreme Court. Another petition, for instance, from the Tree Towns (Elmhurst-Villa Park-Lombard) Water Commission is before the high court to permit it to tap Lake Michigan for water. The commission was also to have served Elk Grove Village, now looking for other sources of water, Bensenville and Addison.

The commission says that it only wants 20 to 25 cubic feet of water per second, contending that evaporation takes hundreds of times as much per second from the lake. Michigan counters that the Tree Towns Commission will be pumping off as much as 60 cubic feet per second.

These figures, of course, are based on comparatively recent population figures. When the needs of communities girdling the lake are considered in terms of the population explosion, the problem emerges in its full enormity.

It would be far better if Chicago and its satellite communities applied the money being spent on litigation on devising means for returning water to Lake Michigan.

There is no reason for them to be contentious rather than cooperative in dealing with a resource that serves a common need.

Required Legislation

Will Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley support pending legislation the new general superintendent of the Metropolitan Sanitary District wants?

This seems to be one of the overriding questions concerned with a number of bills introduced by Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, to strengthen the hand of General Supt. Vinton W. Bacon, the blue ribbon selection to clean up one of the messiest sources of scandal in Chicago.

The legislation introduced generally gives Bacon the authority he is seeking. Furthermore, it provides answers in three critical areas: contractual arrangements, the leasing of sanitary district land and the district as a source of patronage.

Mayor Daley is thought to be one of the prime movers in getting Bacon to accept the job of sanitary district superintendent. But the pressures brought to bear on him by the old guard and "status quoers" will surely be stepped up as the legislation nears a vote.

One major bill provides that the trustees will appoint a general superintendent and a treasurer. The superintendent will then appoint the district clerk, chief engineer, chief of maintenance and operations, director of personnel, purchasing agent and attorney — appointments now made by the trustees.

Another bill would give the superintendent the authority to appoint a purchasing agent with the "advise and consent" of the trustees. Letting of all contracts and purchase orders over $2,500, with certain spelled out exceptions, would be by competitive bidding, and even under this amount by bidding if "practicable."

Another bill provides that no lease of property owned by the district shall be for more than 50 years and that the value shall be determined by appraisal. (Some current sanitary district land leases run to 99 years and appear to be based on 16th Century land values.) Leases would also be awarded on the basis of bids if the bid is at least equal to a rental payment amounting to six per cent of the fair market value determined by appraisal.

The series of bills were drawn from recommendations of a special Senate investigating committee which held hearings for seven weeks in Chicago. They essentially embody what Supt. Bacon has indicated he wants to run the district efficiently, while eliminating loafers and patronage plums, questionable contracts, and other sources of corruption.

The legislature should give him the authority to do this.

Totalitarianism

The indictment of three Indiana University students on charges of "subversion" smacks of totalitarianism.

A grand jury indicted them for attendance at a meeting at which a national officer of the Young Socialist Alliance spoke about civil rights and the acquisition of political power.

Indictments were returned on the basis of Indiana's 1951 anti-subversive law. The Young Socialist Alliance of which the students are members has been labeled a "Trotskyite-Communist" organization by the prosecution. The youths were also involved in campus rioting in connection with last year's Cuban blockade.

If we're so concerned about the radicals in our midst, then let's round up George Lincoln Rockwell, the American Nazi leader and his followers; let's lock up the Black Muslims who preach race hate and violence along with their white counterpart, the Ku Klux Klan. Let's fill our jails with John Birch Society members who advocate the overthrow of existing institutions for a return to what they recall with misty-eyed fervor as "The Republic."

The point is, we shouldn't be so concerned about them. A democracy should be big enough to accommodate them all. If we are to remain true to our traditions of diversity, than we must be tolerant enough to permit extremes as well as the more substantial moderate middle.

Anything less — and particularly at a university where academic freedom is supposed to exist — is a disservice to names like Jefferson and Lincoln and, ultimately, the country itself.

Critic's Corner

Preoccupied With Safety

by HESTER KLINE
Rolling Meadows News Editor

I was driving along a street in town the other day, pondering the 20-mile speed limit in school areas. It took school people so long to get this safety regulation approved by the state legislature, but different police departments have interpreted the law differently, some enforcing the slow speed all day long and others only as the sign permits, "when children are present."

It was just after 1 p.m. and youngsters should be back in school. The crossing guard was back in his car. Supposing some youngster came barrelling along, late, a straggler. Would the guard jump out and help him across, I mused?

KLINE

While my mind was preoccupied with safety, of all things, I ran through a stop sign. Not that I was aware of it at the moment. I came to a busy intersection and there I made a good stop. I have the word of the policeman who sirened me down just around the corner for that.

"DIDN'T I come to a full stop?" I asked him as he greeted me with a courteous "Good afternoon."

"You did back there," he said, "but you didn't at the sign before."

And I knew right away what he meant. My subconscious rose to the surface. A scant hour earlier, going the other direction, I had thought to myself that without a warning that a stop sign was ahead, a driver would surely miss that sign, set off to the side.

And miss it I had on the way back.

I was preoccupied—woolgathering if you will. It doesn't make it any less serious that I was preoccupied with safety. If I had caused a bad accident at that intersection, the hurt person and damaged car would be just as bad off despite my noble thoughts.

The point is, how often do we drive with our minds wandering from the dangerous and hazardous business at hand—propelling a killer, a behemoth.

The gendarme explained the facts to me, nicely but firmly.

MY CHAGRIN was sincere. And obvious. So obvious in fact that the poor polite policeman was worried that he had shaken me up unduly.

By a combination of courtesy, censure and concern that officer taught me a lesson that had a more lasting effect on my driving than a $10 fine would have done, although I admit I would have missed the greenback.

Each time I'm on the verge of wool - gathering, this incident flashes before me. That policeman can know that his job was well done. Even this tiny fraction of additional safety is of infinite value.

If I can do a bit of missionary work by making others more careful when behind the wheel, I will have in some small measure repaid the courteous cop.

They're for Real

Political Observers

by BOB CUMMINS

I met a most interesting person the other day. He was in this country on a visit.

He is a free-lance worker in his native land, serving as sort of a helper to foreign correspondents. No, I don't mean he is an informer, or a person who peeks through keyholes or taps wires or anything like that. He is a "political observer."

As an avid reader of dispatches from abroad, I was familiar with him and eager to learn about his occupation.

He got his start because he happened to be sitting in the little Trois Alligateurs Cafe on Mickiemandlestrasse the day after Grunspacher suffered that disastrous defeat in the biennial town council elections.

CUMMINS

This cafe was a favorite rendezvous for foreign correspondents, one of whom happened to sit at my friend's table. As they sipped cafe au lait, the correspondent mused, "A severe defeat for Grunspacher! What does it mean?"

AND MY friend replied, "Grunspacher? He raised the bus fares. That was bad. But you can open the bus windows now. That is good."

The next day the correspondent's dispatch reported: "Political observers were at a loss to explain Grunspacher's setback at the polls. They detected dissatisfaction with the rising cost of living under his regime, but felt that this had been offset by steps he had taken to modernize the economy."

A few days later the two men met again at the cafe. As the correspondent chatted about de Gaulle's veto of England's bid to join the Common Market, my friend happened to mention, "The chef's tripe stew this noon didn't agree with me at all.

The next day the correspondent wrote: "Rumblings of discontent can be heard in the wake of President de Gaulle's veto of England's bid to join the Common Market."

Not long afterwards, the two men again were seated together at the Trois Alligateurs. The talk turned, as it will sooner or later, to Elizabeth Taylor.

MY FRIEND observed, "Poor Richard! The paths of glory lead but to the grave. I wonder where he will be a year from now?"

The next day, our correspondent's paper printed the following: "Although the warmth of Anglo-American relations recently has seemed almost unprecedented, keen political observers foresee a rift developing within the year."

After this, our correspondent got a substantial pay raise from his publisher. He promptly offered to pay my friend a fee to be sure of his services in the future.

Thus my friend decided to give up his job (he had been a shipping clerk) and become a full-time political observer.

Every day he holds court at the Trois Alligateurs for his clients. He has many now.

"IT IS A good life," he remarked. "And a satisfying one. It is gratifying to be able to help readers to understand better the extremely complex political and economic developments of the contemporary world." I was impressed by his humility.

And to think that I once believed that "political observers" were simply a figment of the imagination!

Opposes Bunching Of Banking Power

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

If you are interested in what is happening to small business in the nation, one of the issues which should have your interest is that of branch banking.

Both from Washington and from Springfield proposals for a change in the law to permit banks to establish branches are again in the news.

ONE OF THE more interesting publications to cross my desk recently was a 541-page report on "Chain Banking" by Texas Congressman Wright Patman's Committee on Small Business.

In the midst of all the tables of statistics this one fact is clear—it is easier for a bank to make one loan of $1,000,000, for example, than it is to make 100 loans of $10,000 each. This means a somewhat natural tendency for banks to loan to the big, solid business rather than to the small businessman or individual.

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois is quoted as saying: "I have talked with a great many people in Great Britain and a few in Canada, and their almost unanimous opinion is that the concentration of banking led to a concentration of industry."

This concentration of industry—whether in the banking field or any other—is something that generally should be avoided. It is particularly dangerous in the banking field because banks are the life-blood of small business.

THAT THERE is already too much concentration is clear from these striking figures in the report: there are 13,400 commercial banks in the United States—and the 306 largest of these hold over 60 per cent of the deposits!

The 10 largest banks in the country— and this included the two big Chicago banks that are pushing branch banking in Illinois—now have about 22 per cent of the total deposits of the nation.

The report states: "The most serious danger of a branch banking system is the fact that local enterprise may be stifled. The local independent banker is interested in promoting local enterprise. He does not have to clear with a home office located in some remote metropolis. He is interested in bringing employment opportunities to the community. The branch bank, however, caters to the large, well-established businesses."

Even in Illinois, with the safeguard we have, it is clear that the two big banks in Chicago could have a powerful voice in the smaller banks if they wanted it — through loans which are on the books.

James C. Downs Jr., chairman of the Bank of Oakbrook (Illinois), is also chairman of the move to get branch banking in the state. According to the congressional report, he has a loan of $100,000 from the First National Bank of Chicago on his stock in the Oakbrook bank.

That stock is 3,060 shares and represents 26 per cent of the stock of the Oakbrook bank. If the First National Bank of Chicago would want to have a voice in the affairs of the Oakbrook bank, it might be in a position to have it.

'HONEST TO GOD'

The Man for Others

By MARTIN E. MARTY

A new book on theology. Ho-hum. This column has pretty well decided that theology (the attempt to apply the Word of God to the world of men) is a dead issue in religious America.

We complain often enough in this space that life is arranged apart from God and that we are not notably curious about hearing whether he can be heard and whether he has something to say.

When last did a book of theology as opposed to one on man-centered self-help "make news?"

Well, today I want to talk about an exception, about a book concerning which you have heard or will hear. You heard of it if you read Time or Newsweek or a major newspaper. What you heard was based on its publication in England. Now it is being published in America. The title is fetching: Honest to God. The author: John A. T. Robinson. The publisher: Westminster, a Presbyterian house. The price: $1.65. The occasion for all the fuss: the book sounds heretical to some. So what? There are plenty of heretical books.

MARTY

But this one is written by an Anglican bishop, who is to build up the faith, not tear it down. There is the issue.

Fortunately I do not have to pass judgment on the orthodoxy or heresy of Anglican bishops. As a long-time reader of Robinson, however, I think I can pass judgment on his intentions in the book.

His intentions, as they say, are honorable. He wants to be "honest to God." He writes out of the kind of frustration many of us share. That is, he is really devoted to the Christian cause and to Jesus Christ. But what he sees is a nation which dismisses the Father of Jesus Christ and the whole endeavor to organize life around the faith.

It lists itself as Christian, professes belief in the existence but not the activity of God. When it thinks, it thinks of God as once having been "out there" in the "beyond." Now he is not, or at least is silent, or at least if he speaks he does not care about my response.

Robinson points out that the Bible is not concerned with the existence but with the activity of God. God is not an object to be proven or disproven, the X in our equations, the first word spoken where man's ignorance begins and knowledge ends. God is the ground of our being. He is not "up there" but is the Ground of our Being. Jesus Christ is not a doctrine, an abstraction. He is "the Man for Others."

All this means that man's life is not supposed to be given over to religious activity—that is, noisy self-preoccupation: how am I doing God? It is to be given over to "worldly holiness." The new morality demands life conforming to that of the "Man for Others."

Robinson has lost interest in most of the traditional concerns of religious man. He has good precedent, I feel. So did Jesus. Jesus spent little time shouting down atheists or agnostics. He celebrated faith where he found it unexpectedly. He spent a great deal of time criticizing man's religion, the righteousness of those who had located God "out there" and then manipulated him according to their purposes.

Robinson is disseminating ideas which have been current for some time. With many of them I would identify myself. I do not think he does justice to the whole meaning of Jesus Christ. He does not pretend to. He wants to shake things up. He will succeed. So, when you read angry headlines about people in England wanting to depose a bishop or try him for heresy, don't get too excited. Read Honest to God and ask: what did the author intend? That would be a more profitable activity than heresy-hunting. We could have some lively months ahead.

By the way, the noisiest criticism comes from outside the church. People in England who dismissed the faith but like to think of it as lying around in the traditional sense are incensed that "the faith" is not the dead item they had dismissed. I wonder if the same experience will occur in America, now that the book is available here.

Lab Animals' Treatment Hit

More than 175,000,000 vertebrate animals are used every year in American research laboratories. These animals undergo every extreme of agony that flesh and nerves can endure — and some that are wholly beyond endurance. They are burned alive, scalded without anaesthesia, crushed in steel presses, starved to death. They are subjected repeatedly to painful experimental surgery, they die slowly of induced cancer, many are miserably housed and many go totally mad from years of cruel confinement without humane care.

Support H. R. 4856 in the U.S. Congress. It is a bill that would effectively reduce cruelty in laboratories that has been introduced in Congress by Rep. William J. Randall of Missouri. The Randall Bill, H.R. 4856, would rapidly improve the quality of medical research and would save huge sums for taxpayers, besides preventing cruelty. Essential provisions of the Randall Bill are:

1. It establishes rigorous standards of humane use and care of animals.

2. It requires all government agencies and all laboratories getting grants of federal funds (almost every research laboratory in America) to abide by the established standards.

3. It orders the Department of Justice to enforce the law.

UNDER present conditions, the American people are financing and tolerating a vast and terrible cruelty. It is a cruelty that should be promptly ended, for the moral health of our nation as much as for the protection of the helpless animals that suffer. Every moral man, woman and child should cry to Congress to enact H.R. 4856.

Whether the crime and folly of cruelty to laboratory animals is to be ended depends entirely upon what members of Congress hear from the public. Readers can help by acting in these ways:

A. If you live in DuPage County, write Senators Paul H. Douglas and Everett M. Dirksen, Senate Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. and Hon. Elmer J. Hoffman, House Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. urging them to work and vote for H.R. 4856. (Tell them that weaker bills will not be effective).

b. Write a similar letter to President John F. Kennedy.

c. Write to Rep. Kenneth Roberts, House Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. thanking him for support of humane legislation, and specifically urging him to support H.R. 4856. (Mr. Roberts is chairman of the House sub-committee to which this legislation has been referred).

d. ASK YOUR club, church, Bible classes, union, veterans' post, etc., to adopt resolutions for support of H.R. 4856. Send copies to the congressmen mentioned above and to the Humane Society of the United States, Washington 6, D.C.

e. Request literature from the Humane Society of the United States and distribute it widely, at church, club meetings, by mail, at your place of employment.

Lauds Aid of Rick Casares

I would like to take this opportunity to thank a wonderful person who has helped me attain to be one of the ten finalists in the Marty Faye's Tip Top Talent Show. That man is none other than Rick Casares, the great fullback of the Chicago Bears. Mr. Casares, with your faith in me, I feel that I will accomplish my goal. The children at Maryville Academy will remember this man, with his generous donation of bread for the children. Once again, Rick, I want to thank you for your help and your time, and all the children at Maryville will always remember their favorite football player. I only hope when I compete again, I will make you proud of me.

We are ever so grateful to Paddock Publications for the publicity given our recent stamp exhibition. We especially want to thank Mrs. Hester Kline and Mr. Charles Hayes who were directly responsible for the very fine coverage.

We also want to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the following: Mayor John J. Protests Board Salary Actions

I am a parent and a taxpayer and I have been a resident of Mount Prospect for 14 years. To me, Mount Prospect stands as a symbol of honor and integrity. I am sure that Mount Prospect has the same meaning for other parents who live here.

When the previous board accepted the contracts of the administrators they did not act as individuals, rather they spoke in the name of Mount Prospect. They entered into legal agreement with the administrators for a period of 12 months. If these administrators had refused to comply with the terms and provisions of these agreements, they would have been legally liable and subject to moral criticism for reneging on their promises to the community.

Why should there be a double standard? Why should it be wrong on one hand for the administrators to breach their contract, and yet be morally right and legally correct to repudiate an agreement by the present board of education? This was not an agreement that was made y individual members of the previous board; this was an agreement that existed between the board of education and the administrators. The present board of education is now seeking to break this contract.

Every contract involves an offer and an acceptance. The previous board of education offered to employ the administrators at a fixed salary if they would accept and they did accept. This was a binding agreement in the eyes of the community. If the administrators are obligated to comply with the terms of the agreement, on what ethical basis can we say that the board of education can dishonor and repudiate the same agreement?

IN OUR community dignity and stability are respected virtues, we expect that we will be living under a rule of law rather than under a rule of men. This action of the board does not reflect a sound judicial basis, but rather is a reflection of a gratification of an individual whim, a capricious exercise of arbitrary authority, a manifestation of a defiant attack on established institutions, rather than a profound consideration of the needs of the Mount Prospect educational system. Why should this community be humiliated by the actions of this board rescinding the actions of the board that accepted these contracts? This board is not speaking in individual capacities, but speaking in the name of Mount Prospect as a community.

If this action of the board is carried out, it will be to the everlasting shame of Mount Prospect, and as an individual and a parent, I raise my voice in protest.

Questions on Village Street Lighting Program Are Raised

Although I have read most of the newspaper accounts of the Palatine street lighting program, I am still not sure why we had such a program in the first place.

Are the present fixtures faulty and unreliable? Is the downtown area too dark to provide safe walking and driving conditions? If the answer to either question is "yes," then the village board must, I repeat must, see that the street lighting is improved!

Is it the hope of the trustees and some of the merchants that bright, modern lights will increase downtown business? This is extremely unlikely. Shoppers still go to an area where they can find what they want. And let's face it: downtown Palatine doesn't come close to meeting all of our family and household needs. Perhaps it isn't even desirable that it should.

I SERIOUSLY doubt that the lights or lack of them have kept anyone from going downtown for a loaf of bread, a pound of nails or a bottle of aspirin. Or for that matter, for a dress, a shirt or a pair of shoes.

If your businessmen really want new lights and are willing to pay for them, then that is their privilege. However, this doesn't seem to be the reason, either. If it is, why the recent court fight?

I suggest that the village board re-examine the entire program to determine the needs of the village and the desires of the downtown property owners. To insist on an expensive program that is unnecessary and unwanted is neither good business nor good government.

(To keep the record straight, I voted for all the United Citizens candidates in the last election; and I own no downtown property).

Reader Charges Urban Betrayal

Suburbanites, please take note: The "Urban Betrayal Bloc" has voted again to raise your food prices. Fifty-four (yes, 54) Big City Democratic Congressmen voted for the Administration's feed-grain bill, which passed the House by 12 votes (208 to 196). They came from: New York, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Chicago (where only Collier, Derwinski and Rumsfeld voted against it).

And, believe it or not, every farm-area GOP Congressman north of the Mason-Dixon Line (except O'Konski, Wis.) voted against the feed-grain bill. Seventeen Southern and 11 Northern Democrats voted against it. The American Farm Bureau Federation is against it. Ask your city friends to write their Congressman and ask why he insists on raising food prices to give the farmers something they don't want. And if you don't want it either, tell your Senator about it.

Seal Campaign Called Success

Again the news is good—very good indeed.

In terms of achievement, the enclosed Certificate of Appreciation has real meaning. The 1962 Christmas Seal Campaign for Chicago and Cook County was an unqualified success. Its goal of $825,000 was exceeded by the margin of $39,567.

As we have pointed out on other occasions, this is the campaign in which Paddock Publication's cooperation is most important. In avoiding the "hard sell" (costly personal solicitation among them), your editorial reminders have critical importance. That they are effective, is proven by the uniform success of our campaigns.

Again, many thanks for lending a hand.

Praise Efforts Of Hall, Ladd

May I take this opportunity to publicly thank Paddock Publications and especially Mr. Bruce Ladd and Mr. Dwight Hall for their untiring efforts on behalf of Prospect Heights.

These two men have given untold hours and effort into giving publicity and constructive help to our community. Without their help we never could have accomplished any of our goals. The service these people rendered and are rendering to Prospect Heights might serve as an example to all newspaper men that their primary function is to the community.

Keep up the good work you are doing.

Defends New School Board

I suppose it is only natural when someone comes up with a solution to a problem that differs from ours to deem him arbitrary and irrational. At the risk of being judged so myself, I'd like to say a few words in behalf of the Mount Prospect school board.

The three newly elected members were carefully and democratically selected by your caucus representatives and elected by the general public. They are men of caliber and are not only interested in school problems, but in the case of Mr. David Hanna, come equipped with a doctor's degree in education.

He is uniquely able to contribute both objectively and practically toward our goal of an outstanding school system. I am sure all the foregoing boards have given it their best attention and judgment, but if all those "long, difficult years" were so trying, perhaps it was for lack of just this expert guidance.

MOUNT Prospect has indeed has its share of poor teachers. This is no crime. Although a good academic record is a prerequisite, the only real test of a good teacher is teaching. The crime is in defending the inadequate. This is the area where judgmenet and leadership are needed.

Let's credit the new board with trying to improve a good product and not with simple high-handedness.

This is one of a new series of informative reports on the unique advantages of print media presented by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do.

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features . . . designs . . . and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

People read an ad because they want to (it's never forced on them). They can even check back later; the message is still there.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of consumers, print makes sales.

Most people read and then buy. Don't you?

Flowers Speak

Life is full of silent speeches.
A handclasp, a friendly nod, a pat on the back — they often speak volumes.
And so with the floral tribute. Because flowers speak words of comfort, we know their importance and give them special care.

Taking It With You?

Or will you eventually lose the most valuable possession — your soul? Jesus Christ came to redeem your soul from sin and to give you eternal life. Come and hear about Him at our church this Sunday.

Opening lead: Queen of diamonds.

East trumped the lead and returned ace of spades to set South immediately. East returned a club which South won with the ace and South cleared trumps and laid down the hand.

COMMENT: Everyone felt frustrated with this hand. East because he held a ten card suit for the first time and lost the bid; South because he was set before he had a chance to play the hand. East admitted that if he had not been vulnerable, he would have bid six and taken the loss.

MOUNT EMBLEM
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctively different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.
"It is better to have it and not need it— Than to need it and not have it."

CHRISTIAN MOTHER

Two mothers stood at the entrance to a coal mine, where a terrible accident had occurred. Each had a son trapped somewhere in the mine. The one mother was hysterical, the other calm and quiet. When asked how she could be so undisturbed, she replied:
"My comfort is this: my son was a devout Christian. If he has been killed, he is with God in heaven, where I shall soon meet him. If he is alive, then God is with him and will bring him safely back to me."
Fortunate lad to have such a mother! She had prepared him for life. But, more important, she had prepared him for death!
It took years of teaching and training, years of a consistently good example on the part of the mother, to prepare for that fateful hour. She had prayed—and she had taught her little boy to pray. She had gone to church—and she had taken him along Sunday after Sunday.
He was her son, but she had brought him to Baptism so that God might make him His son. She had told him about the love and promises of Christ and encouraged him day after day to place his faith in the Savior. In order to receive forgiveness for their sins and to strengthen their faith, she and her son had gone side by side to partake of the Lord's Supper frequently.
And so it was not an accident that she could now stand calm and undisturbed at the entrance to the mine in the face of terrible disaster. She had done her duty as a Christian mother. Her son was safe in his Savior's keeping. Is yours?

Wasted Time...
"As if You could kill time without injuring eternity." — Henry David Thoreau

WHILE it is not exactly true that "time is money" none can argue with Thoreau's statement. If we waste time today we are doing nothing to provide for a better tomorrow.
With more leisure time than our ancestors dared dream possible, we still hear talk about "a shorter work week". We want even more time for ourselves, "free time", devoid of any responsibility, except to do as we please.
And what do we do with all of our time? Much of it is wasted, if not in idleness, then in unproductive activity, for it is as easy to kill time in useless endeavor as through inertia.
In these busy, trying times, we should do something for tomorrow, by making better use of today's time. Say a prayer. Go to Church. Do a good deed. These are good credit marks for those who would bank on eternity.

KNITTERS AND ALL

We had lots of fun last week with Mrs. Kane. Remember, she was demonstrating Bernat's NO-FRAME rugs. She had some beautiful finished rugs with her — they really inspired you to get started. (One of Ginger's third grade friends pestered her mother until she brought her in — and she's going great guns). We learned some quicker methods — and how to work from a table top which makes them an ideal summer project. If you didn't get in last weekend, come now and let us show them to you. OUR HOURS 10-5 DAILY, 7-9 Mon. Eve., Closed Wed.

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Clara M. Devermann
How often do I tread the path
That leads me to the grave
Where rests the one I loved so well
But whom I could not save.
Long days, long nights
You bore your pain
Waiting for cure, but all in vain.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Peace be Thine."

Hot Asphalt or Road Oils, Applied
By Pressure Spray on Roads, Driveways,
Parking Areas, Race Tracks, Etc.

Troch-McNeil Paving Co., Inc., 4116 W. Peterson Ave., Chicago, conducts an expert service in the application by pressure spray of Hot Asphalt or Road Oils on Roads, Parking Lots and other areas anywhere in this territory.

The service of this firm extends to the complete road oiling of Drive-In Theatres, Stock Car and Midget Auto Race Track areas, Tavern Parking Spaces, Industrial Plants, Dairies, Parking Lots, Motels, Hospitals, Institutions and Real Estate Subdivision Developments.

A widespread hazard to the health and safety of a community is flying dust on unpaved highways and roadways caused by traffic or windy weather. Likewise, atmosphere permeated with dust can cause considerable damage to factory machinery where precision moving parts are attacked with abrasives in the air, causing rapid wear and deterioration of mechanical equipment, leading to costly early replacements. Flying dust causes millions of dollars damage annually in the destruction of machinery and instruments.

There is no better method of removing these conditions than the application of oils on highways and roadways, that will keep dust down and actually preserve the surface of highways and driveways. The products used by Troch-McNeil Paving Co., Inc. have been especially prepared for this type of service and are applied with the latest and most modern equipment.

Every unpaved highway or roadway, driveway and parking area should be oiled before intolerable dust conditions are created.

Troch-McNeil Paving Co., Inc. make a specialty of handling this type of work, either in behalf of Municipalities, Towns, Villages, Real Estate Developments, or for Industrial Plants, Factories, Amusement Enterprises or Property Owners.
